Official Secrecy, Snow Mask Interview Between Gouzenko, US Spy Team

MONTREAL (AP) - Strict official secrecy and thick Canadian snow covered the tracks of U. S. Senators William Jenner (R-Ind.) and Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) today in their quest for what Igor Gouzenko knows about Soviet spying in the United States.
The two top members of the Senate internal security subcommittee, accompanied by two aides, arrived here yesterday in a blaze of publicity for their secret meeting with the former Soviet code clerk whose 1945 flight from the Russian Embassy in Ottawa revealed a Communist atom spy ring in America and Britain.
After a news conference and a closely guarded, six-hour parley in the Windsor Hotel with Supt. J. R. Lemieux of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the senators and Lemieux slipped into an official car late yesterday afternoon and drove rapidly off into the snowstorm which blanketed Montreal.
There was some speculation that Gouzenko had been brought to the hotel for the interview, but the party's later departure seemed to indicate they were headed for a secret rendezvous. U. S. Ambassador Douglas Stuart also attended with the group.
McCarran had told reporters the four-man U. S. team planned to stay in Canada until "the mission is completed." Jenner said they hoped to be back in Washington for the opening of Congress Wednesday.
Jenner, the subcommittee chairman, said he and McCarran "are concerned with the internal security of our country."
"We have information and leads and we hope that Mr. Gouzenko may be able to assist us in our work. We're here to find out all we can."
Lemieux said no statement would be issued after the interview with Gouzenko. The Americans previously had agreed reluctantly to the Canadian government's demand that it should have control over what is published about the meeting.

Ford Due To Come Out In 1954 With New Models In Higher Horsepower Class

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor
DETROIT (AP) - New engines of higher power, a new ball-joint front suspension, a new hardtop plastic roof over the driving compartment, and a four-way power seat are among features of the 1954 model Ford passenger cars.
The models will be introduced in dealer showrooms next Wednesday.
Prices are customarily announced at that time. However, there was no indication whether they would be higher or lower than 1953 prices.
Besides the other advances Ford also is offering power brakes, power steering and power-lift windows as optional equipment.
Styling-wise emphasis is being placed on bright exterior and interior body colors. There are 156 exterior and interior color combinations and 13 single tone body colors, 10 of which may be ordered in 13 two-tone combinations.
Upholstery materials include broadcloth, vinyls, woven plastics and nylons. In some models control panel and front door garnish moldings are in two-tone colors with matching colored steering columns and steering wheels.
The new 1954 line engines are a 130-horsepower Y-block V-8 with overhead valves and a 115-horsepower six. The V-8 has been stepped up from last year's 110-horsepower. The six is up from the 1953 model's 101-horsepower. Both are of the short stroke, low friction type and compression ratio is 7.2 to 1, virtually unchanged.
Both engines, under development for six years, are claimed by Ford to provide extraordinary fuel economy.
Ford's new ball-joint suspensions is described by company engineers as the greatest advance in front suspension in 20 years. It replaces the older type king-pin suspension. It is designed to permit up and down movement of the front wheels through the ball joints as the wheels travel over rough spots or directional movement as wheels turn right or left in steering.
The 1954 Ford line consists again of three series - Mainline, Customline and Crestline - with 14 body styles.
Added for 1954 are three new body types, the Crestline skyliner with front half of the roof of transparent plastic; a Crestline fordor sedan and a new Customline two-door station wagon called the Customline Ranch Wagon.
This year, for the first time, the choice of V-8 or 6-cylinder engine is offered in all models.
Exterior changes include a new grille with the Ford center spinner, recessed parking lights and jet-air scoop. Height of the front fender crown has been increased half an inch and headlamps have a new diagonal slant.
A single strip of chrome running the length of the car gives the new models a longer look.
Retained in the new models are the jet-tube tail lights.
Ford's four-way power front seat can be raised or lowered 1 1/2 inches and moved back and forth 4 1/2 inches by means of two electric motors.
The Fordomatic automatic transmission and the Ford overdrive also are continued as optional items.

Cops Watch Jail Breaker

MARIANNA, Fla. (AP) - Officers mounted a heavy guard over 33-year-old Jesse James Roberts, notorious South Georgia automobile thief and jail breaker, pending his federal arraignment today on a variety of charges.
He was scheduled to face U. S. Commissioner John H. Carter this morning.
The 6-foot-4, 265-pound criminal was captured without resistance at a Wewahatcha tourist court yesterday, but pulled a gun from between his legs and began firing wildly when an FBI agent and jailer began searching him at the Golf County Jail a short while later.
The agent said Roberts was being stripped and it was "more or less a desperation move—we were down to his pants and taking them off." Two shots were fired, no one was hit and Roberts was immediately overpowered, the agent said.
One pistol had been taken from him at the tourist court.
The FBI—and officers throughout the South—had been hunting Roberts since Dec. 20 when he overpowered a jailer half his size and broke out of the Greene County Jail at Eutaw, Ala., where he was being held on charges of forgery.
The FBI arrested Roberts yesterday on charges of interstate transportation of an automobile stolen at Eutaw when he escaped the jail there.

BIG BOOK COMING! - Mrs. Margaret Simpson, cashier in Pacific Telephone's business office, compares the size of the old Klamath Falls directory with the forthcoming "big city" edition to be distributed in March.

Phone Book Size Boosted

The 1954 Klamath Falls telephone directories, which will be issued about March 12, will be the "big city" size for the first time, it was announced today by S. C. Bowie, manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company here.
The new directories will be nine by 11 inches and will have three columns of names and numbers on each page. They will also carry a complete alphabetical section on other surrounding communities, as do the present sized books.
The current directories are six by nine inches, with two columns. The new dimensions are to be used "in order to keep pace with the continuing demand for telephones in this area," Bowie said. He pointed out that telephones served by the Klamath Falls exchange have increased from 4,820 in 1940 to approximately 11,622, a gain of some 141 per cent.
Daily calls have more than doubled during that period, Bowie said, from about 27,000 in 1940 to nearly 65,000 today.
Portland, Oregon City, Eugene-Springfield, Salem and Medford are the only other areas with the large sized books.

PNW Men On Honor List Of Jaycees

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - An Episcopal bishop who uses an airplane to carry religion to remote Alaska villages and a Seattle geologist who was a leader in scientific work on the Juneau icefield were among the 10 top young American men of 1953 selected Saturday by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.
Bishop William Jones Gordon Jr., 35, Fairbanks, Alaska's "Flying Bishop," was cited for risking his life to spread religion in the 596,000 square miles that make up his diocese.
The Jaycees selected Maynard Malcolm Miller, 32, for outstanding leadership in the field of geological science.
Others on the list were:
Albert Schatz, 33, Fairlawn, N. J., college professor and research worker who had a hand in the discovery of the drug streptomycin;
Douglas R. Stringfellow, 31, Ogden, Utah, U.S. representative, for espionage and sabotage activities for the Allies in World War II; Frank Goad Clement, 33, Nashville, Tenn. governor of Tennessee; Walter Horace Carter, 32, Tabor City, N. C., weekly newspaper publisher; Carl T. Rowan, 28, Minneapolis newspaper reporter; Billie S. O. Estes, 28, Pecos, Tex., farmer and real estate owner; Dr. Lloyd Thomas Koritz, 26, Rochelle, Ill., doctor of medicine; Sgt. Hiroshi Usumura, 28, Gallup, N.M., Medal of Honor winner in Korea.
The 10 men will be honored at a banquet at Seattle Jan. 23.

Film Stars Wrangle Over Hamlet Issue

ROME (AP) - Film star Shelley Winters has walked out on her matinee idol husband, Vittorio Gassman, after a quarrel which began when she thought there was too much ham in hamlet.
"We had quite an argument," the blonde dramatic actress said in a Rome hotel Monday morning after confirming that she left Gassman - at the least temporarily - at Genoa night before last.
His interpretation of Shakespeare's Dane displeased her and they quarreled, Shelley reported.

Christianity Instead Of Atom Bomb Urged As Way Toward Peace In World

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) - This nation should try to transform its culture into a truly Christian one instead of relying on such powers as the atomic bomb, Prof. Harold A. Ehrensperger of Boston University said here Saturday.
"Our presidents and our secretaries of state have put their faith in stock piles of atomic bombs, and in their destructiveness we are promised peace," Ehrensperger said. "The end thereof is too horrible to imagine."
His speech was prepared for delivery at the final session of the fifth quadrennial conference of the Methodist Student Movement, attended by more than 2,000 college students from all over the nation.
"We have identified our religion with the powers of this world, and there are no true prophets to sound our doom, to shock us into awareness of our sins and to stab us awake before we destroy one another," Ehrensperger added.
Universities and colleges should put more vitality into the teaching of religion, four speakers agreed in a symposium Friday night.
Bishop Donald H. Tippet of San Francisco said many schools "seem to be doing their best to keep God from being mentioned in the classrooms."
Dr. C. Everett Tilson of Vanderbilt University said the teaching of religion, "if it is to be tolerated on the campus, must be cool, unbiased and passionless."
Learning should be fellowship, not combat, between teachers and students and among students, remarked the Rev. Paul Deats of Boston University.
Jameson Jones, a student of religion at Vanderbilt, urged the students to express themselves on issues of the day. He said the stockpiling of food that might be used to feed the hungry of the world is a moral issue and the students should speak up on it. He suggested they make themselves on universal military training it comes up in Congress.
