The University of Oregon Ducks and Oregon State Beavers were knocking at the front door Monday in the Pacific Coast Conference Northern Division basketball race. The Vandals of Idaho were mulling over their chances of slipping in the back door.

Oregon forged to the top of the standings with a 5-1 record during the past weekend by sweeping a two-game series with Washington, 77-76 on Friday night and 64-48 Saturday night.

Oregon State lost ground by splitting a pair with the Vandals, dropping the opener Friday night, 70-55, and taking Saturday's contest, 69-53.

CRUCIAL

Washington State drew a bye.

Oregon and Oregon State hook up this week in a crucial series for both squads. They play at Corvallis Friday night and move to Eugene for the second game of the series Saturday night.

Oregon State, in second place with four wins and two losses, will be out to justify its pre-season favorite role. A sweep of the series would give the Beavers the top spot. An Oregon sweep would put the Ducks solidly into contention for the title.

On the other hand, a split in the series would do more good for Idaho than any other team. The Vandals, in third place with a 4-3 record, have already finished both of their series with OSC and one of two with Oregon.

INEFFECTIVE

Idaho opposition, with the exception of two remaining games with Oregon, will be limited henceforth to Washington and Washington State, both of which have proved ineffective so far this season.

A split in this week's Oregon-OSC series, coupled with an Idaho win over Washington State in a singleton at Pullman Friday night, would boost the Vandals into a second place tie with Oregon State at 5-3.

Oregon would then be within easy reach of the Vandals. Washington State, in fourth place with a 1-4 record, and Washington's fifth-place Huskies, at 1-5, appear to be completely out of the picture.

Washington steps out of the conference this Friday and Saturday night to play a two-game series with Brigham Young of the Skyline Conference at Seattle.

Oregon State dropped Idaho Saturday night with new strategy cooked up by coach Slats Gill. Gill had three of his highest players, Swede Halbrook, Jay Dean and Tex Whiteman, pack the key while two speed merchants, Johnny Jarboe and Ron Fundingsland, handled the ball on the outside, until they could get a clear shot at the hoop or pass to the tall guys inside.

The strategy proved effective as it was aided and abetted by Halbrook's 27 points and Jarboe's 10.

Oregon, hard-pressed Friday night, found the Huskies tough to handle during the first period Saturday night but put the handcuffs on Washington in the second period and left the floor at the half with a 42-27 bulge.

Washington couldn't beg, borrow or steal points in the second quarter as Oregon held the Huskies to two field goals, one each by Karl Voegtlin and Jim Coshow.

The same pattern prevailed in the third quarter and the Ducks won going away. Ken Wegner topped scoring with 19 for Oregon. Dean Parsons got 18 for the Huskies.

GOLF

RANCHO SANTE FE, Calif. — Gene Littler, National Amateur champion, won the $15,000 San Diego Open with a final round par 72 and a 72-hole score of 274.

TAMPA, Fla. — Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C., captured the Tampa Women's Open championship with a 311.

BASEBAL

MIAMI, Fla. — Ted Williams, slugging outfielder for the Boston Red Sox, was sued for separate maintenance by his wife.

TRACK

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Mike Agostini, Trinidad, broke the world 100-yard indoor record with a time of 9.6 seconds in the Washington Evening Star games. Len Truex defeated Fred Wilt for the second time in as many days in the mile event. His time was 4:13.4.

Olson's Victim Picks Gavilan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Joe Rindone, knocked out by middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson in 5 rounds, predicts Kid Gavilan will defeat Olson in their April 2 title bout at Chicago.

Rindone, of Roxbury, Mass., was KO'd only the second time in his career by Olson in Saturday night's nationally televised bout. But Joe wasn't too impressed. He picked Gavilan because "Olson is not too hard a puncher."

Olson weighed 165 for Saturday's non-title battle. He led all the way and dropped Rindone, 163 ½, in the fifth with a short right hook.

Amateur Littler Wins Open; Dutch Top Pro

RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif. (AP) — National Amateur champion Gene Littler left the scene of the rich San Diego Open Golf tournament with the title and a silver tea set, and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison departed with a check for $2,400.

That was the picture Monday as the pros headed toward a pro-amateur tournament at Palm Springs, for a $15,000 purse, and a $5,000 PGA sideshow event at nearby Brawley, Calif.

And Littler, the 23-year-old idol of his native San Diego, went back to his duties in the air service of the U.S. Navy at San Diego with a 14-under par score of 67-66-69-72—274.

Harrison finished with rounds of 69-67-71-71—278, while Cary Middlecoff, with 70-67-70-73, and Ted Kroll with 71-71-67-71, tied at 280 and won $1,600 apiece out of the $15,000 purse.

Bob Toski, Norhampton, Mass., was fifth, with a 74 for 282 and $1,200, and Ed Furlong of St. Louis with a 73 for 283, was the last one to cash in a four-figure check, $1,000.

The story was Littler. He took charge of the tournament at the end of 36 holes, tightened his hold after 54 holes and was never seriously threatened Sunday. He had a five-stroke margin to begin with, and he wound up four strokes in front.

College Cage Leaders Face Stiff Opponents

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Kentucky, Oklahoma A&M and Holy Cross face the stiffest tests among the nation's leaders this week as some of the other college basketball powers swing back into action after midyear examinations.

Unbeaten Kentucky, ranked No. 1 in the latest Associated Press poll, takes on an improved Vanderbilt quintet Saturday night. Vandy is 10-3 and with the added advantage of home court conceivably could give the Wildcats trouble.

The fifth-ranked Aggies meet Houston tonight in a return go. The Aggies won their earlier get-together by 15 points, but the Texas school has come on strong since then. Here, too, the underdog will be playing at home.

Holy Cross, No. 8, clashes with stubborn Niagara Friday night. The upstate New York team gave Duquesne, ranked second in the nation, a couple of tough battles before losing—by five and eight points.

OTHERS

Duquesne takes its 15-0 record into Wednesday night's game with Georgetown. Fourth-ranked Western Kentucky clashes with little Regis of Denver Friday night; Oklahoma City, No. 7, tackles Seattle tonight and tomorrow night; and Minnesota, No. 9, faces Purdue tonight.

Third-ranked Indiana, sixth-ranked Notre Dame, and George Washington, No. 10, aren't schuled to play again until early next month.

Only eight of the 20 teams ranked in the last poll of sportswriters and sportscasters were in action Saturday night and three—Oklahoma City, Wichita, No. 11, and Niagara, No. 18, went down to defeats.

LITTLE TROUBLE

The other five had little trouble. Kentucky made it 12 in a row by breezing past Tennessee 97-71, even with All America center Cliff Hagan on the bench most of the time with an injured leg. Western Kentucky (18-0) outscored Memphis State 63-53, the Oklahoma Aggies (16-1) defeated North Texas State 66-51 as Bob Mattick scored 18 points, Minnesota (10-2) nipped Northwestern 82-78, and La Salle, No. 19, squeezed past North Carolina State 83-78.

Oklahoma City's loss came at the hands of Wyoming and its tight defense, 57-38. Wichita (now 16-2) fell before a hot-and-cold St. Louis club 74-58, and Niagara dropped a 53-46 decision to Canisius.

TIGHTENS

The Big Ten conference race tightened considerably as Iowa downed Purdue 70-62 and climbed within one game of pace-setting Indiana.

Pennsylvania remained on Cornell's heels in the Ivy League scramble by trimming Dartmouth 78-67. Cornell, with 5-0 in league play, went outside the circuit to down Colgate 73-70. In other Eastern tilts, Seton Hall broke a four-game losing streak by walloping Villanova 76-58, St. Joseph's (Pa.) upset Temple 57-56 and Manhattan dumped Army 83-69, snapping the Cadets' four-game winning streak.

In the south, Vanderbilt thumped winless Georgia Tech 84-65 in a Southeastern Conference game, and Louisville defeated Baldwin Wallace 87-75.

BIG 10 WIN

Michigan State posted a Big Ten victory, 83-76 over Ohio State. Julius McCoy scored 34 points for a Spartan record.

Missouri edged Kansas State 75-71 in a Big Seven contest, and Drake whipped Iowa State 82-72.

Rice (14-2) swept to its fourth straight Southwest Conference win against two setbacks by trouncing Baylor 72-60.

In the Far West, Oregon triumphed over Washington for the second straight night, this time 64-48, Oregon State mastered Idaho 69-53, Brigham Young throttled Utah State 75-63, and Utah topped Montana 73-62.

The Kerns quint upset league-leading Mac's Store last night, 3-1, but second-place Safeway gained only slightly when it split four points with Poteet's Market.

Vita Carson led Kerns' upset over Mac's Store with the high line of 189 and top series of 503. Pat Hurd of Mac's was second to Vita with a 184 game and Jack Cadwell, subbing for Kerns, had a 465 series.

In team play, Safeway and Superior-Troy were high in game scores with 907 and 881. In series, Kerns added up a 2440 and Superior-Troy ended with 2420.

Al Rosen Sees NY Downfall

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Rosen, who slugged his way to the American League's Most Valuable Player award last year, today decided his Cleveland Indians could beat out the New York Yankees for the pennant this year.

But he left himself an opening—a big "if."

"A deal for an outfielder might do it," he declared. He admitted that the present Indian outfield of Dale Mitchell, Larry Doby and Wally Westlake would not be enough to edge out the Yanks.

"I'm also reckoning Yankee pitchers' age," he said. ". . . Their five straight championships stemmed mainly from Allie Reynolds, Vic Raschi and Ed Lopat. And I'm not forgetting Whitey Ford, who made a very big difference last year.

"Yet, I maintain that when and if Reynolds, Raschi and Ford (all in their mid-30s) fold—look out. All the other clubs in the league know about Reynolds' bad back and Raschi's sore knee.

"Even if Lopat is as good as he was last year, the Yanks could not very well make it without Reynolds and Raschi."

Rosen said he thinks the Indians' staff of Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia and Early Wynn (not much younger than the Yanks' big three) is the strongest one-two-three mound staff in the majors and man-to-man will outlast Casey Stengel's operatives.

Chiloquin, Dorris Towns Post Wins

Dorris and Chiloquin teams split in Klamath Basin Independent League make-up basketball games Saturday.

The Dorris Townies ran their record to 6-1 with a 79-45 win over the Chiloquin Parks.

The Chiloquin Townies are now at 5-2 with a 73-42 victory over the Dorris Lions.

Hoskins dumped 22 points, Porterfield 21 and Rigo 19 in the Dorris Townies' win over the Parks. The Townies led 33-23 at the half and bulged it after intermission with two 22-point quarters.

The Chiloquin Townies' Allen potted 19 as four teammates added two-figure totals.

Death, Taxes — and Yanks

Plan Would Cut Down Bombers' Farm Clubs

By JOE REICHLER
(For Gayle Talbot)

NEW YORK (AP)—This was a basketball luncheon and, as so often happens, the chief topic of conversation centered around another sport. They were talking baseball and a fellow remarked that the surest thing in the world, next to death and taxes, was that the Yankees would win the pennant and World Series again next season.

"And it's a crying shame too," the fellow went on. "I'm a Yankee fan from away back but I'm getting fed up by all their success. It's a bad thing. It's a monopoly that's doing baseball no good at all. It's bound to choke the game unless something is done to stop them."

Unlike most critics, this fellow had a suggestion on what steps to make to curb the five-time-winning Yankees.

CUT DOWN

"Make the Yankees cut down on their farm systems and the number of players," he said. "Baseball should pass a law forbidding a major league organization from having too many clubs. Put a limit on them. Say no more than 10 farm teams to a big league club. That would force a rich club like the Yankees to cut down on its number of players and give the lesser clubs a chance to dicker with free agents and college stars."

It sounded like a good idea. Why not force the Yankees and other rich organizations to cut down their farm systems to a maximum of 10 clubs? This would be one way of preventing them from corralling all the good young players in the land.

CHECK

With that in mind the writer went to work, checking each big league club and their minor league affiliations. The survey produced a surprise. It showed that the high and mighty Yankees have only nine farm clubs. They own only two outright and have working agreements with seven others. Also, only six big league organizations possess smaller farm systems. Those clubs are Washington, Cincinnati, Detroit, Boston, Chicago White Sox and Philadelphia Athletics.

The St. Louis Cardinals have the most extensive farm system, controlling 22 minor league clubs. The Brooklyn Dodgers are next with 15. The other seven clubs control either the same number of clubs or more than the Yankees.

The Yankees at one time did have a large farm system. In 1947, they maintained 23 clubs and owned 500 players. They've streamlined their operations considerably during the past four or five years.

Pacific and Linfield split a two-game series in the only Northwest Conference basketball action of the weekend.

Pacific, defeated 68-62 Friday night, snapped back to beat Linfield 70-64 Saturday.

The winners were trailing 34-35 at the half Saturday night but rallied in the third quarter and scored 24 points while holding Linfield to eight.

Linfield cut Pacific's margin to three points, 64-61, in the final quarter but Pacific managed to stay in front until the game ended.

Clint Agee, Pacific center, was high scorer with 22 points. Dave Sanford led Linfield with 19.

The only conference game scheduled this week will pit Willamette against Pacific at Forest Grove Saturday night.
