Hardboard, As Produced In Klamath's Plant, Is Versatile Item Of Trade

A superior line of versatile hardboards, manufactured by a newly developed, flexible process, goes into full-scale production this month in Weyerhaeuser Timber Company's Klamath Falls branch plant. These hardboards are the first to be made by the dry process from defibrator whole-wood fibers.

C. C. Heritage, Weyerhaeuser's director of development, and Hugh B. Campbell, the company's Klamath Falls branch manager, describe these new hardboards as entirely different in raw material, performance, and characteristics from anything previously known in the forest products field.

"Instead of limiting production to a single line of hardboard products," Heritage said, "these new facilities were designed so that we can manufacture a line of custom-tailored boards to meet the exacting needs of various industrial users and processors."

Campbell reported that the basic raw material for the hardboards is white fir (abies concolor) which occurs abundantly on the company's western pine area tree farms in Oregon. Research and development have shown white fir fiber to be superior to other species for hardboard processing.

In manufacturing hardboard, Weyerhaeuser literally takes a tree apart, processes the ultimate whole-wood fibers, and re-constitutes them into a new form of wood which then has a host of added qualities. Asplund defibrators reduce the white fir chips into fiber, unchanged from its natural condition in the tree, by rubbing the chips apart under an atmosphere of moderate steam pressure. Additives can be introduced for tailored uses during the defibrating process.

After defibration, the fiber is continuously felted from air-suspension, then hot-pressed into boards, humidified to prevent warpage, trimmed, and cut to specified size.

Three types of hardboard are being made at Klamath Falls: standard, treated, and tailored-to-the-use. The latter category is in a class by itself. It can be designed to take various stresses and pressed to different densities and surfaces for bending, die-cutting, or for various finishes, depending upon specific customer requirements.

Both the standard and treated Weyerhaeuser hardboards score highly in their basic characteristics. In appearance, they have an attractive color (light tan), smoothness, surface texture (fiber fineness), and gloss; the surface is hard, the edges clean-cut and rugged. They have unusual durability — stiffness and transverse strength, impact and abrasion resistance.

The boards are easily handled, transported, applied, and finished by choosing from a range of surface dimensions, thicknesses, and densities. In regard to permanence, the boards have the ability to withstand, without undue change, exposure to moisture, heat, sunlight, air, microorganisms, vermin and rodents; they are dimensionally stable.

These boards are exceedingly workable, having the ability to be die cut, polished by buffing, easily and cleanly drilled, punched without burring, bent to permanent contours, sawed, flexed, sanded, painted without bleed-through, and to take all types of finishes.

In the more important characteristics, the boards have good uniformity, especially in color, thickness, density, and smoothness. The treated board, by choice of raw materials and processing conditions, including pressing to higher densities, provides a board of superior characteristics and performance.

Weyerhaeuser hardboards may be smooth on one side and a screened impression on the other, or smooth on both sides. These hardboards have great internal-bond strength which permits short-radius bends and close edge-nailing without breakout damage, and provides good gluing charactesistics either to hardboard itself or to other materials.

Generally, Weyerhaeuser hardboards will go to four classes of customers: retail lumber dealers, distributors, industrial firms who will use it in their products, and to fabricators who will cut, shape and process the board for industry.

The end-uses for hardboards are practically limitless, in that new uses constantly are being developed. However, some of the current items in which hardboard appears are television cabinets and backs, auto parts, floor underlayment, mirror backs, furniture panels, drawer bottoms, sliding cabinet doors, display racks, core materials for veneers and metals and plastics, perforated board, plywood - and-hardboard combinations called "Plyron," die-cut boards, template boards, interior dry-wall panels, tiling, millwork items, toys, novelties, containers, window valances, home radiator covers, window seats, card table tops, bed headboards, waste-baskets, door panels, and many others.

The regular types of Weyerhaeuser hardboard are being made in four thicknesses: 1-10th-inch, 1/8-inch, 3-16th-inch, and 1/4-inch. The board intended for floor underlayment will be 7-32nds of an inch thick. Tailored boards can be made in varying thicknesses, densities, and types. Panel sizes for all types and thicknesses will be 4 feet wide and up to 16 feet long.

Inquiries should be addressed to Hardboard Sales, Weyerhaeuser Sales Company, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Fort Rock

By HELEN PARKS

At a brief meeting January 12, Richard Schaub, Andy Hergert and Owen Pitcher reported on their Monday interview with H. C. Kerron, Bend manager of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, regarding possible telephone service to Fort Rock by means of a mobile radio-telephone transmitter. The committee pointed out that such service in this area will not be available before March. Meanwhile, the company is expected to bring a unit to Fort Rock to try. After a successful trial period, application may be made for a unit to be installed.

The youth group of the Fort Rock Grange met January 11 at the home of Mrs. Leon Gilder, youth committee chairman. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Brown and Owen Pitcher.

Regular meetings will be held the first Tuesday evening of each month, with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morehouse as hosts for the February 2 meeting. An election of officers is scheduled for this date.

Young adult Grange members up to 35 years of age are eligible for this group. Interested Grangers over this age are welcome to attend the meetings.

Several projects are in the planning stage. These include janitor work at the Grange Hall, a square dance set to compete in the annual contest at the Lake County fair and the purchase of volley ball equipment. The group also plans to assist the lecturer by preparing skits for presentation on the lecturer's programs.

Mrs. Leon Gilder, 4-H leader, announces a program by 4-H members and a box social for Tuesday evening, February 12. The community is invited to attend and ladies may bring boxes decorated with one of these themes in mind: Lincoln's birthday, Valentine's Day or Washington's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McGee and David returned from their vacation in the southwest January 13. Many Fort Rock friends tuned in to "People are Funny" January 12, and were proud to have Fort Rock well represented on a nation-wide broadcast. In telling of their choice as participants, previous to the broadcast, the McGees report being the only Oregonians present. A contest in salesmanship (they "sold" girldes) won them the right to do the stunt taking them away from the studio.

Mrs. McGee will resume her news reporting in a few weeks.

C. W. Boley has completed a well for Robert Morehouse and plans to begin another for him when the weather clears.

Recent word from Mrs. D. A. Rutherford of Bend, formerly of Fort Rock, states she has six family members down with chicken pox and one with mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard McGee, Howard (Buck) and Walter were dinner guests of the Delbert Wilsons January 14.

Mrs. C. W. Boley left by bus from Lapine January 14. Her destination was Sacramento, California, where she will prepare a catalog and assist with arrangements for the sale of their purebred Guernsey herd at Wheatland, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bradley of this district arrived home January 19 after enjoying a six weeks' vacation in Southern California as far south as Ensenada. They also spent some time at Tijuana.

The Bradleys had planned to fly to Arizona, but they both came down with very bad colds so decided to return home.

Congratulations are extended Mr. and Mrs. Norman Supple of Lakeview, who are the proud parents of a 7 pound baby girl who arrived Saturday at the Lakeview Hospital. They named her Susan Dianne. Mrs. Supple is a niece of Mrs. Walter Lightle of this district.

Mrs. Mae Leyva of Summer Lake and her mother, Mrs. Frank Barnes of Lakeview, visited relatives at the Earl Cogburn home one day last week.

Mrs. Cora Vernon of this district attended her son Bennie's wedding last weekend in Portland. Her husband was unable to go as he was confined to bed with the mumps. Mrs. Delpha Nelson and Ivy stayed at the Vernon home to care for Will while Mrs. Vernon was away.

Other friends and relatives of Lakeview who attended the wedding were Dr. Vic Hill, Mrs. Frank Hopfield, Carol Belt, Bridget Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. John Dahlen and Don Kessner.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Nelson of Shedd were also in attendance. The Nelsons are well known here, as they only moved to Shedd a year ago.

Mrs. Merle O'Neil and Zelda are recovering from a two weeks' siege of the mumps.

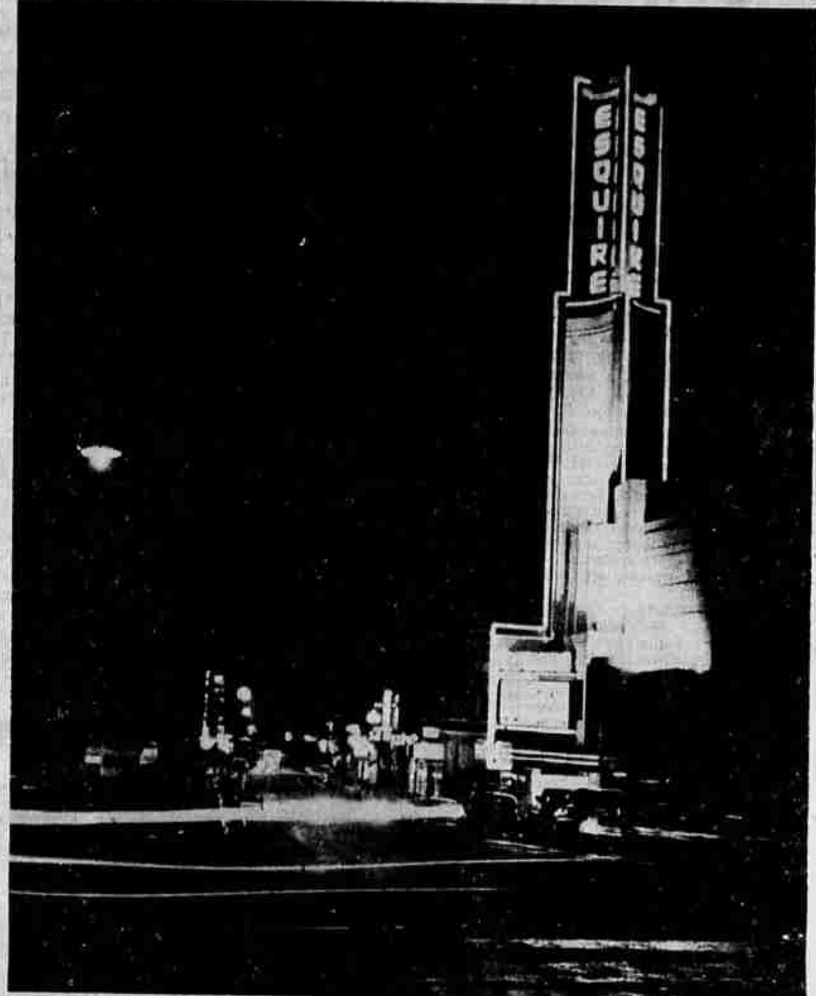
Mrs. James Snider reportedly has been quite ill and is receiving medical attention at the Lakeview Hospital. The community wishes her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. and Mrs. Howard Nelson and family, West Side, visited at the Merle O'Neil home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bradley entertained with a dinner party at their home Sunday. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Nat Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Oren Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith, all of Lakeview.

Lee and Merle O'Neil accompanied John Richardson to the sale Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Artie Reid of Lakeview visited relatives in this district Thursday.



THIS NIGHT SHOT of the "theater district" of Klamath Falls was snapped last week before the snow came by Herald and News photographer Don Kettler. The long strings of light are the result of cars turning the corner of High with their headlights burning.

ALTURAS

By RAE GLOSTER

Funeral services for Walter Rea, 67, of Cedarville, were held January 23 at Cedarville. Rea, who died in Reno, had been in ill health for some time. He was a resident of Surprise Valley for 42 years and lived in Santa Rosa as a child. Surviving are his widow, two daughters, Wilma Freeman of Benicia and Carmelita Newbry of Ogden, Utah; three sons, Leo of San Francisco, Tom and Sam, both of Cedarville.

A baby girl was born January 20 to the Kenneth Lavers of Alturas. The new arrival was named Helen Louise.

The Rebekah Lodge at Adin was installed January 19 by Mrs. Pearl Wilson, didstrict deputy president and staff. Mrs. Wilson's escorts wore aqua colored formals and carried parasols trimmed in aqua and white. As each officer-elect took her oath of obligation, she placed her hand on a white satin Bible held by an escort. Mrs. Betty Kresge was installed as noble grand. The Adin lodge presented the district deputy president with a corsage. Going from Alturas with the staff were Mrs. Millicent Dubois, Mrs. Ted Jones, Rex Riley, Roy Smith, Lester Wilson and O. P. Smelcer. The district deputy president and staff installed the Cedarville lodge January 21.

Funeral services were held January 20 in Lake City for Mrs. Nanny Daniels, 84, who died in Oakland the 18th.

The shoot held January 17 at the local indoor range was enjoyed by a large crowd of shooters and spectators. Bad weather prevented the trap and big bore shoots as originally planned. Winners for the day were Charles Brown, Mark Belli, Ludy Clark, Del Baxter, Don Rachford, Fred Bailey, Elmer Rhyne, Mark Smith, Bill McRoberts, Lloyd Trip, George Dedrick, Bob Worrell, Ralph Gardner, Woody Goddard, Monk Marsters, Gus Worrell, Larry Worrell, Roland Sherman, Hamp Eaton, Glen Sherman, Norton Smith and Tobe Hannan. The ladies' free shoot was won by Mrs. Dora Sherman. The Alturas Pistol and Rifle club plans to hold more such shoots during the coming winter months.

The Modoc Gem and Mineral Society held a special meeting January 19 at the residence of John Meyers. Some 15 members enjoyed colored slides and Omar Coppedge was presented with a past president's pin. The meeting was presided over by President Jackie Speegle.

Jim Payne and Dr. E. F. Auble attended the ICCNC meeting at Red Bluff. Auble was a member of the nominating committee to select the new ICCNC president.

Funeral services were held January 19 for the infant daughter of the Ronald Wilsons of Alturas.

The Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Wakefield announce their daughter Glenda will be able to start back to school. Glenda, who suffered an attack of polio about two months ago, has improved to the extent that she is able to walk and the check up by her doctor in Reno revealed that she has sufficient muscle power to enable her to completely recover.

Joe Semenario, who has been very ill in Modoc Medical Center, was moved the 19th to the veterans hospital in Reno. Semenario is reported to be considerably improved.

Army Private Gilbert R. Hughes, who spoke on the Alturas Elementary PTA radio program the 19th, left the same day for Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio, Texas.

Mrs. Karol Woodward, chairman of the Mother's March of Dimes under sponsorship of the Xi Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, selected the following Alturas sorority members as section captains 28: Mrs. Ethel Blurton, Mrs. Madeline Banister, Mrs. Luella Chace, Mrs. Ardis Coffman, Mrs. Patricia Conwell, Mrs. Zetta Deleissegues, Mrs. Irene Davidson, Mrs. Lillian Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Marvel Flournoy, Mrs. Bette Fountain, Mrs. Rae Gloster, Mrs. Margie Lee Henderson, Mrs. Evelyn Ledgerer, Mrs. Margaret Lybarger, Mrs. Hazel Reid, Mrs. Margarie Nelson, Mrs. Hazel Schorch, Mrs. Margaret Jones. The march will be heralded the night of the 28th by the fire siren blowing at 7 p.m. Everyone is asked to turn on their porchlights to welcome the mothers with a contribution to the March of Dimes fund.

The Rev. Karl Olson, minister of the Pilgrims Congregational church in San Francisco, his wife and three children have been visiting in Alturas. The Rev. Olson delivered the sermon the 17th at the Federated church. While he was filling this pulpit, Jimmy Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Austin, took over the vacancy left by Rev. Olson in San Francisco. Austin is a theology student at San Francisco State.

Veteran cattleman Fred Ash of Alturas was honored by friends and relatives the 17th in observance of his 79th birthday anniversary. The buffet table was set off by yellow chrysanthemums and large rectangular cake decorated to resemble a calendar with the birth date in red.

The Northern Rebekah Lodge made plans at their meeting the 15th to hold their annual March of Dimes card party January 29 at 8 p.m. They will feature attractive prizes and ample refreshments, as in past years. Mrs. Ethel Prock is general chairman.

Ricky, small son of the Floyd Johnsons of Alturas, who is now at the Shrine hospital in San Francisco, has recieved his altered braces and attention is now being concentrated on teaching him to walk and breathe correctly.

Funeral services for Julia Kane, 88, of Canby were held the 18th from the Sacred Heart church in Alturas. Miss Kane died at Modoc Medical Center January 16.

Christian Science services are held each Sunday at 11 a.m. in the Hotel Warner at the Court street entrance. All are cordially invited to attend. A Sunday school nursery is also held at this time. A reading room is maintained each Thursday evening from 7 to 9 p.m.

March of Dimes dance, sponsored by Delta Omega chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, will be held at the Elks hall January 30. Lou Wright's orchestra will play.

The Lookout Firemen's auxiliary will hold a fun night February 6 at the Lookout fire hall. There will be a bean and spaghetti dinner from 7 to 9 p.m.
