Marilyn Miller Announces Engagement at 'Club '52' Party

January 2—has become the holiday highlight for "Club '52"—This is the second year on that date that Marilyn Miller has issued invitations to the reunion and party at her home on Conger Avenue. The tie that binds this group was knotted when they were classmates in the KUHS graduating class of '52.

—And pertinent to "the-tie-that-binds"—the phrase was most appropriate and had added meaning to this year's reunion and fitted neatly into the hostess' surprise announcement to the guests. The party room of the W. D. Miller home was gayly decorated with bright balloons and streamers in keeping with the holiday season.

As each guest entered the room she was presented with a copy of the red rosebud by Beverly Eells who shared the secret — with a blue paper bell which was written the surprise announcement: "Ring out the old, ring in the new — Ring wedding bells, for the happy TWO!—Marilyn and Phil" revealing the engagement of Marilyn to Philip Lewis of Hood River. The reunion party became an exciting engagement party with congratulations and best wishes showered on the

Merrill Presbyterian Scene Of Impressive Scronce-Kandra Rites

MERRILL—Red poinsettias, white chrysanthemums, and white flowers formed an effective setting for the Dec. 27, wedding of Lois Lea Kandra and Forney William Scronce, in the Merrill Presbyterian Church. The very impressive 3 p.m. single-ring service was read by the Rev. George A. Milne. Lighted tapers in candelabra entwined with holly, and baskets of poinsettias and white mums formed the effective background for the ceremony. Lois Lea is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Kandra, pioneer residents of this area, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Scronce, Vale, N.C.; who were unable to be present.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Lillian Thomas, organist, who also accompanied Dr. G. Mosser Taylor, brides brother-in-law, who sang "My Heart is a Notis and satin ribbon, placed on a white Bible completed the bridal ensemble. Mrs. Ursal (Jo Anne) Snapp, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and the only attendant. She wore a red velvet gown with matching headband in her hair. Her bouquet was of holly, white mums, and poinsettias. Mrs. G. Mosser Taylor, sister of the bride, assumed the duties of Mrs. Kandra, who due to illness was unable to attend her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Taylor wore light green taffeta, and her corsage was of pink rosebuds. The young couple received at a reception in the social parlor of the church. The refreshment table further carried out the holiday color scheme and motif. Square white Christmas candles were placed on either side of the wedding cake, decorated with silver bells and holly, with real holly circling the base. Eileen Noonan cut the cake; Mrs. John Bryngelson and Mrs. Edward Borer, sister of the bride, poured. Two of the bride's nieces, Patty Smith, Malin; and Janet Dixon, Los Angeles; served at the punch and gift tables. Guests were registered by Mrs. George Price of San Diego. For travel, the new Mrs. Scronce wore a light blue knit suit, matching hat and brown accessories. After a week's honeymoon trip to Reno and San Francisco, they are now at home here. Mrs. Scronce teaches at Fairhaven school, and he is employed at Griggs store in Merrill.
