Cattlemen Okay Props
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The American National Cattlemen's Assn. Thursday endorsed the administration's flexible price supports program "with the hope that it will eventually lead to complete decontrol."

The cattlemen's convention which Wednesday applauded Secretary of Agriculture Benson as he outlined the new program, Thursday adopted the following resolution: "We commend President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson's new farm program recently submitted to Congress as a step in the right direction toward bringing the nation's farm economy back to a sound basis, but we reiterate our old and long established policy against price supports and we endorse this program with the hope that it will eventually lead to complete decontrol." Benson told the cattlemen that variable price supports "promote shifts in production and supply to meet changes in demand—they encourage more production when the breaks when supplies are burdensome."

US Agrees On POW Plan
WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials said Thursday the United Nations command would accept return of unrepatriated Korean War prisoners, beginning Jan. 20, as proposed by Indian guards. These officials indicated, however, they would have preferred that Indian troops maintain custody of them until midnight Jan. 22. That was the deadline for a peace conference to discuss the prisoners' fate as provided by the Korean armistice. Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, chief of the Indian custodial forces, has proposed to return captives, who refused to return home, to the sides which captured them next Wednesday. Noting this development, informed officials said because of humanitarian principles the United Nations could not refuse to accept return of the prisoners at the time Thimayya has proposed.

LDS Church Plans Green & Gold Ball
The annual Green and Gold Ball of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints will be held this year on Friday, Jan. 15, from 9 to 12 p.m. at the church. Announcement of the dance was made this week by Ralph Hunter, MIA superintendent and chairman of the event. The dance is sponsored by the Mutual Improvement Association of the church in honor of the Gleaner Girls, one group in this area. "Theme of this year's ball is 'Gilded Cage.' Music for dancing will be by LaMar Jensen and his orchestra. Members and friends of the LDS MIA are invited. The dance will be formal for women; semi-formal for men.

New Avalanche Threat Seen
VIENNA (AP)—Alarms of new avalanches, plus fresh snow and rain, hampered rescue efforts Thursday in snow-buried Austrian valleys where 112 persons were known dead. There was little hope for 29 others still missing. The overall avalanche toll in the Alps of Austria, Switzerland, Germany and Italy reached 139 dead and at least 33 missing. The latest dead outside Austria were two little girls, whose snow-smothered bodies were uncovered near Trento, north Italy.

STRIKE
LONDON (AP)—The Communist-dominated electrical trade union called a flash strike at a key atomic project Thursday—third such plant hit this week in the union's pin-prick labor war for higher wages. Two hundred men walked out of the Aldermaston plant in Berkshire, southern England, to start the fourth day of 24-hour "guerilla" strikes at key construction works.

THE REV. KEITH FIELDS

Rev. Fields Accepts Ontario Church Call

The Rev. Keith P. Fields this week announced his plans to leave within a few days for his new post at Ontario, where he will assume the pastorate of the First Conservative Baptist Church of Ontario. For almost ten years, the Rev. Fields has been pastor of the Bible Baptist Church, 2244 Ward. The Klamath Falls pastorate was the fourth in his career. While in Klamath Falls, the Rev. Fields saw through to completion the interior and exterior of the church building; the construction of Cassel Hall, the fellowship hall, which was built and dedicated in 1952; purchase of the parsonage in 1947. The Rev. Fields leaves the church with no indebtedness. His family will go with the Rev. Fields to Ontario—his wife, Sara; seven children, David, 13, Elizabeth, 12, Nancy, 11, the twins Jean and Joan, 9, Patsy 8, and Jonathan, 4. Sharon Hawthorne, who makes her home with the Fields to attend school while her parents carry on their missionary activities, will also move. Sharon is a freshman at Klamath Union High School. The Fields have expressed their appreciation for the friendliness of the people in Klamath Falls. A successor to the Rev. Fields will be called in the near future by the pulpit committee of the church, which was appointed recently.

Negotiations Under Way For Church Union
Negotiations for church union are under way among a number of churches here and abroad, according to an article in the Jan. 9 "Presbyterian Life." The New York State Court of Appeals last month upheld the merger of the Congregational Christian Churches with the Evangelical and Reformed Church. It affirmed an earlier decision that civil courts have no jurisdiction in the proposed merger because no property rights were involved. The appeal had been filed by the Cadman Memorial Congregational Society and the Cadman Memorial Church of Brooklyn, N.Y. in a move to prevent the merger which would create a United Church of Christ with over 2,000,000 members. Leaders of both churches hailed the decision. A joint meeting of representative committees of the two denominations will meet next month to take further steps toward the proposed union. In Chicago, a committee completed work on a blueprint for the organization of a new church that would be created by the merger of four Lutheran groups. Involved in the negotiations are the American Lutheran Free and United Evangelical Lutheran Churches, with a combined membership of 1,900,000. Members of Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Churches in New Zealand have given their approval to an eight-point plan of union. The plan provides for closer cooperation in evangelism and other church activities, and for a schedule of voting on a final merger proposal.

Series of Bible Talks Slated Here
A series of Bible talks will be given in the Community Lounge, 228 N. 8th, beginning Sunday, Jan. 17, and continuing each Sunday, Monday, Thursday and Friday at 7:45 p.m. The talks will be conducted by Ralph McDonald and Edwin Shaer. Both men have been active in evangelistic work for some time. McDonald has toured Oregon the last four years, preaching and teaching, and has for some time conducted Bible talks in private homes in Klamath Falls. Shaer comes to Klamath Falls from Idaho where he has spent 18 years preaching in Switzerland. The theme of the talks is the unchanging way of salvation in the spirit of Heb. 18-8: Jesus Christ, the same yesterday and forever. McDonald and Shaer are interdenominational ministers, who have given their lives to traveling from place to place taking the message of Christ.

Fire Cost All Paid Up

Forest Supervisor Neal Rahm, of the Modoc National Forest, reports that full costs amounted to $223,000 have been paid by the Southern Pacific Company in connection with the Mears fire in 1951. This fire was started by fuel sparks from a defective locomotive and burned over 25,000 acres of valuable timber and some land east of the Quarantine Station on the Canby-Klamath Falls highway. A court case is now pending on the Mammoth fire which was caused by the Great Northern Railway Company in 1950. This fire burned over approximately 6,500 acres of grass land south of the Tulelake Basin. For the period 1948-1952, railroad companies were responsible for an average of four fires per year. To reduce fire occurrence, both Northern Pacific and Great Northern Companies have made considerable progress in hazard reduction work along their rights-of-way. There were no railroad fires during the past season which indicates that good results are being obtained through their constant fire prevention efforts.

Pheasant Busts Pane
Crash — the large plate glass front room window shattered — the metal venetian blinds bent in the middle and the big Chinese pheasant rooster made a perfect landing in the center of the room, and promptly hid beneath a table. This little episode happened Thursday about 4 p.m. at the home of Danny Ervin, 29, 730 Plum. Ervin, who was injured in an industrial accident last summer and is now convalescing in a wheel chair was unable to get pheasant hunting last fall and believes that this is the same rooster he would have shot, had he been able to go hunting.

Warner Canyon Ski Outlook OK
LAKEVIEW — Warner Canyon ski conditions are good, according to Don Peters, district ranger, with some four inches of powdered snow on top of 12 to 14 inches of packed snow. Temperature reading Thursday, 5 p.m., was 31 with the barometer falling and sky overcast. The highway to the ski area from Lakeview is clear and snaked, Peters said. The low and sand bar will be open Saturday and Sunday, subject to any change in the weather.

Oldster Talks Way Out Of Fine
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Abraham Wulfe, 81, in court on a jaywalking charge, told the judge: "I was in a hurry to get to school, judge. I didn't want to be late for class." The judge took Wulfe's word that he studied music and composition at nearby UCLA and suspended a $2 fine after the hearing yesterday. A music department instructor, who confirmed to a reporter that Wulfe was a student there, said, "Why yes, we have two octogenarian students. The other is John B. Ely, 83, of Santa Monica, who is also studying composition."

BATTLE
NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — A white farmer and his wife fought off Thursday 100 Mau Mau terrorists nearly until police—themselves held up by an ambush—came to the rescue. One farm hand was killed and the farmer, P. F. Grimwood, killed three of the attackers.

Congress Said Ready To Okay Ike SS Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress appeared set today to give delayed but enthusiastic approval to President Eisenhower's plea for bigger benefits and more taxes under a social security system covering almost the entire population. Seldom, in fact, has a White House message on such a vast and controversial subject produced so little vocal dissent as the program sent to the Capitol yesterday on Old Age and Survivors' Insurance. House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) gave this appraisal today: "There isn't any question but that this Congress will enact legislation substantially carrying out the President's program."

A key Democratic leader, asking not to be quoted by name, said, "You can bet your bottom dollar that few Democrats will oppose it." Chairman Reed (R-NY) praised the program and said his House Ways and Means Committee will go to work on it, probably in early March. Reed, who has fought the President on other points and who has opposed plans of past Democratic administrations to liberalize social security, introduced two bills to carry out Eisenhower's proposals. One bill embraces the main proposal for extending coverage, raising benefits and increasing from $3,600 to $4,200 the individual income limit on which the 2 per cent social security tax would apply. The other would put into effect what is expected to be the most controversial part of the presidential program—revision of federal contributions to states for direct relief to persons not covered, including some needy aged, blind, disabled persons and dependent children. Reportedly Reed divided the legislation so that, if opposition makes it necessary, social security expansion can be pushed without becoming involved in any fight over the welfare program. Monthly benefit increases would go to those already retired or receiving survivors' payments and in larger measure to those becoming eligible in the future. The increases would range from $5 to, ultimately, $23.50 or more for families. Coverage also would be extended to almost the entire working force—10 1/2 million additional persons, including doctors, lawyers and farmers. The like effective date for increased benefits to some six million persons already eligible would be just before the November congressional elections. Rep. Keen (R-NJ), a Ways and Means Committee member who specializes in social security, predicted today Congress would accept the President's program "substantially as proposed."

He foresaw little opposition to the benefit increases, or to a proposal permitting retired workers to earn up to $1,000 annually and still draw social security benefits. The present law forbids such payment to a worker between 65 and 75 for any month in which he earns as much as $75. Keen said the American Medical Assn. would fight expansion of coverage to include doctors, and a proposal to give permanent or totally disabled persons full benefits based on their period of work, not counting the period when they would be forced out of covered employment. But he said he thought these sections would be approved. Democrats on the Ways and Means Committee generally praised the program and noted that it included several features proposed by former President Truman but rejected by Congress.

Heiress In Coffee Shop
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Patrons of a coffee shop here might be surprised to discover they have been tipping a waitress who says she is heiress to a $500,000 fortune. Mrs. Virginia Broten, 28, said she was notified yesterday at work that she had inherited that sum from the estate of her father, Dr. M. E. Garmoe, Cedar Rapids, Ia., optometrist, whose funeral she attended three weeks ago. She's going to stay on the job, too, "at least for the present," and the first purchase she'll make when she gets the money will be "the biggest trailer in the world" for her mother, Mrs. A. F. Hibbert, who divorced Mrs. Broten's father, remarried and lives here. Mrs. Broten said she never expected to share in the estate because she married Lester Broten, a truck driver, in defiance of her father's orders. She is the mother of three children. Democrats on the Ways and Means Committee generally praised the program and noted that it included several features proposed by former President Truman but rejected by Congress.

Bedbound Prof. Draws Full House
RENO, Nev. (AP)—A University of Nevada professor, A. L. Higginbotham, is getting 100 per cent attendance at his early morning classes these days. Higginbotham, head of the journalism department, was injured in an auto accident recently and still is not strong enough to resume teaching on the campus. So his students meet at his home. For the 8 a.m. classes, Mrs. Higginbotham serves hot coffee and an occasional doughnut.
