in a candid shot at the telephone receiving an unexpected long distance New Year's greeting . . . and giving a surprise reply right back with the engagement announcement. Below them, Rodney Murray and John Young light the "luminarios" . . . which formed a border of flickering candlelight along each side of the front walk. The flash bulb harshly illuminates the paper sacks of sand used to hold the tapers . . . but without the glaring light the flickering tapers were a delightful touch of magic. And no gusts of wind came up to blow them out. Peyton-Enman Nuptial Rites In Mt. Laki Community Church Witnessed by Over 350 Guests

A charming, informal wedding was witnessed by a large group of friends and relatives in Mt. Laki Community Church, Dec. 27, when the marriage of Mary Louise Enman to Dale P. Peyton was solemnized in a 2 p.m. double-ring service read by the Rev. William Ainley. The white costume of the bride and the pink and blue worn by her two attendants were a pretty picture before the altar which was beautifully arranged with pink carnations, white daisies and lighted tapers in floor candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sam Enman, Henley District; and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peyton, 2745 Homedale Road.

Susie Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Williams, was organist. She played incidental music, and traditional wedding marches. Soloist, Maurice (Bud) Deller, who sang "With This Ring," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer," was accompanied by the bride's cousin, Bob Enman.

Mary Louise, escorted by Leo Jardine, long time friend of the family, who gave her in marriage, wore a white two-piece boucle knit suit with white accessories, and carried an arrangement of white bouvardia and lilies-of-the-valley centered with a white orchid.

She had the traditional penny in her slipper; "something old" was the heirloom handkerchief she carried, which belonged to Mrs. Calvin Peyton, bridegroom's aunt; and "borrowed" was a blue garter. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, gift from the bridegroom. Maid of honor, Donna Dixon, wore a blue embossed silky cotton dress topped with a fitted brief bolero. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations, Virginia Toy, bridesmaid, was dressed the same except for color—she wore pink and carried yellow carnations. Both wore white accessories. Best man was Gene Peyton, brother of the bridegroom; honorary attendants were Tommy Zion; ushers were Richard Schieferstein, Tommy Zion, Cecil Enman and Burt Mack. The latter two were also candlelighters. For her daughter's wedding,

Mrs. Enman chose a pale blue suit with matching stole; navy blue accessories, and she wore a shoulder corsage of pink and white rosebuds.

Mrs. Peyton was also smartly dressed in a gray plaid suit with pink accessories. Her corsage was of yellow shattered carnations.

The 350 guests were received in the church parlor after the ceremony.

After the new Mr. and Mrs. Peyton cut the first piece of the wedding cake, Mrs. Earl Mack Jr., Mrs. Wallace Thompson, Mrs. Gene Peyton and Mrs. Kenneth Kiger finished cutting and served the confection.

At the coffee service were Mrs. Henry Semon, Mrs. Calvin Peyton, Mrs. Jay Fairclough and Mrs. Lester Schreiner.

Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. Earl Mack Sr., Ruth Peyton, Mrs. Bill Williams and Mrs. Harvey Wise. Eva Alexander and Winnie Guber registered the guests.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Gene Peyton, Riehl, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Langley, Grants Pass; Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Armstrong, Modesto; and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Jardine, Hartline, Wash. Mary Louise and Dale left the first of the month for Texas and will live in San Marcos near Gary Air base, where Dale is stationed.

Betrothal Told in Surprise Announcement At Parents Home

Ostensibly it was simply a New Year's "at home" at the Percy Murray residence, 812 Pacific Terrace, Dec. 31, from 8 p.m. through midnight. But after guests were ushered into the house by their son, Rodney, and son-in-law, Rod Bell—(on duty at the door)—they were presented with cards inscribed with the surprise announcement, "Betrothal—Rosemary and John"—thereby revealing the engagement of Mr. and Mrs. Murray's daughter, Rosemary to John Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Young, 1951 Erie.

Members of the families comprised the very informal receiving line—the Youngs, Murrays and the affianced, Rosemary and John.

Guests approaching the front door to the Murray residence were intrigued with the "luminarios" which lined and lighted each side of the front walk. A charming innovation here, the idea came to Mrs. Murray through New Mexico—but doubtless is of across-the-border origin. Prosaic paper bags partially filled with sand served

Wedding Vows Said in Redmond

FORT KLAMATH — Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sanders of the marriage of their daughter, Shirley, who on Friday, Dec. 18, became the bride of Jack Pepperling Jr., in a wedding ceremony at Redmond.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanders and son, Ray, who was best man, went from Fort Klamath for the wedding. Donald Jr., attending high school at Sisters, was also present. Kay Acklery, Remond, was maid of honor.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pepperling Sr., Redmond, and is with the U. S. Forest Service there, where the young couple is presently living.

Shirley attended high school at Chiloquin and Klamath Union High School in Klamath Falls, before enrolling in high school at Sisters, this spring as a junior. Her future plans are to attend an art school of design in Portland to develop her natural artistic talent, while her husband is studying to become a jet pilot at a Southern California school.

as holders for tall white tapers—which, when lighted, happily stayed lighted for the entire mild New Year's Eve—and lent enchantment to the walk from street to the front door, which was effectively decorated with a gilt cornucopia filled with shiny gold balls. The entire color scheme was pink and gold—embracing floral arrangements, napkins and the announcements. Gold bows adorned the bouquets of snapdragons and roses used throughout the rooms. Presenting the announcement cards were Mrs. Glenn Lorenz, Jean Henderson and Mrs. Rodney Murray. Serving coffee and punch were: Mrs. Ed Bell (Rod's mother); Mrs. Robert Kent, Mrs. R. P. Ellingson, Mrs. C. A. Henderson, Mrs. Lloyd Young, Mrs. Victor E. O'Neill, Mrs. R. E. Hooker, Mary Hooker and Barbara Swanson.

Mrs. Rodney Murray (Marie Doherty), daughter-in-law, and Mrs. Rodney Bell (Marcella), daughter, assisted generally during the evening.

Dr. Ralph Waldo Stearns and Victor E. O'Neill were on duty as usual replenishing the punch bowl. John was graduated from Oregon State College in June of '53; and Rosemary is a senior at the same college.
