Murderer Dies In Chair

MCLESTER, Okla. (AP) — Carl Austin Dewolf, 37-year-old Massachusetts gunman, who lived four years in a death row prison cell while lawyers tried to clear him died in the electric chair early Tuesday.

Unflinching and calm, Dewolf denied to the last that he shot and killed officer Jerry St. Clair after a hijacking and running gun battle Aug. 30, 1946.

"I've never seen Jerry St. Clair," he said, raising his voice to be heard above the 2,300-volt hum of the death machine.

"How could I kill a man I've never seen?"

Dewolf wasn't charged until three years after the slaying. Riddled by bullets after an unsuccessful attempt to hijack a liquor store in California, he was arrested and a gun found in his possession was identified as the St. Clair death weapon.

He insisted it was given him by Victor Everhart, once charged in the St. Clair slaying, but later absolved on the alibi that he was under treatment for a broken collar bone in Indiana at the time.

refrained from mentioning the name of FBI director J. Edgar Hoover.

In his address, Truman dealt with charges by Atty. Gen. Brownell that he promoted the late Treasury aide, White, after the FBI reported to the White House that White was a Communist spy. The former President claimed in his talk that White was kept in a government job to avoid interfering with an FBI investigation.

Ferguson said Truman should not have allowed the Senate to confirm the appointment of White as U.S. executive director of the International Monetary Fund without letting that body know of unfavorable FBI reports on White. Truman received one report the day White was confirmed.

The senator said Truman could have "sent the name back to the Senate and then a reconsideration could have taken place because the rule says that it's for two days that they can make such a reconsideration. It could have been withdrawn."

Saying Truman indicated Congress was not told of the FBI report, Ferguson asserted that Truman "leaves the people to draw the conclusion that he used the Senate of the United States in order to create a decoy... so that they (the FBI) could get a certain amount of evidence...."

Ferguson said he is concerned with "the fact that he (Truman) doesn't name J. Edgar Hoover al-
