

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK — NOV. 8-14

THESE SECOND GRADERS do not yet know about American Education Week nor about the priceless heritage of every child in the land, the right to learn . . . Just now they are more concerned with "run sheep run," hop-scotch and adding two and two, but they are part of the huge numbers of fortunate children benefited by Oregon's school system. Here—upper right, Mrs. J. E. Chase, brushes the shining curls of daughter Karen, while twin Sharon awaits her turn. Mr. and Mrs. Chase and their family live at the Indian Agency and the twins attend school in Chiloquin. Upper left—they look over the days lesson with Cheryl Cham-pagna, center, daughter of Mrs. Mary Reys and D. E. Champaqna. Below—right, Sharon and Karen sample lunch at the cafeteria and ponder 'rithmetic. Lower right—pensive Sharon, long curls unruffled, awaits the "going home" bell.
