Film Actor Primo Carnera Becomes Citizen of U.S.

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (P) — Primo Carnera today is scheduled to pick up his citizenship papers—Uncle Sam's gift to go with his career as an actor.

"It's a great day for me," grins the gargantuan ex-heavyweight boxing champ. "I've been looking forward to it for over 20 years.

Carnera and his wife both will receive their final papers today, thereby bestowing citizenship to their son, 14, and daughter, 11.

"That's the nicest thing we could give them," remarked Primo.

The former champ's older great enthusiasm is his acting career—and I don't mean the acting he does on the wrestling circuit. He's a full-fledged movie performer now, appearing in two pictures at once. By day he dons a wig and silken costume to cavort with Bob Hope in "Casanova's Big Night." Then he puts on another wig at night for his role in "Prince Valiant."

"This is my third career," he enbused. "First came boxing, then wrestling and now acting. I'm leaving soon for Italy, where I'll film my own life story and appear in it myself."

Primo's life should make quite a picture. The naive Italian boy came to this country and was ballyhooed into a top ring attraction. He made fabulous money but ended up with little to show for it.

"It wasn't as broke as some people have said," he explained. "My money was cut up into a lot of pieces, but I managed to keep some. My mistake was taking the dollars and changing them to lire in Italy. Then came the war and it all disappeared.

"During the war I had to dig with a pick and shovel for the Germans. I worked on the farms and did underground work with the Americans. When the war was over, I had about 35 offers for appearances all over the world. I chose to come to America and be a wrestler. I always wanted to come back here."

Primo, a big, friendly bear of a man with ham-like hands, said he found the wrestling game pleasant and profitable.

"The gross isn't as big as in boxing," he remarked. "When I fought Max Baer for the title, I, as champion, received 42 1/2 per cent of the gate, which was a million dollars.

"But a boxing champ fights only once a year. When I go out on a wrestling tour, I work four or five nights a week in all parts of the country. Sometimes the gate is big, sometimes not. But it's steady pay."

I asked Primo who was the best fighter he faced in the boxing ring. "Jack Sharkey," he replied without hesitation. "He was the complete boxer, a well-rounded fighting man. He could do everything.

Personalized Checks Swiped, Put to Work

The personalized check blanks of Dr. Clarence F. Gansberg of which a W. F. Fitzpatrick has allegedly been writing bogus checks were stolen from the doctors' cabinet two weeks ago.

According to Dr. Gansberg, 15 of the checks are still in circulation although the bank has been instructed to stop payment on them.

One such check, written to the amount of $64.50, was received by Figgly Wiggy store Wednesday. No description of the passer was given.

Morse Still In Republican Dog House Even in Face of GOP's Losing Senate

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (P)—Any help the Republicans get from Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) in retaining GOP control of the Senate appeared unlikely today to alter their opposition to giving him major committee assignments.

Morse, who quit the Republican party during last year's presidential campaign, has announced he will vote with the Republicans on any test of Senate organization.

Despite such prospective help, lieutenants said they are certain that Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, will oppose giving Morse seats he once held on the Armed Services and Labor Committees. The Republicans stripped Morse of these assignments after he bolted.

Morse's vote could become decisive if Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio, a Democrat, names a Democrat to succeed the late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio). That would give the Democrats a 48-47 advantage over the Republicans. Morse could make it 48-48, and Vice President Nixon could break the tie in favor of the GOP.

Even with a one-vote margin, there is doubt that the Democrats would attempt to take over Senate control unless further deaths or resignations should give them a clear majority of 49.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, has indicated to friends he wants no part of a responsibility that would be

Crooner Haymes' Worries Pile Up At Ouster Hearing

LOS ANGELES (P)—The deportation blues piled up on Crooner Dick Haymes Thursday as he surveyed a discordant note: a second expatriable charge by the government, and three subpoenas.

The harried Haymes sweated through a 5 1/2-hour preliminary hearing yesterday at which he admitted filing an application for relief from military service during World War II as a citizen of a neutral country. He said he thought the application was only for temporary deferment and "never realized what the effect would be."

His attorneys said they'll fight the crooner's battle with the Supreme Court, if necessary.

The hearing also brought out that Haymes had a previously undisclosed marriage—his first—to Edith Harper, also a singer, in Chicago in 1939. It lasted only two or three weeks, he said.

Haymes admitted owing Uncle Sam an income tax bill but said he didn't know offhand just how much. He was told to bring exact figures to a subsequent session.

Before the day was over three process servers handed the singer subpoenas. In one, his second wife, Joanne Dru, says he's behind in alimony payments. The second was notification of a divorce filed by current wife Nora Eddington. The final subpoena claimed he owes a department store $415.

Born in Argentina, Haymes came to the United States in 1937 and has not become a citizen. The government charges he was ineligible to re-enter the continental United States last June after visiting actress Rita Hayworth in Hawaii. Hollywood gossip says she will become wife No. 4.

Immigration officers contend the law forbids citizenship to any alien who has sought exemption from military service, and forbids entry into this country of any alien who can never become a citizen.

At the end of the hearing, the government added a second deportable charge—that Haymes failed to notify immigration authorities of his 1933 address during January. Haymes said he gave the information on Feb. 2 after being informed he had failed to comply with the law.

Honest Soldier Admits Outgo On Girl, Hot Spots

DALLAS, Tex. (P)—Army recruiting officers here Thursday said they found the "most honest soldier."

"I'm flat broke and I'm due in Ft. Knox, Ky. in three days," the 19-year-old soldier on leave here said yesterday.

"Who got sick this time?" asked a sarcastic recruiter.

"I just spent all my money on my girl and going to night spots," the frank GI admitted.

"You are the first soldier in my memory who, under conditions like this, told the truth," said the recruiter.

A few minutes later the GI was en route by bus to Ft. Knox. The Army paid his way. Next month the Army will take that bus ticket out of his pay.

Square Dance Well-Attended

The semi-monthly open air square dance, sponsored by the City Recreation Department and the Klamath Basin Callers Council was well attended last night.

Because of inclement weather the dance was moved to the basement of the City Library. Bill and Shirley Mayhew were in charge of the program.

Guest callers assisting were: John Stanley, Mary Anna Kerr and Otto Ellis.

Another dance will be held in two weeks at Kiwanis Park, weather permitting.
