BOYCOTT
COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—The ritual dancers of Kandy, the ancient capital of Ceylon, are threatening to boycott the visit of Queen Elizabeth II next April unless they can put on a special show for her.

The dancers, who perform in richly jeweled costumes, would add much glamor to the welcome. Ceylon's economic situation has given rise to demands for holding costs down to a minimum for the Queen's reception.

First Business Week Of '54 Sees More Production As Unemployment Gains

BY WALTER BREEDE JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—The first full business week of 1954 was one of apparent paradoxes and contradictions.

Production increased sharply in some lines — even as thousands were thrown out of work.

Securities markets were firm, reflecting an attitude of cautious optimism. Bankers, department store heads, steel producers and public officials confidently predicted good times ahead. At the same time, many businessmen complained of a dearth of new orders.

Some companies embarked aggressively on programs geared to higher output and increased sales; others curtailed the operations.

More than 15,000 auto workers got layoff notices during the week — 7,650 at Chrysler's Plymouth and Briggs plants, 4,500 at Hudson, 3,000 or more at Studebaker. Meanwhile, Ford and Chevrolet, already roaring ahead at full blast, set their sights on a further increase in production.

These developments came as auto output — up 77 per cent from the week before — reached its highest level in nearly three months. Several makers among them Buick and Oldsmobile, said their 1954 production would smash all prior records.

Steel production climbed to 1,788,000 tons — a moderate gain from the low level of the previous week and up 11 per cent from the average rate for 1947-49. Scrap prices moved lower.

To the surprise of many retail merchants, retail trade in the week after New Year's showed a definite gain in most areas over the same week of 1953. Price cutting helped, said Dun & Bradstreet.

Retailers could take some comfort from a federal reserve board report showing department store sales for 1953 to be 2 per cent higher than in 1952.

There was new evidence of price cutting among the big mail order houses. Montgomery Ward put out a midwinter catalogue with price reductions ranging from 15 to 40 per cent.

Another symptom of the swing to a buyers' market: Volume of national advertising in November showed a 14 per cent increase over the same month of 1953, said Printers' Ink. Biggest gains were made by television.

MARK TWAIN of the Orient, Dr. No-Yong Park, will address the Klamath Falls Knife & Fork Club at a dinner Tuesday evening in the Willard Hotel. His subject will be "A Squint-Eye View of America and Asia." Dr. Park is a visiting professor at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, O.

Jean Simmons Has Tough Schedule In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jean Simmons is coming down the home stretch of one of the strangest deals ever maneuvered in Hollywood.

Miss Simmons is the bright young British star who played Ophelia to Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet." She was under contract to J. Arthur Rank, the English film magnate who appeared set for big operations after the war. When the Rank fortunes foundered, he sold some of his properties.

One of these was Jean Simmons. Rank and Gabriel Pascal, who owned a portion of her services, handed her over for a sizable sum to Howard Hughes.

"I didn't know what I was getting into," sighs Miss Simmons, and truly she didn't.

The eccentric millionaire kept her idle for months at a time. Then, to beat a legal deadline, he thrust her into three fast pictures in a row. After a well-publicized court battle, she won certain concessions. She was allowed to do three pictures away from RKO—"The Robe," "Young Bess" and "The Actress."

With her contract coming to a close, Hughes sold her services to producer Howard Welsh. Again she was required to make three fast pictures.

"I had never even heard of this man Welsh," remarked Miss Simmons. "And when they handed me the first script, 'A Bullet Is Waiting,' I thought it was all a joke. It was unbelievably bad."

But she is now making the picture and seems fairly happy about it. She said the script has received an overhaul and she is pleased with the way director John Farrow is handling it.

One thing she should be happy into is she is the only woman in the picture. Others in the cast are Rory Calhoun, Steve McNally, Tom's all, brother. No extras or anything.

Her plans after she is free from Hughes?

"I suppose I shall have to start my career all over again," she remarked. "I want to do some stage work as well as pictures. I also want to get to work on starting a family."

Michael Kidd, the hottest name in the dance world today, came close to being a chemical engineer.

Kidd is the fellow who dreamed up the footwork for the two best-danced productions of 1953. He did the choreography for the Broadway show "Can-Can," and many critics credited his dances with putting it into the hit category. He also staged the dances for the MGM movie, "Bandwagon." The Mickey Spillane ballet and other numbers were among the most original ever put on film.

He looks more like an intense young student than a dance director. He explained that he almost led a laboratory life.

"I was always a good student in science and mathematics," he remarked, "so everybody figured I was destined for a scientific career. I was in my third year of chemical engineering at C.C.N.Y. when I decided I had had enough. That kind of work was too impersonal and confining to me."

Kidd had always been interested in the dance and had taken a few lessons. He started studying it in earnest, with theatrical presentations in mind, "Bandwagon." He intends to divide his time between Broadway and Hollywood in the future. At present he is concocting the numbers for a Western musical called "A Bride For Seven Brothers."

Fort Hears "Y" Speaker

FORT KLAMATH—Paul Campbell, executive director of the Klamath Falls YMCA, was guest speaker at the third meeting of the Christian Men's Service club, just recently organized.

President Lester Hoback introduced Campbell to the 21 members present. Campbell spoke on the problem of juvenile delinquency, and followed his talk with an invitation for general discussion. Inviter (T. Mike) Williams, E. J. Huff, Scout master and Lewis Jones, chief of police at Chiloquin led the discussion.

Consensus of opinion was that in many cases juvenile delinquency is attributable to neglect and indifference by parents.

Group singing followed the discussion, and the evening closed with refreshments of pie, ice cream and coffee. This practice will be continued at future meetings; members of the host community will furnish refreshments.

Plans were made for a constructive and interesting program for the next meeting, Monday, Jan. 26 at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of the Chiloquin Methodist Church. All men of the area are extended a cordial invitation to be present for fellowship and to help promote the objectives of the organization — promoting a good neighbor policy in this locality, helping with community and juvenile problems and lending help where needed.

Wilson Eyes Army Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson has a goal for the Army — only one man behind the lines for each man with a gun.

The current drive for reducing defense spending is a prod in that direction. Wilson told a news conference Friday it may be possible to cut a billion dollars from the 43 billion defense estimate for the current fiscal year.

And, estimating the Army now has about nine men in support for every six in combat units, he said it would be "a great accomplishment" to level off at one for one.

The Army apparently must choose between some such internal streamlining or reducing its combat strength. The new budget is expected to cut its manpower to 1,167,000, or about 330,000 under the present total.

The secretary dropped another reorganization hint when he said it has not been decided whether all 20 of the present Army divisions would be maintained as such in the year starting July 1. There has been talk of deactivating one.

The men saved from division headquarter could help man some smaller units, like the Nike anti-aircraft guided missile batteries now being set up.

KPTV Sale Reported

CLEVELAND (AP)—KPTV, Portland, Ore., UHF television station, was sold Friday to the Storer Broadcasting Co. of Miami, Fla.

Storer paid 8 1/2 million dollars in the deal in which title to Empire Coil Co. of New Rochelle, N. Y., and another television station, WXEL of Cleveland, changed hands.

Transfer of the two TV stations is subject to approval by the Federal Communications Commission.

Herbert Mayer, president of Empire Coil, said he was disposing of the property to devote more time to his family. Besides operating the two stations, the firm employs about 300 persons manufacturing transformers and other television equipment at New Rochelle.

Storer said at his Miami headquarters that work would continue substantially as before at the plant and at the two stations.

The Storer firm owns seven radio stations and five other TV stations. An official said it would dispose of one of its TV properties to comply with a FCC regulation which limits an owner to five UHF stations.

Timber Sale In Washington Told

SOUTH BEND, Wash. (AP)—Sale of the Raymond Lumber Co. timber holdings to the St. Regis Paper and Paper Co. of Tacoma for $1,217,507, has been completed with filing of papers with the Pacific County Auditor.

Approximately 9,000 acres of land in Pacific County and the South Bend Mill site were included in the transaction. Another 400 acres of Grays Harbor County land was reported sold for $3,000 in the same deal.

The mill machinery and buildings at South Bend previously had been sold to the R. J. Utican Co.

Wheat Storage Plan To Be Eyed

SPOKANE (AP)—A committee Friday was named by the Pacific Northwest Grain Dealers Assn. to explore the feasibility of storing surplus grain in ships tied up in "mothball fleets" on the Columbia River and coast harbors.

The move was described by James Hill of Pendleton, president of the association, as a possible stop-gap answer to an anticipated storage problem next fall involving 76 million bushels of 1953 carry-over wheat.

Hydrogen Bomb May Be Tested In Near Future In Pacific

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States may be about to rock the peaceful mid-Pacific with the most thunderous manmade explosion in world history.

An Atomic Energy Commission announcement last night raised speculation that government scientists may be planning to detonate a hydrogen bomb with a blast power mightier than the combined force of all the conventional bombs dropped by U.S. war planes in World War II.

The AEC said men and equipment will begin moving this month to the Marshall Islands for a further phase of a continuing series of weapons tests.

The three-paragraph announcement characteristically made no mention of specific types to be tested, but a reference to all categories of weapons touched off the H-bomb speculation.

It has been estimated that the American Air Force in World War II unloaded the bomb equivalent of slightly more than two million tons of TNT.

A super-atomic bomb dropped over the Nevada desert last June was a popgun by comparison. It was believed to contain a power equivalent of 50,000 tons of TNT and its flash could be seen 500 miles away.

This bomb, in turn, was about 2 1/2 times as powerful as the one that hit but wiped out the Japanese city of Hiroshima.

There was one other significant sentence in the AEC announcement: "There will be no observers other than U.S. officials concerned."

This was regarded as additional evidence that the Marshall Islands tests—to be held at some unannounced date—will involve highly important developments in the atomic weapons field that this country is not yet ready to show even to its allies.

First indications that the new tests were on the way came in the AEC's semiannual report last July. The commission said then that it was pleased with its spring series of Nevada tests, which it said had opened some "very profitable avenues to new and improved weapons."

Testing of standard atomic fission explosions needed to trigger an H-bomb presumably were included in those tests.

It also was reported unofficially at that time that AEC had begun large-scale production of materials for H-bombs.

And the July AEC report noted that its Pacific proving grounds were being enlarged with the reopening of the Bikini Atoll, 180 miles east of Eniwetok, where most recent A-bomb tests in that area have been held. The Bikini island cluster was used last for the 1946 experiments with naval vessels.

AEC's announcement last night did not say whether the upcoming tests would involve Eniwetok, Bikini—or both.

There have been reports that an entire island vanished at Eniwetok during a 1952 test detonation of a relatively small hydrogen device. These reports have gone unchallenged by AEC.

What may happen if a force equivalent to two million tons of TNT is unleashed?

Some experts think it possible that several islands fringing the 20-mile-wide Bikini lagoon could be atomized.

The results of such a blast would probably have to be recorded on intricate measuring instruments, many of them of automatic radio sending design, while the stayed far away.

Test structures, such as used during the 1946 Bikini A-bombs at Bikini, probably be unable to survive an explosion.

The AEC's latest announcement came just three days before preliminary talks between the State Dept. and Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zinoviev. President Eisenhower's hope to pool some of the world's materials and information for peaceful purposes.
