BELLINGHAM (AP)—The Pacific Coast Metal Trades Council pointed Thursday to conclusion of their 14th annual convention with election of officers and picking of a 1955 convention site.

The metalworkers hammered out a series of resolutions Wednesday night in a late-hours session that saw approval of a plan to redistribute funds in their health and welfare plan treasury.

Under present practice, the 7 1/2 cents an hour reserved for the health and welfare fund is paid into a central treasury for redistribution. After much discussion Wednesday night, a resolution was approved which would permit locals or international unions to own treasuries.

The resolution has no effect other than to indicate a preference by members of the council for handling of the matter when new contracts are negotiated with employers.

Earlier, it was announced that a three-hour conference had failed to bring the International Association of Machinists into the big AFL council.

William H. Way, council president, announced the council and machinists could agree on only one of four points of difference and the machinists would continue to negotiate separately with employers.

Among other resolutions approved in the late session was one authorizing the council's legislative committee to write letters to state and national officials urging more work for West Coast shipyards.

Sugar Beet Quotas To Be Studied

CHICAGO (AP)—The U.S. Department of Agriculture Wednesday concluded a two-day meeting with beet sugar growers and processors and said no definite decision would be announced yet on proposed 1954 processor allotments.

For the first time since 1941, the government has proposed allotments to the 18 individual sugar beet processors in several states from Michigan westward to California. The national quota has been proposed at 1,800,000 tons.

An Agriculture Department spokesman said the quota is slightly more than last year's total production, but that the production trend has been upward and an effort is being made to level it off at about the current figure.

Also, he said, the department feared that some farmers who had been growing wheat, corn, cotton, and other crops under government restrictions might convert some land to sugar beets.

The actual allotments are proposed for the processors, and thus growers would be affected indirectly.

All 18 processing companies represented at the hearing, and about 75 or more growers also attended. A government spokesman said the processors generally were in agreement with the quota plan but that "most of them want a bigger allotment than is proposed for them individually."

G. O. Hyde, a hearing officer for the department in Washington, conducted the hearing. Lawrence Myers, chief of the Sugar Division of the department, attended.

A decision is not expected to be made by the department for some time, a spokesman said.

TERRORISM

TANGIER Morocco (AP)—Reliable information reaching here Thursday discounted French fears that a gathering of Moslem religious and civil chiefs in nearby Spanish Morocco threatens a step up in terrorism in neighboring French Morocco. The leaders gathered in Tetuan, capital of the Spanish section of the divided North African protectorate.
