Beavers Bump Oregon

Cougars Upset Vandals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Idaho, which had hopes of sneaking in the back door to the Pacific Coast Conference Northern Division basketball title while Oregon and Oregon State were knocking each other off, Saturday watched those hopes slowly fade away.
The Vandals, who had their most crucial series of the season over, stepped into Washington State Friday night in what was supposed to be a breather and took a 71-61 licking.
Oregon State, meanwhile, slipped into a first place tie with Oregon by trimming the Ducks at Corvallis, 52-41.
Washington stepped outside the conference and into an overtime defeat at the hands of Brigham Young's Cougars, 89-79.

GOLF
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — E. J. (Dutch) Harrison scored a 4-under-par 68 for a tie with Bo Winger at the midway point in the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Tournament.
DUNEDIN, Fla. — Gene Sarazen stretched his lead in the PGA Senior Tournament to three strokes after 39 holes with an even par 72.
MIAMI, Fla. — Marlene Stewart, British Women's Amateur champion, defeated Bobbie Dawson of Piedmont Calif., and Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore to gain a semifinal berth in the Helen Lee Doherty tournament.

WORLD'S STRONGEST MAN—That's the claim of The Great Atlas who faces David Jons in Wednesday night's wrestling main event at the Armory. The strong New Yorker packed the house here a couple of years ago and has since been an Eastern television star.

Johnson Dull in Victory

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Slade and 1,464 fans at St. Nicholas Arena don't think Harold Johnson is quite ready for Archie Moore. The TV audience hasn't heard from—yet.
"He fought like he was scared," said Slade last night, after losing a split decision to the No. 1 light heavyweight contender in 10 rounds. "He fought less this time than before."
Johnson beat Slade easily in the same arena Jan. 16, 1933. He barely squeaked home this time on the official card.
Judge Harold Barnes gave it to Slade 54-1. Judge Joe Eppy voted 7-3 and Referee Al Berl 64-1, both for Johnson. The AP card had Johnson on top 5-4.
"I was slow," said Johnson. "Maybe it was the extra weight. I fight best at 175 pounds (Johnson weighed 178 1/2, heaviest of his career and Slade 182). He's a hard fellow to look good against. But I figure I won."
DISTURBED
Tommy Loughery, his manager, was disturbed about the boos his fighter drew while Referee Berl pleaded with both men to fight harder.
"He gave him (Slade) a boxing exhibition," said Loughery. "The (fans) want him to step in there and get hit."
Slade was outspoken in his views because he thought he deserved the decision. But he fought only in spurts until the final rounds.
Johnson's next fight will be with Billy Gilliam, Feb. 23 at Troy, Ohio.
Philadelphia promoter Herman Taylor hopes to match Johnson, the home town boy, against Moore outdoors next June.

Atlas, Jons Headline Wednesday Mat Slate

Morris Shapiro, known to millions of wrestling fans as The Great Atlas, pits his tremendous strength Wednesday night at the Armory against clever David Jons, one-hour bout or the best of three falls.
Supporting bouts bring back popular Georges Dusette against Jack (Cueball) Rush, the Boston Badman; and Danno McDonald against Bronco Lublich, both of whom local grappling customers will remember.
The Dusette-Rush and McDonald-Lublich bouts are timed for 30 minutes, also on a two-of-three basis.
It's an outstanding card, the first since early December here, Atlas, the Peacock of Wrestling, is expected to fill the Armory.
Reserved tickets are on sale at Castleberry Drugs.

Washington State grabbed off an 18-16 lead at the end of the first quarter but trailed at the half, 38-33, after an Idaho rally during the second period.
The Cougars took the lead midway through the third quarter and held on to it the rest of the way. WSO hit on 24 of 50 field goal attempts for a .480 percentage. Idaho averaged .349 on 22 of 63.
Oregon State's sky-high guy, Swede Halbrook, pumped 22 points through the hoop in leading the Beavers to victory over Oregon. Max Anderson topped Oregon scorers with 12 counters, the only Oregon player to go into two figures.
The Beavers broke a 10-10 tie early in the second quarter with seven straight points and were never headed again. They held a 27-17 advantage at the intermission and enjoyed a 40-26 bulge at the three-quarter mark.
Washington's Huskies appeared to be on the way to victory in the final minutes of their game with BYU, but Dave Lewis and Mac Madsen of the Cougars found the range and erased a 68-64 deficit to send the contest into overtime at 70-all.
LONG SHOT
Lewis connected on a long set shot with about two minutes left to go. Washington's Dean Parsons matched it with a field goal for the Huskies. Lewis found the range again and Madsen whipped one through to tie the game up at 70-all with 15 seconds to go.
Dean Larson of BYU, trying to beat the gun, stole a Washington pass and dropped in a long shot as the game ended, but he was called for traveling and the game went into overtime.
The Cougars went wild in the five-minute overtime, scoring 19 points to Washington's nine. Parsons topped scoring with 18 points.
Oregon and Oregon State move to Eugene for the second game of their series Saturday night while Idaho and Washington State draw byes. Washington again meets BYU at Seattle.

Winger, Harrison In Knot

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Young Bo Winger and an ailing E. J. (Dutch) Harrison led the way into the third round of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Golf Tournament Saturday but the going promised to be rough for the two final rounds.
Pressing close behind were 10 crack players, including Ben Hogan, as the field of 38 selected professionals went into the final laps of the 72-hole event which winds up Sunday.
Harrison, 43-year-old veteran from Ardmore, Okla., had rounds of 63-68. Winger, 31, from Oklahoma City, had 61-70, and they were tied at 131 at the halfway mark.
Harrison had personal troubles—the recurrence of the pain of two unseparated vertebrae which have been rubbing against each other since he was a kid in his native Arkansas.
The Arkansas traveler, hottest article on the winter trail to date with top money of $2,000 at the San Diego Open, said he might not be able to tee off Saturday—money or no money.
ACHING BACK
"It isn't worth it," Harrison said as he finished Friday with a blistering finale. He birdied the final four holes with exceptionally long putts, aching back and all.
Winger, after his first round 61—11 strokes under par for the Thunderbird's par 36-36-72, 6,314-yard course—had but two poor holes or he would have been away and winning. He was four under par on the first five holes of the round.
NEW YORK (AP)—The increasing difficulties and lessening rewards of fielding a small college football team were emphasized today as Adelphi College of Garden City, N. Y., became the third school in less than a month to drop the sport from its intercollegiate athletic program.
Quincy, Ill., on Jan. 25 and Case Institute of Cleveland, O. were the other colleges which have suspended football since the first of the year.
Adelphi, which had a 2-3 record in collegiate competition last year, threw in the sponge yesterday following a meeting of its board of trustees. "Lack of interest on the part of the student body," was the reason given for the suspension.

Swiss In Sled Lead

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP)—Fritz Peterabend, veteran Swiss bobsledder, took an almost unbeatable lead Saturday in the world four-man championships by winning the first two heats down Cortin's hazardous icy slide.
In his two blistering runs, Peterabend far outpaced 13 sleds from six other nations. Twice he smashed the course record which he himself had set in a trial run Thursday.

Gayle Talbot Rock Restless, We Denies Bucceroni

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—Al Weill denies resolutely that he has agreed to put his champion, Rocky Marciano, against Dan Bucceroni in an indoor bout here in March, but a talk with the world's richest manager indicates he is feeling the pressure.
Jim Norris, the world's richest promoter, wants very much to put it on. He and Weill are having a long talk on the subject every few days. Perhaps even more to the point, Marciano is restless and wants to fight somebody, the sooner the better. He doesn't relish loafing until next June.
"I guess it's natural," Weill sighed. "His business is fighting, and so he wants to fight. But I haven't agreed to anything yet, no matter what you hear."
Vexed by income tax problems, Weill has been looking into the possibility of having Marciano incorporated. It seems that if he could have done so, Rocky would be able to fight more often without surrendering quite such a hefty percentage of his earnings to the government.
"I found out that nothing like that could be done," Al said in a discouraged tone.
The ways of the National Football League sometimes are beyond the understanding of one who looks at the pro loop with a sort of detached interest. Any time you think it might be fixing to do something that figures to help the league as a whole, that's where you're going to get left.
The best college passer in the land, by all accounts, was Bob Garrett of Stanford. The best passer in the professional league for some years, as any fool knows, has been Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns. So the boys got together for their annual draft of new crew cuts, and who gets Garrett? Why Cleveland, of course.
Several other teams in the money circuit—Baltimore being a prime example—are dying for need of a good passer. A winning club at Baltimore and a better balanced Eastern Division would mean thousands of dollars to every team in the league. But Garrett goes to Cleveland which needs him

Sarazen Senior Le

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Gene Sarazen, PGA's 1935 champion and one of the great golfers of the final round of the tournament for the PGA championship.
You have to be at least old to qualify as a member of the top 10 men who were in the youngest 54 years.
The exception was Gene Sarazen of Opa, held a three stroke lead over par Friday with 36-hole total of 143 for fourth place with Vecchie of Greensburg.
Gene Sarazen of Opa, Pa., held a three stroke lead over par Friday with 36-hole total of 139 for rounds.
Mortie Dutra of La Mich., tied with 142.
