SEEKS "SMALL" MIRACLE—Irene Krokos, 28, paralyzed by polio, types with a stick held between her teeth. She will leave her Chicago home to tour European religious shrines in search of "a very small miracle. All I want is to be able to wave to my friends when I come back."

'Men Seldom Make Passes At Girls With Glasses' Buried

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's time for a final burial of Dorothy Parker's old couplet, "Men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses."

Marilyn Maxwell is just the girl to do it. The well-built blonde even posed for cheesecake to prove that glasses don't detract from a girl's attraction for the opposite sex.

Marilyn wears glasses for a very sensible reason: She says she's "blind as a bat" without them. "My brother could be sitting in the booth over there," she remarked, pointing across the Brown Derby aisle, "and I wouldn't recognize him without my glasses."

On her, glasses look good. And what's more, they don't seem to keep off the wolves.

"I wear glasses wherever I go," she remarked, "and they've never seemed to stop men from making passes."

Marilyn's eye troubles stem back to the time she was 14. "My vision was okay until then," she related. "I think it might have gone bad because I started working in night clubs. I had to catch up on my school work in whatever I used for a dressing room and usually the lighting was bad to read by.

"Also, they used bright baby spotlights in those places. That plus the smoke didn't help my eyes any."

Whatever the cause, she now has myopia in one eye and astigmatism in the other. She always keeps four pairs of glasses—two dark and two clear—in case she loses one. And she always wears them except when she is performing.

"When I'm doing a stage show, it isn't bad," she said. "The audience is like a fourth wall; I don't need to see them. As long as I can hear the laughter and applause, I know I'm doing okay."

Marilyn tried to emancipate herself from glasses, but it didn't work. When she was first at MGM, producer Arthur Freed stopped her on a studio street.

"You shouldn't wear those glasses," he scolded. "It isn't glamorous."

Always eager to please, Marilyn tried going without them for a while. Nothing but trouble. She walked into doors, tripped over curbs and stepped on dogs. Worst of all, she would walk right past her friends and influential producers without a word.

When the word got back to her that she was snubbing her pals and offending bosses, she said to heck with glamor and put her spectacles back on. It hasn't seemed to hurt her glamor one whit.

State's Flax Faces Restudy

SALEM (AP) — A re-evaluation of the state's flax interest was asked Tuesday by Gov. Paul L. Patterson at a meeting of the State Board of Control here.

The board said the state should get out of the flax business if it finds it uneconomic in the face of falling prices and increasing competition from European flax growers and synthetic fibers.

Flax processing is the largest plant operation at the Oregon State penitentiary, William Ryan, superintendent of institutions, told the board. At present it occupies the greatest number of prisoners, he said.

The board directed Ryan to make a complete study of the cost of flax and report on the possibility of finding new industry to substitute for the flax industry at the prison.

A proposal to change the prison ration system to a weights and calories basis rather than a cash allotment per man basis was approved by the board. The new plan will be tested at the prison and if successful will be expanded to other state institutions, Ryan said.

Allocation of funds for design of the capitol group of buildings also won tentative approval from the board. State Treasurer Sig Unander said he would confer with architect Francis Kealy, designer of the capitol building, on plans and preparation of a plaster model of the capitol group on a visit to New York later this month.

In other action, the board:

Approved conditionally revising the contract of Wilmsen and Endicott, Eugene architects, to cover the increased estimated cost of a new patient's cottage at Fairview Home to $250,000.

QUEEN TO RETURN

ROME (AP) — Queen Soraya has decided to return to Iran Saturday.

An attendant said the queen wanted to rejoin her royal husband who recently returned triumphantly to his throne. The Shah had fled to Rome last month before his supporters overthrew Premier Mohammed Mossadegh. The Shah insisted that Soraya remain here until the Iranian situation calmed.

Six PUDs To Apply for Site

PORTLAND (AP) — James T. Marr, president of the National Hell's Canyon Association, reported Monday six Washington Public Utility Districts soon will file an application to build a dam at Hell's Canyon on the Snake River.

The Hell's Canyon site is in the area Idaho Power Co. plans one of a series of low dams on the Snake. Hearings before the Federal Power Commission on the Idaho Power application now are in recess.

The Hell's Canyon Association favors a high, multi-purpose dam at the site.

Marr, who also is state secretary of the AFL, told the Portland Central Labor Council Monday night that the association soon will launch a drive for $75,000 to support the PUD proposal. He said $13,000 already has been collected.

Motorist Drowns As Car Sinks

MILWAUKIE, Ore. (AP) — A Portland motorist drowned early Tuesday when his car left the highway and plunged into Kellogg Lake. He got out and stood on top of the sinking car, but went down when he tried to reach shore.

The victim, Arthur B. Kilpatrick Jr., 25, told a witness he couldn't swim.

Richard A. Novak, announcer for radio station KGON, said he saw Kilpatrick's car leave the highway and go into the lake. He ran there and waded out as far as he could, holding a stick toward Kilpatrick.

But, he said, Kilpatrick failed to get a grip on it and went down. The body was recovered.

State Patrolman Henry Miller said it appeared Kilpatrick fell asleep at the wheel.

"RUG" HOT PLATE MATS

576

By CAROL CURTIS

Crocheted of softspun rug yarn in red, black and white, these hot plate mats are highly reminiscent of the old-time colorfully braided rugs Grandmother used in front of the big, glowing coal burner stove with isinglass windows! You'll like the set on maple, cherry, mahogany of modern chrome dining tables. Easy to crochet, good size—oval mat is 10 by 13 inches, round mat is 11 inches in diameter.

War's Over; Enlistments Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army enlistments in the month since the Korean truce was signed have jumped 75 per cent above the average of the 12 months prior to the truce.

An Army official who disclosed the enlistment figures said it was too early to tell whether the increase will continue. He said it was too early to tell whether the increase will continue. He said he couldn't comment on the reasons for the increase.

The figures showed that 11,600 men enlisted between July 27—the date of the Korean truce—and Aug. 27. During the previous 12 months, the average enlistment was about 6,600.

During the month prior to the Korean truce, about 9,000 men enlisted—2,600 fewer than in the month following the truce.

Whether the increase in enlistments will have any effect on draft calls is an open question. Defense Department officials have indicated, however, that enlistments will be watched closely in connection with draft quotas.

A Marine Corps official said Marine enlistments have been running about normal since the Korean truce. He added, however, that the corps has been operating under an enlistment limitation. The quota for August was 6,000.

Both the Air Force and the Navy also have been operating under an enlistment limitation. Both have had long lists of men ready to sign up.

Girl, 8, Saves Adult Floater

BOSTON (AP) — A Scottish war bride who "never goes in the water" took a dip yesterday and minutes later was rescued from drowning by a small girl about 8 years old.

Mrs. Martha H. Moran, mother of three sons, said the little girl taught her to float and "I guess I floated out too far." Then, she said, she was unable to remain above water.

"I was going down for the third time," she said. "I know she was the one who saved me."

Mrs. Moran said she does not know her rescuer, but she plans to search Malibu Beach today in hopes of finding her.

All she knows about the little girl is "she told me that when she's 18 she's going to swim the English Channel."

Phone Operators Get Hot, Walk Off Jobs

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Forty telephone operators got hot because of the heat here yesterday and walked off their jobs. They threatened not to return to work until the company installs air conditioning.

Eleven other operators stayed on the job in 98-degree weather to handle emergency calls. The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. said it would make an announcement today about the issue.

HOLIDAY WON

BERLIN (AP)—Ten West Berliners wounded in the June 17 rioting that surged through the Soviet sector won a free three-week holiday Tuesday from the sympathetic West.

The group took off for Bad Neuenahr, near Bonn, to be guests of that city's mayor. The West Berlin city government is paying the travel costs.

Solon Tells Of Indian Meet

EUGENE (AP) — A House committee hearing scheduled here Sept. 24 on Indian affairs likely will touch on a wide range of topics, Rep. Harris Ellsworth, Roseburg Republican, said here Monday in making plans for the hearing.

The hearing is one of a series stemming from a House resolution proposed by Ellsworth. It calls for investigation into the Bureau of Indian Affairs, and a general study of Indian problems with a view to giving them full citizenship.

Ellsworth said that while he is not a member of the House Interior Committee handling the hearing, he has been asked to get things set up. He said if anyone wants to testify, arrangements can be made either through him at Roseburg or by writing to the committee office in Washington, Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb) is chairman.

Ellsworth said timberland deals might very likely come up at the hearing and he added he hoped there would be something on settlement of the O&C lands problem.

Railroad Diesel Horns Mislead Moose: Bump!

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—Regulations prescribing the volume and tone of diesel horns on Canadian railways reportedly are playing havoc with the sex life of some moose.

The National Railways' president Donald Gordon, told a Board of Trade luncheon here he has had reports "from some animal lovers that during the mating season the bull moose has mistaken the sound of a diesel klaxon for the vocal response of an amorous moose cow, with results that have been disastrous to the male animal."
