Fort Scout Meet Held
FORT KLAMATH—At a meeting held at the C. I. clubhouse Thursday evening, Jan. 14, reorganization of the Fort Klamath Boy Scout Troop 34 was completed. Here to assist were Jack Smith, Klamath Falls, field executive of the Modoc Area Council of Scouts and Victor Sisson, Klamath Agency, neighborhood commissioner for this district. After having been Scout Master for the past three years, Frank Strahan recently resigned from the position. Named to succeed Strahan was Marian (Buz) Kendall, young Korean war veteran recently discharged from the U. S. Army now making his home here with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kendall and family. Assistant Scout Master is Glen Hescoock, explorer Boy Scout of Post 34, who take over the duties of his father, Wilbur B. Hescoock, assistant Scout Master for the past three years. Working in close cooperation with the two Scout leaders will be the following committee: Hansford T. (Mike) Williams, chairman; Bert Gray, Elmer Zumbrun, Harold L. Wimer, James Van Wormer, Wilbur B. Hescoock and Frank Strahan. Donald P. Veatch will continue to act as institutional representative for Troop 34. In addition to Boy Scouts, the local troop includes a Cub Scout pack, consisting of boys in the 8 to 11 years category, and three Explorer Scouts. Cub Master is Wilbur B. Hescoock; James Van Wormer is assistant; Mrs. Wilbur B. Hescoock, den mother; William Brewer, treasurer. Several of the Cubs will soon reach the age of eleven, when they will be eligible for membership in the Boy Scout group.

The Civic Improvement Club will continue to sponsor the entire Troop 34, and use of the clubhouse is available to any of the Scout groups for pack meetings and various other activities.
