CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO — Soybeans from the 1953 crop sold at the best price they have yet reached on the board of trade Friday.

In an active trade old crop soybeans spurred as much as 4 cents at one time while the November contracts, on which 1954 soybeans will be available for delivery, moved slightly lower.

The July, September and December wheat contracts, on which 1954 wheat may be delivered, also scored new seasonal highs. Their gains weren't as large as those in soybeans, however.

Wheat closed 1 1/2-1 3/4 higher, March 2.14 1/2, corn 1/4 lower to 1 1/4 higher, March 1.54-1.54 1/2, oats unchanged to 1/4 higher, March 80 1/2, rye unchanged to 3/4 higher, March 1.25 1/2, soybeans 1 1/4, lower to 1/4 higher, March 3.17-3.17 1/2, and hard 20 to 38 cents a hundred pounds higher, March 16.47.

BELLINGHAM, Wash. — Hope dwindled to the vanishing point Friday for the tug Mite and the two men who vanished with it on a trip from Lummi Island Wednesday night.

The missing men are Don Heffling and Bob Sloan, both of Bellingham.

A search continued by air, water and shoreline, but failed to produce a clue. The 30-foot tug ran into a severe storm on the short trip from the island to Bellingham Bay. It is believed to have gone down in Hale Passage, between Lummi and the mainland.

Television's Impact On World Outlined By U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Television's "profound impact" is spreading even into the world's backward areas, a U. N. report said Friday.

Fifty-two countries have regular or experimental TV or are getting ready to start it, according to "Television—A World Survey," published by the U. N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

From India to Uruguay, plans for television were in the works at the beginning of 1953, when UNESCO gathered its information at its Paris headquarters.

The United States, by rough estimate, already had one television set for every 7.15 inhabitants. That made it the leader. Britain was second with one set for every 24 persons.

Cuba, though manufacturing no TV equipment, was third with one set for every 55 residents. This, said the report, shows a trend "which is noticeable elsewhere in Latin America and promises to make itself felt also in Asia and Africa."

France, first nation to start electronic TV broadcasts—in 1935—by last year had one set for every 703 persons. The Soviet Union started telecasting in 1938, a year ahead of the United States, but still had only one for every 2,400 persons in 1953.

A successful television system, the report noted, requires an adequate number of broadcast hours, good programs and receivers at a relatively low price—but in starting one, it's hard to get all three at once.

Vietnamese Moving In

SAIGON, Indochina — Vietnamese political teams swarmed into the Tuy Hoa beachhead Friday with loudspeakers and pamphlets wooing the populace of that rich southern Indochina coastland, under rebel Vietminh domination since 1946.

This was the second phase in the new French Union offensive to drive the Communist-led rebels permanently out of the fruitful Annam region around the provincial capital and sugar refining center of Tuy Hoa, 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

Over the loudspeakers, the political specialists who came to take over administration of the area urged the people to come to Emperor Bao Dai, the pro-French chief of state.

Two thousand French Union troops stormed the beaches from assault craft Wednesday morning and seized the town and the vital bridge across the Song Giang River and swamp, meeting little or no resistance from the Vietminh forces. Another 2,000 drove up the Mandarin highway into rebel territory from Nha Trang to join up with the landing forces.

The French claimed the operations was the first large-scale offensive of the seven-year war. The French forces spent today regrouping as ships landed more supplies, including 300 tons of rice.

Pseudotsuga Taxifolia Wins Out in Oregon

SALEM — The U. S. Forest Service has changed the name of Douglas fir, but Oregon state foresters will ignore the change.

The alteration is mostly on the scientific level. Douglas fir has been called by botanists for 150 years or so, "pseudotsuga taxifolia". That gives a brief description of foliage and says it's a false hemlock.

The new scientific name, but not in Oregon where the Legislature has spoken, is "menziesii", in recognition of the claim of Scottish naturalist Archibald Menzies to have discovered it. There are those, though, who say David Douglas, also a Scottish naturalist, made the discovery.

Along with the scientific name change, there's a move afoot to put a hyphen in the common name and make it Douglas-fir. The Douglas fir—without a hyphen—industry is opposed.

Homer G. Lyon Jr., the state forestry department's publicity man, says it will take an act of the Legislature to change the botanical name in Oregon, where a 1939 law made pseudotsuga taxifolia the state tree.

Judge Puts Clamps On Evidence

Subsequent to a day-long pre-trial hearing, Circuit Judge David R. Vandenberg Friday ruled out part of the prosecution's evidence against Ulysses Ford, 27-year-old Negro, charged with forgery. The court then ordered the trial to proceed.

Judge Vandenberg suppressed all evidence obtained at the Klamath Falls police station where the defendant charged he was "punched in the ribs" by a state policeman. During the hearing it was admitted that a state policeman slapped Ford on the shoulder with his open hand.

"The court feels that the proceedings in the police station were irregular," the judge declared. "Writing samples obtained there are suppressed."

"The court can't find there was any intimidation while the defendant was being questioned in the district attorney's office," the court continued. "The court will not suppress any writing obtained from the defendant in the district attorney's office."

In an affidavit, filed by the defendant to support the motion to suppress the state's evidence, Ford stated that a newspaperman was present when he was questioned in the district attorney's office. He pointed out Lyle Downing, Herald and News reporter, and said "he or his twin brother" was present during the interrogation by the district attorney.

District Attorney Donald A. W. Piper then stated:

"No cross-examination, your honor. But I would like to state on behalf of the defendant that in his affidavit in support of the motion that is now being heard, there was reference to a newspaper reporter and the defendant was apparently mistaken and he intended no imputation or impropriety of any sort but merely was letting the person he thought was present identify the occasion."

Ford is accused of forging the name of Bob West, Klamath Falls automobile dealer, to a check for $110 and attempting to cash it at a food store.

After the judge made his ruling Friday morning, selection of a jury was started.

Morse Raps Ike Budget

WASHINGTON — Sen. Morse of Oregon said Thursday that President Eisenhower's proposed budget was "inadequate to meet the needs of the Pacific Northwest."

"Unemployment in Oregon and Washington has already grown to alarming and painful proportions. Industry, shipping and business generally are slowing down in the Northwest."

"The Eisenhower answer to this situation is to propose a budget which provides no new starts for power dams and will delay the schedules of The Dalles and Chief Joseph dams. Cheap electric power is the food on which my area depends for economic growth. Eisenhower has come forward with a starvation diet," Morse said.

Dimes Auction Brings Dough

The March of Dimes coffers are $766.20 richer this morning, following the second Lions-sponsored radio auction Thursday night, broadcast over KFLW.

Little Gall Putman, 5 1/2 years old, himself a polio victim, donated his tricycle to the auction, and the tricycle brought $48.00 in Dutch bidding. Gall still has braces on both legs, but by fastening his right foot to the peddle with wire, he can ride his tricycle. The toy, besides providing pleasure, helped strengthen leg muscles and last Tuesday, Gall took his first steps alone since becoming a polio victim at the age of 15 months.

Merchandise donated by business establishments and individuals netted the drive $274.80 in the hour-long broadcast. Proceeds from Tuesday night's radio auction were $351.50, making a total of $1,107.89 in two hours of broadcasting, all going to the March of Dimes.

Saturday night, the Lions will auction again, from 9 to 10 p.m. and from 10:15 p.m. until all merchandise is sold. The auctioneers are Bill Stoner and John Argetsinger, of the Resale House; station is KFLW.

New items donated for auction Saturday night include a bathroom heater, with installation, worth $80, from John M. Owens, electrical contractor; a spaghetti dinner for four January 31 from Mrs. William Hartzman; one gallon of paint, one four-foot ladder and one wall roller from K C Painting Co., a $5 grocery order from Mitch's grocery on North Ninth; a combination sled and Taylor-toy from J. W. Kerns Co.; 1/2 lb. black pepper, Raleigh Products.

The largest amount bid Thursday night was $100 for the 1941 Pontiac donated by Parker Pontiac.

Witnesses Identify Murder Suspect

LITTLETON, Colo. — Three witnesses have identified John H. Boney, 32, as the escort of a Denver woman the night before she died after reporting a rape assault.

Boney, a former merchant seaman from Salem, Ore., is on trial in district court for murder in the death of Mrs. Dorothy Gall, 38, last Sept. 20.

Two waitresses at a Denver bar testified Thursday they served the couple the night of the alleged attack. A taxi driver identified Boney as the man he drove to a parking lot where Boney got his own car and later rejoined Mrs. Gall.

Mrs. Gall died at a hospital after telling police she was beaten and assaulted on a lonely roadside by her escort.
