October 23, 1953

Dear Mr. Mann:

As one of my first official acts as chairman of the American-Korean Foundation, I want to thank you for the generous contribution of $5,466.97 to the Compo-Korean Fund, made by the patrons of your theatres. This contribution is not only a striking tribute to the generosity of the patrons of your theatres, but to the excellent organizational ability of you and your staff in setting up this operation on such short notice. Through the funds raised in the motion picture theatres of the country, the Foundation has been enabled to make immediate grants to meet the most pressing needs of medical, charitable and other institutions in Korea which are faced with the herculean task of rehabilitation of the South Korean victims of Communist aggression.

I am sure that I speak for Dr. Milton Eisenhower, who has just accepted the honorary chairmanship of the Board, and for the entire Board of Directors of the American-Korean Foundation, in expressing sincerest appreciation for your magnificent cooperation in this emergency fund-raising campaign.

Very sincerely,
James Van Fleet

CHEMICAL SPRAY unit at the Tokyo Army Hospital is being checked by Cpl. William C. Bray, son of Mrs. Hazel Wakeman, 1101 E. Main. Bray was a grader for the Klamath Moulding Company before entering the army in August, 1949. He arrived overseas last April and is an insect and rodent control technician.

Fawn Bites Hand That He Thought Would Feed Him

MCALISTER, Okla., (AP) — Adm. Apollo Soucek, here for a speaking engagement, says he has the reputation of being one of the biggest infantile teeters in the armed forces.

It all dates back to a 1948 lawn party at McAlister.

"I was standing there talking, my hands folded behind me, when I felt something warm and moist nibbling me," the admiral said.

"I yanked my hand away and ripped the little finger open. It bled profusely. A baby deer had wandered up and apparently had mistaken my finger for one of its mother's meal tickets."

He said the story is true. The deer came from the U. S. naval ammunition depot reservation here.

Glenn Ford Returns Gripping About Treatment In Brazil

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Glenn Ford has returned from Brazil and what may be the biggest film fiasco of recent times.

Ford, Cesar Romero, Arthur Kennedy and a group of Hollywood film makers traveled to Brazil last summer to make a movie called "The Americano."

It stayed two months. The net result: 17 minutes of usable film.

"Everything that was possible went wrong. I'm convinced that much of our trouble was caused by the Communists, who were told to 'get' us."

He said he could see the Communist opposition at the outset. When the company arrived in Brazil, the Red press started sniping. It called Romero "a has-been actor" and Kennedy "an unknown" and said the producer, Robert Stillman, had come there "with his palm out."

Ford himself came in for abuse. During a radio interview after his arrival, he was asked what Portuguese words he had learned. The actor mentioned a few common phrases and also the name of a popular drink. The next day the Communist paper featured a picture of him with a large bottle of the drink, which Ford learned was a potent liquor.

Ford, who was accompanied by his wife, Eleanor Powell, and their son, said the Reds also started the rumor that she was romancing another man. It was a friend with whom both had lunched a few times.

"You can't pin such things down," Ford continued, "but I'm sure the Reds had a lot to do with the troubles that plagued our company. For instance, we would be promised so many head of cattle and horses for an important sequence. They arrived three days late.

"Big arc lamps were arranged for; they didn't arrive. Things like that cost thousands of dollars."

Other things went wrong, too. Return transportation for the Hollywood contingent hadn't been arranged and many were almost stranded. And someone neglected to obtain government approval of the script, a situation that still hasn't been cleared up.

During his two months in Brazil, Ford worked only three weeks, filming locations at the edge of the Mato Grosso. The footage was impressive, he said, but there is a question whether a feature film can be salvaged from it. The actors have collected their money for the job, but Ford said he felt obliged to help finish the film.

Despite all the production woes, Ford gained a good impression of the Brazilian people and the film industry.

"The Brazilians themselves are a warm, friendly people and very interested in Hollywood," he remarked. "The film business has immense possibilities, but they have not yet been realized."

Ike Saves 'Meatball' From Gas

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Eisenhower has saved Tomoya (Meatball) Kawakita from death in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber, it was disclosed here Monday.

The American-born Japanese was convicted of treason by a jury that heard testimony of sadistic brutality on American prisoners in a World War II Japanese prisoner of war camp. Kawakita served there as interpreter and foreman.

President Eisenhower acted after 10 months of deliberation. He commuted the death penalty to life imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 in "the interest of the United States."

Notice of the commutation was received by Edmund L. Smith, clerk of the U. S. District Court here, by airmail this morning.

U. S. Marshal Robert S. Ware received similar notification. He said Kawakita soon would be transferred from the Los Angeles County jail to Alcatraz federal prison.

U. S. Judge William C. Mathes said in sentencing Kawakita: "... his crime is not against a few American prisoners of war. His crime is against the whole people of this country where he was born."

The U. S. Supreme Court had upheld the death sentence previously pronounced by Judge Mathes. Shortly before World War II, the California-born Japanese went to Japan. He became a prison camp interpreter. After the war, he returned to the United States and was recognized by Sgt. William L. Bruce, one of his former prisoners, in a local department store.

Thirty ex-prisoners testified to Kawakita's brutality to Americans in the camp, and he was convicted in 1948.

President Eisenhower's commutation said in part: "It has been made to appear to me that the interests of justice do not require that the aforesaid sentence be executed upon the said Tomoya Kawakita."

$79,100,000,000
Taxes Paid In '52

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans paid $79,100,000,000 taxes in 1952 and the federal government got most of the total.

The Census Bureau, reporting yesterday on taxation and public spending, said that general public revenue was divided about 72 per cent to the federal government, 18 1/2 per cent to the states.

It said spending ran more than 101 billion dollars, or $646 per person. While figures are not available for an exact comparison with earlier years, the bureau said, federal expenditures were about double those for 1942.

The total tax figure was up 24 per cent from the previous year and was nearly four times the 1942 total.
