Pelican Matmen Book 3 Weekend Dates

Klamath Union High School wrestlers, pointing with justifiable pride to probably the best prep sports record in the state, are preparing for another busy weekend of milling. Coach Dutch Simons' Pelicans face Roseburg here Friday night and again Saturday morning and host the Oregon State Rooks Monday. The high school matmen are undefeated in dual meet competition in this, their seventh, season of wrestling. The string adds up to an astounding 63 meets, including seven meets with the Rooks, two of which ended in ties, over the seven-year span. The Pelicans whipped Roseburg earlier in the season but Simons said many of the matches were close enough that they could go the other way and give the Klamathites more than a few hectic minutes. JUGGLING

Simons plans as much lineup juggling as possible Friday and Saturday to employ as many wrestlers as the law will allow and still prevent an upset.

Roseburg's lineup will probably have John Durnahoo in the 97-pound class, Gary Sumpter at 105, Ed Keady 128, Bob Baggett or Dealing 135, David Leeling or Baggett 140, Jay Dearing or Dick Lolcoma, 147, Julio Gonzales or Jerry Williams 167, Larry Mathews or Gonzales 177 and Jack Himelwright or Ben Lawver in the heavyweight class.

Don Blehn, one of the Pel's outstanding wrestlers, will be out to avenge a loss to Parkhurst. It's likely Don Dexter will get one of the assignments in that weight class.

Other Pelican pairs are Darold Wise or Kent Flug in the 97-pound division, Gary Roberts or Hershel Alcorn 105, Richard Berg or Carl Stewart 114, Ronnie Conner or Gary Price 122, Larry Dearing or Ed Keady 128, Bob Baggett or Dealing 135, David Leeling or Baggett 140, Jay Dearing or Dick Lolcoma, 147, Julio Gonzales or Jerry Williams 167, Larry Mathews or Gonzales 177 and Jack Himelwright or Ben Lawver in the heavyweight class.

Monday's meet with the Rooks shares the spotlight with Oregon Tech's scuffle with the Oregon State varsity squad. Starting times against Roseburg are 8 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. Saturday.

Diddle Sees 600th Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Diddle, silver-haired basketball coach, reached another milestone Thursday and began looking ahead in terms of becoming the winningest mentor of all time.

Diddle's Hilltoppers polished off Tennessee Tech Wednesday night 62-51 to remain one of the seven undefeated teams in the country. More important, the triumph was the 600th victory of Ed's career, all spent at Western Kentucky.

The Hilltoppers are No. 4 in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and now on a winning streak of 17 games, the longest of any major college in the country.

Most of the major schools had the night off, but Norwich and Erskine, who have yet to taste defeat emerged triumphant again. Norwich won No. 12 by stopping Middlebury 75-70 in a Vermont Conference game, and Erskine ran its skinn to 11 by thumping Newberry 81-67.

Georgia Tech went down to defeat No. 18 without a victory at the hands of Auburn 80-56. Bates, another winless outfit, fell before Gorham (Me) Teachers 84-63 for defeat No. 13.

Dayton won its 12th game in 16 starts, defeating Seton Hall for the second time this season 76-61. Army routed Penn 71-64, and Sienna snapped out of a six-game losing streak to upset Villanova 68-58.

Cornell, riding atop the Ivy League, turned back the Sampson Air Force Base 77-72 for its 10th victory in 12 games. Williams defeated Springfield 81-77 and Louisville whipped Hanover 94-55.

At Honolulu Hawaii University ended Whitworth's 8-game winning streak 84-60.

Chiefs Seek Fifteenth

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle University will go after its 15th straight basketball triumph here Thursday night with tough Colorado A&M as its intended victim.

The Chiefs, who haven't lost a game since they split a pair with Wichita at the start of the season, will be facing a team with a record almost as good. The Rams, currently leading the Skyline Conference, have won 13 and lost 1. Coach Al Brightman said his starters will be Joe Pehanick at center, Stan Glowacki and Wayne Sanford at forwards, and Cal Bauer and Bobby Malone at guards.

Owls Get Set For Beavers

Two are on the sick list as Coach Bob Smith puts his Oregon Tech matmen through qualifying trials for Monday's meeting at KUHS with the strong Oregon State squad.

Vic Schwitz, 147 pounds, and 177-pound Kent Crawley will probably sit this one out. Smith said Reece Richardson will get Crawley's spot while Tom Wells and Glen Nofsiger are battling for the 147-pound position.

Other probable entries are Larry Dryden in the 123-pound class, Alvin Christie 130, Don Earle 137, Fred Stepper 157, Dean Schmitt 167 and either Floyd Pierce or Vern Pryor in the heavyweight division.

Pryor is bigger than Pierce but reported late and will have a stiff job beating Pierce out in the dreadnought division. Both are ex-Klamath Union High School wrestlers.

Oregon State invades Klamath Falls with a talented squad, including ex-KUHS grapplers, Ben Shepherd and Orville Swindler.

The meet starts at 8 o'clock on Pelican Court, sharing the spotlight with the Pelicans' clash against the OSC Rooks.

The Owls are even for the season, shutting out the University of Oregon 36-0, and handing the powerful Portland State a scare before the Vikings won out, 16-12.

Guards Go Overtime For Sixth Straight

The National Guards ran their winning streak to six straight last night but the undefeated City League basketball leaders had to endure overtime in a scuffle with Klamath Creamery. The score was 52-50 when the Guards potted four points to the Creamery's two in the extra period.

In the other game on the Alameda doubleheader, Eldorado Lumber outlasted the Beatty Lakers, 70-64.

Kenny Young threw in 22 points for the Guards, with Ron Owings adding 13. Larry Willis and Heilbrunner parlayed 18 and 14 for the Creamery.

The game ended in a 48-all tie, after the Creamery went ahead 13-8 at the end of one period and the Guards closed the gap to 21-23 at the half. Both teams potted 14 in the third quarter but the Guards outscored the Creamery 12-11 in the last stanza to send the game into overtime.

Gary Daves added 24 points for the Lumbermen and Beatty's Benny Moore was right behind with 22. Eldorado had a 55-40 lead going into the fourth and the Lakers staged a 24-point rally in the last period but couldn't catch up.

Games Monday night pair Klamath Creamery against the Klamath Saws in the 7-45 opener, Eldorado Lumber and Metler Bros. in the 9 o'clock second game.

Scoring: ELDORADO (19) Daves 24, Schorsten 10, Gentry 8, McKay 8, Barker 4. Eldorado subs — Floetke 14, Hatfield 2, Beatty subs — K. Weiser, Faithful 4, Davis, Jackson.

GUARDS (52) Fluechler 8, Lundsten 4, Jewell 5, Swings 13, Young 22. Guards subs — Mullin, Elias, Herrera. Creamery subs — Mead, McClean 2, Palmer 2, Cada 1.

Malin Mustangs Eye Loop Deadlock

Malin is an odds-on choice to pull even with Chiloquin in the Klamath County Class B basketball race when the seven-team cage family moves into action Friday night.

The Mustangs host the downtrodden Antlers of Bonanza and an expected win for Malin would give Jim Conroy's lads three victories in as many league starts.

That's the same record held by Chiloquin but the Panthers go non-league tomorrow night at Henley. A win for Malin—and any other result would go down as the season's top upset—will set the stage for next week's blue-chip battle between the Panthers and Mustangs at Chiloquin.

In that contest, Chiloquin played without its sharpshooter, Jo Jo George, and the Panthers' 10-2 record for the season is more impressive than Malin's 8-2 reading.

The Jan. 29 Malin-Chiloquin meeting is expected to give the winner top seeding in the Feb. 18-20 title-deciding tournament, barring any unexpected upsets along the way.

Chiloquin will have Gilchrist and Sacred Heart left on its league schedule, teams the Panthers have whipped handily in non-league outings. Malin will have to contend with Merrill and Bly after the Chiloquin meeting, somewhat tougher assignments.

In other counties Friday night, Sacred Heart travels to Gilchrist and Merrill goes to Bly. Junior varsity preliminary games on all fronts tip off at 7:30 p.m.

Gill Fields 6-3 Quintet

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Oregon State Coach Slat Gill used a team averaging 6-foot 3-inch in height Wednesday in final home workouts preparing for the weekend Northern Division basketball meeting with Idaho.

Seven-foot-3-inch Swede Halbrook worked at center, 6-2 Reggie Halligan and 6-5 Tony Vlastelica were forwards, and 5-8 Ron Robins and 5-10 Bill Toole were guards.

The Beavers were to board a chartered plane here Thursday to fly to Moscow. Gill planned a workout in the Idaho gymnasium Thursday afternoon.

Owls Seek End Of Loss Skein

Oregon Tech's Owls will try to snap a four-game losing streak when they wind up an ambitious eight-games-in-13-days basketball grind Friday and Saturday nights here against the Oregon College Wolves of Monmouth.

Gary Dorn may be back to help the Owls, currently running third in the Oregon Collegiate Conference after splitting with favored Eastern Oregon, then dropping a phir at Monmouth last week.

Dorn, racehorse guard who sprained his ankle in the first OCE game, sat out the Monday-Tuesday non-league series against Southern Oregon but Coach Skeet O'Connell said he may be ready for the invasion of the Wolves.

If he's okay, O'Connell intimated he'd get a starting job along with veteran Don Sutphin at the guard positions. The Owl headman wasn't sure of his starting five but said he'd "know after Wednesday

Selvy Keeps Point Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Selvy of Furman, the top scorer in major college basketball, is scoring almost exactly as much as the average major college team of 1938—the first year the center jump disappeared from all sections of the country.

Selvy, who didn't play last week, has an average of 38.1 points a game in NCAA Service Bureau statistics covering games played through Tuesday. Sixteen years ago, the average output for entire teams in major competition was 38.2.

Other statistical leaders are Bob Mattick of Oklahoma A&M in field goal accuracy (58.2 per cent), George Washington's Walt Devlin in foul-line marksmanship (90.2 per cent), and Marshall's Charlie Slack in rebounding, with 24.8 a game.

Rolling on the final game Wene added a 780 to his 781 to move past Tom Cleveland, who had led in opening day. Mrs. John paw, was 26 pins back in place with 4,654.
