DAVID R. VANDENBERG

... Then ... Now

By LYLE DOWNING

Bill Corum, the well-known sports writer, recently referred to a rising young pugilist as a "meat and potatoes fighter."

That appellation could be aptly applied to David R. Vandenberg. Undoubtedly, he is a "meat and potatoes judge." During his 12 years on the circuit bench in Klamath County he has been noted for his forthright manner of administering justice.

When verbose lawyers start operating on the theory that "the longest way 'round is the shortest way home," Judge Vandenberg often with one question cuts right to the heart of an issue and obviates a lot of useless talk.

And the Klamath Falls jurist has a high regard for the rights of the defendant. In a recent murder trial he told the jury he was convinced there was not sufficient evidence to convict the defendant. He added that he would see that an appeal to the Oregon Supreme Court was financed if the defendant was convicted.

David R. Vandenberg was born July 11, 1899 in Chicago. He spent his early youth in Wisconsin Rapids, Wis. The Vandenberg saga really began to roll in 1913 when the future judge's father, Harry Vandenberg, decided to move his family to Panama. He was employed by the United States government as a railroad official in the Canal Zone.

"It was a great day and one that I will never forget when we sailed from New York on the SS Panama," the judge declared. "What I wanted to see most of all was the Statue of Liberty. But the lines had already been cast off and the gangplank pulled in when I became violently seasick. When the vessel passed the Lady with the Torch, I was flat on my back praying that death would relieve me of my torture."

Young David was back on his feet the next day with a hearty appetite and the rest of the voyage to Panama passed pleasantly. The young adventurer found Panama "the most lonesome place in the world."

"The Panamanians didn't have much use for Americans," he ex-

GOP 'Blew Way Into Power With Hot Air'

CALGARY, Alta. (AP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent implied Saturday that the U. S. Republican party blew its way into power by promising voters such "hot air" as tax cuts it couldn't deliver.

The implication was contained in a political speech the Canadian Liberal party leader delivered before a party luncheon here.

It formed his main attack against the 500 million dollar annual tax cut the Progressive Conservatives have promised if they are elected in the Aug. 10 Canadian elections.

St. Laurent, speaking of a political party "in another land" that had given aid to free countries but not to Canada, did not mention the United States by name, but a Liberal party official said "The U. S. is obviously the country he meant."

Portland Lawyer Tells Of Danger of Admitting Hawaii

WASHINGTON (AP)—A retired Portland, Ore., lawyer who once spent two weeks in Hawaii told senators Saturday admission of the territory as a state would be a "dangerous thing."

Arthur M. Churchill, the witness, said his opinion is not based on his short visit to the islands in 1950.

Rather, he said, it is the result of a study of statistics, particularly of Hawaiian birth rates.

He said the birth rates of Japanese and other non-Caucasians in Hawaii are higher than those who have their roots in the U.S. mainland and termed this "menacing."

"Japan is being economically drowned by its flood of charming babies," he declared, adding that "the per capita increase of Hawaiian Japanese is as bad or perhaps worse than that of Japan."

Testifying before a Senate subcommittee studying the statehood question, Churchill submitted a 30-page memorandum in which he said:

"Hawaii, in searching the world for cheap sugar labor, has assembled a mixture of races perhaps without precedence anywhere."

The atom bomb, he said, "is

Two Conservatives Run In Virginia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Two stalwarts of Virginia's conservative Democratic organization do battle at the polls tomorrow for the party's nomination for governor.

The candidates are ex-Rep. Thomas B. Stanley, 62, of Henry County, and State Sen. Charles R. Fenwick, 52, of Arlington. Fenwick is avoiding any criticism of the party organization headed by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), they have waged a campaign long on handshaking but short on issues.

Tomorrow's winner will move on to November's general election as a solid favorite to defeat Republican nominee Ted Dalton, a state senator from Radford, despite rumblings of a GOP resurgence. The Democratic gubernatorial nominee generally is regarded as a shoo-in.

Bull Shunts Train Into Hole, Dies

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—A stubborn bull, refusing to yield the right of way to the Santa Fe's Texas Chief, derailed the luxury train north of here Friday and caused injury to 20 persons.

Only 10 were hospitalized, and none of them was listed as critical.

The 1,200-pound bull, which blundered into the switching mechanism, shunted the Galveston, Tex., to Chicago streamliner off the main line. The four-unit diesel engine, mail car, baggage car and three chair cars jumped up track. The bull was killed.

Driving Student, Etc., Drops In On Neighbor

ATHENS, W. Va. (AP)—Mrs. G. J. Fink Sr. said her neighbor Mrs. O. J. Stone an unexpected visit yesterday.

She brought along with her a door, a window, a flower box and an assortment of concrete blocks—all from the front of Mrs. Stone's home. Also her new car and a driving instructor.

Dorale Martin, the driving instructor, gave this account:

Mrs. Fink pulled out of her driveway and headed for the opposite sidewalk. Martin told her to apply the brakes, but she stepped on the accelerator by mistake.

The car stopped in the Stone living room.

Street Closed To Preserve Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Rockefeller Plaza, a three-block street running through the heart of Rockefeller Center, was closed yesterday to preserve its status as a private street.

It has been closed to pedestrians and vehicles for a period of 12 hours annually for 19 years. A city regulation requires the action.

Columbia University owns most of the land occupied by the center.

Hal Roach Completes Cycle: Movies, TV, Movies Again

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Fabulous film producer Hal Roach has completed the cycle—back to theater movies to TV and back to theater movies.

Roach is one of the legends of Hollywood. Born in Elmira, N. Y., he went to Alaska as a trucker at the age of 17. He also operated trucking ventures in Seattle and Los Angeles, where he saw the potentialities of the movie business. He started as a cowboy at $25 a week, then he and Harold Lloyd scraped together enough money to make a picture. Both were on their way to millions.

Roach's business boomed. He cashed in on the public's yen for comedy with such attractions as Our Gang, Charlie Chase, Laurel and Hardy, Thelma Todd, Paty Kelly and others.

But Roach had his ups and downs. At one time he needed some money and liquidated some assets, including Victor Mature, who was sold to 20th Century-Fox for a reported $20,000. On another occasion he sold his backlog of comedies and features to a TV distributor for a figure estimated at $750,000.

Five years ago, Hollywood thought Roach had gone off his rocker. He announced he was through with making films for theaters. His studio would be devoted exclusively to turning out movies for TV. At that time, it seemed hardly a sizable studio to cast its lot with the infant industry.

The game paid off. So far, the Roach lot has ground out 546 TV commercials and 855 TV films, including such series as "My Little Margie," "Life of Riley," "Lone Ranger" and "Fireside Theater."

"Now we're going back to making pictures for theaters," said the veteran producer. "I figure that there will be a scarcity of product in the theaters this fall, and additional features will be welcomed by theater men."

"We have learned a lot about streamlining operations through doing films for TV. Now we plan to make a feature in three days' rehearsal and nine days' shooting. That's for a picture that would have taken six weeks in the old days."

Roach admitted that his studio had some growing pains in adjusting to the TV operation. "At first, the sponsors wanted quality films for around $7,500," he said. "We convinced them that wasn't from films today. He explained the cause of its demise:

"The double bill killed comedy. In the early days of pictures, the two-reel comedy was the mainstay of the program; people would sit through a bad picture because they knew they were getting a good comedy. Double bills knocked out the two-reeler, and comedians were never as funny in feature films. You couldn't sustain the laughs."
