Strings Tied On Fodd Giveaway

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's proposal to send government-owned surplus food abroad to fight famine or other disaster has won Senate approval, but with limitations.

The bill would authorize him to send up to 100 million dollars of farm commodities overseas between now and next March 15.

Eisenhower originally asked for a two-year authority to sell or give away any government-held surplus food. But this promptly stirred objections that three to five billion dollars worth of commodities could be shipped abroad. The Senate Agriculture Committee wrote in the limitation on the amount.

The House is expected to pass the Senate measure or its own bill quickly, possibly tomorrow.

Bly Grange Offers First Aid Course

Bly Grange 771 is sponsoring a standard first aid class to be instructed by Mr. and Mrs. Dave Lovelace of Klamath Falls. Classes will be held Aug. 2, 9, 23 and 30. Any children from 12 to 15 years of age interested in first aid training may enroll in this class and become eligible for the junior first aid card.

A baby sitter will care for children of mothers wishing to take the course. The House is expected to pass the Senate measure or its own bill quickly, possibly tomorrow.

Passing their Beginner tests were Albert O'Connor, Dave Cox, Dennis Campbell, Jimmy Emerson, Freddie Fernand, Joey O'Connor, Ronny Lee, Curtis Baldock, John Colwell, Johnny Wakefield, Richard Roberts, Monte Burnett and Norman Campbell, all of Bonanza.

Van Fleet Cagey On Atomic Talk

NEW YORK (AP)—Retired Gen. James A. Van Fleet, asked if he thought atomic warfare should be used against the Communists if they violated the Korean truce, replied with a qualified "Yes."

Before answering, Van Fleet said it was an "iffy" question and that he didn't want to see headlines reading that he advocates atomic war.

After answering, he said he believed in "crossing a bridge when you come to it" and "playing it as you go—but always with a firm hand."

Newsmen raised the question yesterday at a conference following a preview of a television film made for the relief drive of the American-Korean Foundation. Van Fleet, former commander of U. N. forces in Korea, is a foundation director.

Foundations Face New Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House voted 209-163 yesterday to authorize a new investigation, by a special five-man committee, of tax-exempt foundations. Senate action is not required.

The stated purpose of the investigation, sponsored by Rep. Reece (R-Tenn.), is to determine whether such foundations are using their money for "un-American and subversive activities, for political purposes, propaganda or attempts to influence legislation."

State Wheat Allotments Set

PORTLAND (AP)—County allotments for next year's wheat acreage were to be set here Tuesday at a meeting of the State Production and Marketing Administration. The state's allotment of 875,762 acres is about 20 per cent less than the 1953 figure.

Enemies One Day, Friends The Next, Soldiers Find

SEOUL (AP)—A small group of American soldiers and a party of Chinese Reds met in no-man's-land Tuesday and the Reds happily threw their arms around the necks of men they were trying to kill only Monday.

The Chinese gave the Americans souvenirs, cigarettes and Chinese wine. Then, one of the doughboys said afterward, "They threw their arms around us and jumped around."

He said the Chinese spoke "passable English." He quoted them as saying: "We were your Allies and then we were fighting you. But now we have peace again."

The incident occurred on the Western Front as the soldiers worked on the forward slopes of adjoining hills throwing sand bags into trenches.

About a half dozen Americans and a similar number of Chinese were involved. The meeting was not accidental. One of the Americans said the Chinese signaled for them to come over, so they went. The Chinese

The Americans said they gave the Chinese candy and cigarette lighters.

Businessmen Hear Lintz

Monday afternoon a group of key business people of the Klamath Basin heard Harry A. Lintz of Portland, new manager of the Pacific Northwest district of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, outline the new four-point program of the national chamber for the year ahead. Lintz was making his first official visit to the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce.

The points, as outlined by the speaker, are:

1. National affairs
2. Economic education
3. Education
4. Help on Organizational problems.

Discussing the economic education program, Lintz reminded the group of the conference to be held at Gearhart, Oct. 11-14, which will provide an opportunity for business men to learn the techniques of employee communications and the "how" of conducting a human relations program among the employee group. Discussion leaders for the conference have been recruited from industries throughout the country where outstanding programs of this nature are now being carried on, he said.

This will probably be the only conference of this type to be held this year in the West. Businessmen from the 11 Western states are eligible to attend. Because of the nature of the conference, attendance will be limited to about 75 persons. Each day will be a different aspect of the subjects discussed and each speaker will bring a new contribution to the conference.

Those from this area who wish to attend should get in touch with R. Frank Tucker, manager of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce at a very early date, he emphasized.
