

It Happened This Way in New Pine Creek

By IRVIN FARIS

It is the time for all good things to come to the aid of their brethren. Perhaps no other line is more familiar to typing students than the words "it happened this way." But, more significant to our own little community, it is the time for all good things to come to the aid of the Grange.

Inside Gate Keeper Claude Grange has gotten all the lodge members scattered in place, the regular meeting last Saturday night, Grange Master Earle had to search the closets, under the couch to find the members to fill the officers' seats. Yearn—sad but figuratively.

Why is this? Well, you don't need me to explain that. It would be like the silly that squawks right in front of the loaded gun. After all, the season on such silly birds. Verle Cook brought in one of the best he got today — a 12½ pounds . . . sounds like a pretty bird.

Before we can get Verle to join before Nov. 7, that'd make absolutely certain there'd be a goose to go 'round. That's the next regular grange meeting and the annual wild duck and feed—starts at 7, you know. But Geese! That wild event would be awful tame if all the getting was left up to such well, I might just as well sail dollars at 'em with a sling of the good my shotgun prowess.

—don't breathe it to anyone. incidentally that is annual election night, too. If that'd get out—wouldn't be of any to even set the table . . . no. But here's an out-back door! bring food, wild or tame slip in front door. Then after a full stomach—slip out the door. She—silly Grange pill-drover. She—silly Grange pill-drover. She—silly Grange pill-drover.

and their four months old daughter, Pamela Diane, up from his former base at Wichita Falls, Tex., Sheppard Air Force Base. They will visit here a few days longer then motor to Medford, where where they will visit with Ruth's mother, Mrs. Mary Jones. James has recently been transferred from his old base and on Nov. 3, will report at his new base of Muroc, near the Mojave desert.

Mr. and Mrs. George McClain came down last Saturday from Olympic, Wash., for a few days visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer McClain.

Mrs. Lillian Reid retained recently from an extended visit over on the coast with old acquaintances and relatives. They visited with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wendt in Eugene, with her niece, Mrs. George Bryant and family and with M. G. Chrones, also with Mr. and Mrs. Will Dibble and daughter, Mrs. Deirdre Dibble and family. Empire, who were formerly from New Pine Creek. At Coquille saw visited with Mrs. Carry Benham now 84 years old, and her family of families; the Ernest Benhams, the Harvey Benhams, and the Noel Benhams, all former residents of our village.

Last of the California deer hunters: R. O. Thiel, retired plumbing contractor of Modesto, Calif., who has hunted up in these parts for the last sixteen years and just recently returned from a hunt in Canada, was one of the last and warmest men we've seen yet to have come down out of a snow covered camp in the mountains.

Monday everyone was complaining of the cold—but not the reason: anti-freeze. After previously adding anti-freeze to his jeep the night before, Thiel had had a little of the Zerex left over which he had poured into his empty flask. He called it his water bottle. In the middle of the night, drowsily—he decided while yet half asleep to have a good, long sleep. He found the bottle and emptied deeply.

Immediately he became fully awake. "Some joker's swapped brands with me," he surmised. He took another swallow this time to ascertain the brand. "Not too bad," he mumbled, snuggling back down under the covers. The warm sensation of the liquid soon put him fast to sleep.

Next morning—while still feeling the warm sensation in his stomach he thought—"The stuff in that bottle can well be noted for its lasting effects." Investigating he discovered that he had drunk his left over anti-freeze.

He and the other two members of his party became a little worried. They hurriedly packed up and ran across the empty anti-freeze can. After reading—"Not injurious to rubber hoses." Thiel pretentiously faked a sigh of relief and said, "Well—I'm all right—if it won't hurt a rubber hose, it won't hurt my stomach."

I guess it didn't—he was still walking around when he told the story at noon.

Lt. R. M. Roberts, MCS, Captain Grebs and Sgt. Battien—all of Ft. Mason, port of disembarkation at San Francisco—rode 25 miles back towards: Lt. Roberts came into Homer's Barbershop while I was getting my wig prepped up. His face burned uncomfortably and was at- tending to Dennis Davis and Sharon Howard all of Medford, Mr. and Mrs. Estlin Kiger and children, Karen, Estaline and Estin Jr.

AN "UNDER THE SEA" theme with nets and finny fish as decorations made an interesting background for the annual formal dinner-dance at Reames Golf and Country Club, with the women's auxiliary hosting the big formal party, Saturday, Oct. 17. WSCS of Ft. Klamath Plans New Church Pews

FORT KLAMATH—The regular Society of Christian Service of the monthly meeting of the Woman's Fort Klamath Community Methodist church was held on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 8, when Mrs. William Brewer was hostess to the group at her home at the Darling and Brewer ranch in the north end of Wood River valley.

Mrs. Raymond S. Loosley, president, conducted the business meeting, when the main topic of discussion was the matter of choosing and building of suitable new pews for the church, a project for which funds have been raised by giving church dinners and a cooked food sale in the C. I. clubhouse, as a result of which a substantial amount was realized. Word had also been received that the local church has placed in a cash award division in the spring and summer church improvement program sponsored by the Town and Country Church Committee of the Oregon Council of Churches, with cash prizes to be given by the Sears Roebuck foundation at the close of the contest. Rev. Edmund Stanton, pastor, accompanied by his wife and Mrs. Raymond S.

Loosley will go to Corvallis this week to receive the cash award, the exact amount of which was not disclosed and the money will go into the fund for purchasing new pews.

On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Loosley made a special trip to Klamath Falls, visiting several churches for the purpose of inspecting pews in order to decide which type was most appropriate for the local church. Pews in the Bible Baptist church were considered most suitable, and pending approval of other local church members, ten foot pews of similar design will be built by a Klamath Falls skilled workman.

It was announced that, on advice of Paul Mudge, professional bricklayer, building an outdoor brick fireplace on the church grounds which was planned for this fall will be postponed until next spring, when plans will be made and construction completed as soon as weather permits. Sponsored by the local church, the fireplace will be an undertaking in which the entire community will participate and benefit from.

Donated recently by members, the winter supply of wood was put in the woodshed last week by the local Cub Scouts, supervised and assisted by Rev. Edmund Stanton, Mrs. William Brewer and Mrs. Hansford T. (Mike) Williams.

At the close of the business session, a social hour was enjoyed when refreshments were served by Mrs. Brewer to Mrs. Edmund Stanton, Mrs. Raymond S. Loosley, Mrs. Bert Gray, Mrs. Lloyd Nicholson and Roger, Mrs. Hansford T. (Mike) Williams and Martha, Mrs. Donald P. Veatch and Susie, Mrs. Richard H. Wilson and her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Andrew Wilson, who with her husband and father-in-law, Andrew P. Wilson, all of Portland, visited at the Carl and Richard Wilson homes last week.

Kappa Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Is International Organization

With 3000 Chapters, Here—There

Beta Sigma Phi, Kappa Chapter, ended its annual fall rushing period with initiation of two pledges at the Willard Hotel Oct. 16. The two pledges, Mrs. Roy (Rosalee) Swed and Mrs. Roland (Mary) Christensen, received pledge pins during the initiation ceremonies, and after six months will be eligible for the full-jeweled pin.

New officers for the year, elected and installed at previous meetings, conducted the initiation. They were Mrs. G. W. (Phyllis) Nelson, president; Mrs. Ben (Ruth) McCollum, vice-president; Mrs. Chet (Lucetta) Stinson, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert (Norma) Waggoner, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lowell (Lois) Netzer, treasurer, and Mrs. Timothy (Lucia) Murphy, extension officer.

At the dinner following initiation ceremonies, a brief biographical sketch of her dinner partner was given by each member, and Mrs. Phil (Isabelle) Brixner, director of Kappa Chapter, welcomed the two members into the sorority. The two members by transfer are Mrs. Alice Badley from Alpha Pi Chapter, Grants Pass, Oregon, and Mrs. Arthur (Trudy) Farr from Theta Eta Chapter, Ukiah, Calif.

Beta Sigma Phi is an international organization with over 3000 chapters in this and other countries. There are three local chapters, Kappa, Tau and Exemplar, and tentative plans are being made to sponsor another chapter, Nu Phi Mu, limited to young women between 18 and 21 years of age.

The primary aims of Beta Sigma Phi are cultural, social and civic.

Each year Kappa Chapter has fund raising projects, and money derived from these is used for local benefits. An overall project has been the purchase and maintenance of a book projector for the use of invalids. This projector throws a film onto the ceiling, and pages may be turned by simply pressing a button. New books are being constantly added to the collection, and the projector, which is located at the City Library, may be withdrawn for use free of charge by anyone in need of it.
