Snowbound Man's Sad Plight Puts Chill To Rescue

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — The "plight" of a snowbound minister, his wife and two children in the Cascade Mountains at Garland Hot Springs Saturday had turned into a comedy of errors.

The drama started Thursday when the brother of the Rev. Cameron Sharpe of Seattle told authorities he was concerned about the safety of Sharpe, his wife, two of their children. One report said eight other children were believed to be with the Sharpes.

The report came as a surprise to the Sharpes, who had gone to spend the winter. They first heard of their "plight" on a radio news program.

Then, Friday morning, an Air Force helicopter landed to make sure the Sharpes were all right. The crew found (1) that there were only four persons there (2) the Sharpes needed only oats for a horse (3) they had food themselves to last several weeks (4) the Sharpes were wondering "what all the fuss was about."

Friday afternoon an Army "weasel," a tracked vehicle, from Fort Lewis which was trying to reach the Sharpes, became bogged in deep snow nine miles out of Index.

The four soldiers and four civilians aboard the weasel spent a chilly night in the mountains, unaware that the Sharpes were not in need of help.

English Skating Warning Given

LANCASTER, England (AP) — Lancashire County police announced that 16 persons, most of them children, drowned Saturday while skating and playing on ice-covered ponds. They sent an urgent appeal to parents to get their children off the ice.

The accidents occurred in widely scattered parts of the county. An uncounted number of children had narrow escapes.

A county police official said: "Tragedy is happening all over the county. It is something quite phenomenal. We have never known anything like it."

A meteorological officer said temperatures were a little above freezing and that ice in the county was not thick enough for skating.

Knife Wielder Lands In Jail

Another knife wielder spent the night in the city jail after he allegedly became angry because a bartender refused him a loan of $5.

Roy Simpkins, 58, a cook at the Wheel Cafe in Chemult, Bell, charged at that time on South Seventh, turned down a suggestion that he loan Simpkins the money.

A city patrolman noticing a commotion at the Kanteen shortly before 8 p.m. Friday, entered an armed Simpkins in possession of a long bladed steak knife.

According to Bell, who was off duty at the time, Simpkins approached him and said that a friend of his had stated he would contact Bell and ask him to make the $5 loan to Simpkins. This had not been done, Bell stated, and told police that when he refused to make the loan Simpkins had gone to a suitcase he had with him, pulled out the knife and told Bell "I'm going to cut your heart out."

Simpkins was transferred to the county jail this morning, and his bail set at $4000. He is charged with assault with a dangerous weapon.

Briton Hits Dulles Stand

MALDON, England (AP) — Tom Driberg, left wing Laborite member of Parliament, praised Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov Saturday and accused U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles of trying to wreck the Berlin conference.

Driberg, a key member of the Aneurin Bevan faction in the House of Commons, described Dulles as a "grinning sepulchre" in a speech prepared for a Labor Party meeting and declared: "While Mr. Molotov tries to get the Berlin conference back to something more like Sir Winston Churchill's original idea of a high-level conference of wide scope without rigid agenda, Mr. John Foster Dulles is apparently doing his best to wreck it altogether. Driberg called Dulles' attack on the Communist Chinese government a 'catalogue of those half-truths which are as bad as downright lies.'

News Barrier Action Held

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Bar Assn. has postponed until summer proposed legislative action to withdraw from newspapers pretrial information on criminal cases.

At an association meeting Friday, further study of the matter was urged by Edwin M. Otterbourg, president of the New York County Lawyers Assn., who said: "The approach to the subject is wrong in substance and detail. Louis Waldman, chairman of the bar's civil rights committee, and chief sponsor of the proposal, agreed to have the matter put over until the association meeting at Saratoga, N.Y., June 24-26."

The purported aim of the law would restrict newspaper coverage of crime stories mainly to the courtroom and eliminate what has been termed advance prejudice.

The New York State Legislative Correspondents Assn., the Newspaper Reporters Assn. of New York City, and a number of newspapers oppose the proposal.

Waldman denied that such a law would interfere with freedom of the press.

Escapes Recaptured

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) — Lewiston Police Chief Robert O. Flood said Friday his men had arrested three 16-year-old boys who admitted they escaped from a Portland reform school and traveled to Lewiston in a stolen car.

The youths told Flood they ran away from a work camp at the McCallen training school last Tuesday night and stole a car at Cannon Beach near Portland.

The boys said they abandoned the car about 5 miles north of Astoria and hitchhiked back to Portland where they stole another car near Portland.

Flood said the youths admitted burglarizing a grocery store and service station at Colton, Ore., stealing gasoline there and then driving on to Lewiston.

They were apprehended here, he said, after a routine "suspicious person" check.

Officers of the training school are expected here Saturday to return the boys to Portland.

Steers Show Slight Gain

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP) — Small receipts provided the background for an advance in hog prices this week, a new peak for January since 1948 being scored in the last trading session.

Barrows and gilts gained 75 cents while sows, which continued very scarce, jumped 75 cents to $1.00. A short load of butchers brought $27.25, the week's top, on Friday. Shippers purchased fewer hogs than in recent weeks, partly because of an acute lack of suitable offerings.

In the cattle section receipts were about 15 per cent smaller than in the previous week but 15 per cent higher than in the like 1953 period. About 60 per cent of the run was fed steers. After selling around 50 cents higher most of the week, they declined toward the close to end steady for the five day period. Top was $31.50.

Utility and commercial cows finished weak to $1.00 lower but canners and cutters were steady. Bulls grading commercial and below gained 50 cents while good bulls weakened.

Gaining 25 to 50 cents, slaughter lambs closed the week at the highest prices of the winter season. Sheep held strong to mostly 50 cents higher. Choice to prime lambs went as high as $22.50 at the finish. Continued moderate receipts and fairly broad shipping demand supported the market.
