Lack of Jurors
Delays Trial

Trial of Lyle M. Farran, 66-year-old former grounds keeper at Gem Stadium charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, had to be postponed Tuesday in Circuit Court for lack of prospective jurors.

The case was set for 10 a.m. Tuesday but Judge David R. Vandenberg set it over to 2 p.m. Tuesday when only 13 veniremen appeared. The judge explained that due to the harvest being in progress the other veniremen were excused.

Sheriff Murray Britton was ordered to summon a special panel. According to District Attorney Frank Alderson, Farran is accused of molesting a 10-year-old girl. He is represented by Attorney J. C. O'Neill.
