league play; the Mustangs are rated the best bet to knock over Chiloquin for the title this season although Red Lyon is lost through injury for scholastic reasons. Bly is still batting 1,000 inasmuch as the Henley game was king's-X and the Bobcats won last week.

Malin led 17-10 over the Grizzlies at the quarter mark and blotted it to 32-21 and 48-27 at the half and three-quarter posts.

Glen Steyskal poured in 22 points for the winners.

Sacred Heart evened the count a couple of times in the fourth quarter against Merrill but the Huskies had the final punch left to one-point the Trojans.

Bill Snider poured in almost half of Sacred Heart's points with 16; John O'Neill was high for Merrill with 12.

Henley rallied for its win over Bly as the Bobcats stayed ahead —11-9 and 24-22 at the first two stops—primarily on foul-line shooting. The Hornets out-scored Bly from the field, 19-11. Ray Searcy scored the deciding basket for Henley. Sherman Seastrom potted 19 for Bly, 11 on free throws.

Chiloquin's Ted Siemens led the Panther attack with 18 points with Ivan Joe contributing 15 and Jack Barney 13.

In junior varsity preliminaries, Malin whipped Gluchrist, 28-22; Merrill edged Sacred Heart, 34-32; Henley got over Bly, 46-22; and

Garrett Pitches Stars to Win

HONOLULU — Stanford's Bobby Garrett passed the College All Stars to an 18-14 victory over the Hawaii All Stars Friday night before 20,000 spectators in balmy Hawaiian weather.

Garrett's pitching, plus yeoman work from UCLA's Paul Cameron, punched over three touchdowns in the first half. But the Hawaiians —although aided by six professional — couldn't catch up.

Garrett completed 15 of 23 passes, including two for touchdowns. Eight throws went to his Stanford teammate, end Sam Morley.

National Cage Action Heavy

By BEN PHILGAR

NEW YORK — Indiana's dancin' invasion into Minnesota brought a tremendous basketball fight as nine of the nation's top 10 teams see action on program which includes more than 100 major games.

The NCAA champions from last year, ranked third behind Kentucky and Duquesne, suffered only Big Ten loss last night at Minneapolis. The Gophers, No. 6 in the country, feel that of repeating the triumph, crowd of more than 18,000 is tied, the largest ever to see a college-owned arena.

Indiana City, No. 9, is idle and one of the others in the top 10 have things considerably more than Indiana and Minnesota.

Kentucky entertains Georgia Tech at Lexington where it has won 116 consecutive games.

DUQUESNE PLAY

Duquesne meets little St. Francis of Pennsylvania. Oklahoma A&M, No. 4, entertains Houston in a Missouri Valley contest.

Western Kentucky, No. 5, travels to Murray State, always a tough foe for the Hilltoppers. Seventh-ranked Holy Cross plays host to St. Anselm's; Duke, No. 8, is at home to North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference headliner and Oregon State, No. 10, meets Idaho for the second straight night. The Beavers were upset last night 70-65 despite a 32 point spree by 7 foot-3 Swede Halbrook.

CAA Rejects Broad Code for Eligibility

CINCINNATI — The college administrators, finding themselves increasingly occupied with the task of policing their own, Friday turned down a proposal for a nationwide eligibility code for athletes.

They immediately found themselves assailed with another job, handed over by the CAA, heavily burdened with problems as television, false receipts and strengthening enforcement of their own codes. The NCAA members felt it would be too much to handle a nationwide rule regarding the eligibility of individual athletes.

It had been proposed through amendment to the NCAA constitution which would have applied three-year eligibility rule and one-year residence rule for students to all competition CAA members. It now applies to championship meets and events or where separate Several objections were raised, but when the delegates saw how much work by national committees would be involved, the amendment was sunk on the convention floor. Hardly had this been done when the American Football Coaches Assn., which has agreed to work in harmony with the NCAA in enforcing rules of conduct, came up with an eight-point program for improving coaching ethics.

DEPLORING

The coaches, deploring occasional extra-rough play suggested conference committees be given the power to banish from football any player whose conduct is detrimental to the best interests of the game. They further suggested using game movies to determine when such abuses take place.

For their own part, the coaches formally viewed as unethical picking weekly game winners, organizing sideline coaching, faking injuries, scouting opponents' practice sessions, falsifying players' weights and exchanging game mov-

Panther In TKO Loss To Joey

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK — Joey Giardello never looked better—not even in Supreme Court.

Giardello 23-year-old Philadelphia middleweight, ranked No. 3 challenger to champion Bobo Olson showed surprising punching power in stopping Garth Panther, rugged Salt Lake City boxer, in 1:16 of the fifth round last night at Madison Square Garden.

It was the first time in Panther's 67-bout career he had failed to last the route. He claimed he never had been knocked down. Although Garth was hammered half through the ropes and driven around the ring by Joey's right hand barrage, he didn't go down. Referee Al Berli made a technical save when he wisely called a halt.

SURPRISE

Even Giardello was surprised at the TKO, his first in the Garden and 14th in 62 bouts.

"I never liked to hurt anybody," he said in his dressing room. "I could have knocked out Ernie Durando, Walter Cartier or Sal DiMartino but I didn't. I had Gil Turner ready to go in the last three rounds. I guess I was chicken-hearted. But no more. Every fight means too much."

Giardello, of course, is the only fighter who holds a Supreme Court decision over Bob Christenberry, New York State Athletic Commission chairman. That happened a year ago when the court reversed Christenberry's reversed decision to give him the nod over Billy Graham.

WANTS OLSON

Naturally, Joey wants Olson next. But he won't get him. Bobo has a tentative date with welter champion Kid Gavilan at Chicago, in April. Matchmaker Billy Brown of the Garden has Giardello pencilled in for a Feb. 5 date with Joey Giambra of Buffalo, N. Y. They have fought twice, each winning one.

Bowling Record Sought

SEATTLE — Bowlers of the Pacific Northwest are rallying behind a "Beat Los Angeles" slogan to make this year's American Bowling Congress tournament the largest ever held on the West Coast.

Set for Seattle, the top trundling program in the world will run from March 13 through May 10. Los Angeles was the host city when the ABC tourney first came to the far west in 1947. The tournament that year drew 3,350 teams.

"There should be little trouble going over this mark if everyone gets into the spirit of the drive," said Bob Nelson of Seattle, an ABC vice president. "The number of bowling teams in the states of Oregon and Washington alone have doubled since 1947."

A final drive for entries — the deadline is Feb. 2—is being spearheaded by Frank K. Baker, ABC secretary. He met Saturday with Seattle bowlers and will confer next Saturday with trundlers in Portland and the following Monday will be in Tacoma.

This will be the only chance any Northwest bowlers ever will have to enter the ABC tourney, which usually is in the Midwest or less was a top attraction for Division for teams of 800 average or less was a top attraction for the lower average bowlers.

PRIZES

"Special prize prizes are paid in the Booster Division," he said. "Twenty teams out of every 32 on a squad share in the distribution, with the highest scoring team getting first place award of $100."

"Every man has a chance to compete for top honors," Baker added. "In the 50 tournaments of the past many unknowns have come through. Ten bowlers, in fact, have won ABC titles in their very first year of competition."

Oliver Wants Bevo's Scoring Record Back

RIO GRANDE, Ohio — Newt Oliver said Saturday he will ask the NCAA to return the basketball scoring records it took away from Clarence (Bevo) Francis, the nation's leading scorer.

Oliver, basketball coach at Rio Grande College, said "Bevo's" record showings against major opposition should be proof enough for the NCAA to return to him the honors he won last year."

Bevo scored 1,954 points in 39 games last year as a freshman.

SEATTLE — If the sun came out and you wanted to take a golf lesson one of these January days you might have to call out a posse to find a professional.

Seems like all the pros in the Northwest have taken off for the warmer and drier, a goodly batch of them heading for Del Monte, Calif., to join Mr. Harry Lillis Crosby for his annual tournament known as the Bing Crosby Invitational.

Among 'em are Ken Tucker of Everett, Chuck Congdon of Tacoma, Joe Greer of Yakima, Ray Honsberger of Seattle and Bud Holmmeister of Hayden Lake, Idaho. Johnny Hostner and Bill Zonger of Seattle are vacationing in Phoenix and Curley Hueston of Spokane is dittoing somewhere in California.

The Harlem Clowns were billed to provide the comedy when they

Bill Nary Leads In L. A. Open

LOS ANGELES — Husky Bill Nary, parlaying 300 yard drives and a lucky putter into a four-under par 67, leads the $20,000 Los Angeles Open going into the second round today, but he knows from experience just how tough it is to win the top money.

For Nary, who lives in Tucson, Ariz., has been playing the professional trail more than 15 years and still hasn't had his hands on a first place check.

He tied for top honors at the end of regulation play at both Houston and Baton Rouge, La., last year, but lost out in playoffs.

CLOSE

Hard on the heels of the 6 foot 2 1/2 Nary are such proven first money winners as Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., the leading green-back collector on the pro circuit last year; Jim Ferrier, San Francisco and Ed (Porky) Oliver of Palm Springs, Calif.

Eight other players came in under par for the first 18 in the tournament, being played for the first time at the Fox Hills Country Club, a par 71 layout measuring 6,972 yards.

HEADS LIST

Heading the list at 70 is Tommy Bolt of Maplewood, N. J., who topped the honors here two years ago. Others are Charles Sifford, Negro star from Philadelphia; Jack Harden, El Paso, Tex.; veteran Paul Runyan of Pasadena; Fred Wampler, Indianapolis; Joe Brown, Des Moines, Iowa; John Serafin, Fox Hills, Pa., and Jack Burke Jr., Klamath Lake, N. Y.

Low amateur honors for the first day went to young Bruce Cudd of Portland, Ore., and Don Keith, South Pasadena youngster, and University of Southern California student, both with 71's.

Marquette Eyes George Terlep

MILWAUKEE — George Terlep, a former professional football player is top choice to become head coach at Marquette University, succeeding Lisle Blackburn who left Thursday to join the pro coaching ranks.

Blackburn resigned his Marquette post for a three-year contract with the Green Bay Packers at reportedly nearly twice his current salary and Terlep, his backfield coach at Marquette, was expected to move up.

Horatio Luro, trainer at Hialeah race track, uses an electric oil-crusher to prepare food for his horses.

Georges Carpentier of France was the first boxer ever to win all the championships of his country, from bantamweight to heavyweight.

During his seven years as football coach at Oklahoma, Bud Wilkinson's teams have won 60, lost 7 and tied 3.

Four members of the American Hockey League staff of linemen were former star players in that loop.
