KLAMATH ART ASSOCIATION

By JACKIE BEDORD
The Klamath Art association held its regular meeting and election of officers January 21 at the Art Center. Plans relative to the annual summer school workshop and the second half of this winter's evening classes at the YMCA were discussed. The accredited two week summer session will begin August 2.

The association is proud to announce that the instructor this summer will be M. C. Sponenburger, assistant art professor at the University of Oregon. Professor Sponenburger studied in Egypt prior to his present post at U. of O.

The second half of the winter courses in drawing, textile painting, and jewelry making will begin February 9 at the YMCA. The stimulating as well as beneficial classes will be offered to any interested persons each Tuesday evening at 7:30 for six weeks. The competent instructors are as follows: Mrs. Catherine Brumbaugh, sketching; Mrs. B. B. Blomquist, textile painting; and Mrs. Helen Balentine, jewelry making. In addition to the six weeks of instruction the nominal fee of $5.00 charged also offers membership into the art association.

Highlight of the evening was the preview of the Ben Steele pictures now on display at the Art Center. An interesting biographical sketch was given by Lorraine Johnson. The pictures are very impressive in as much as they are authentic sketches of the ordeals suffered by prisoners of war while inside the barbed wire of the prison camps.

The works of Elliott O'Hara will be the second of the series of exhibits to be presented this winter. The next regular meeting of the Klamath Art association to be held

SUSIE LEE WILLIAMS . . . Thirteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Williams, Henley District, is official organist of the Mt. Laki Community Church. The talented young girl was pianist in the old church in 1952—and one month before the new church was dedicated before Christmas! Mrs. Jim (Helen) O'Donohue, choir director at that time, asked if Susie were taking organ lessons. A new electric organ was to be installed in the church, she had but with that month's practice and instruction from the Rev. Dwayne L. Proett, she was established as organist. 13-Year-Old Susie Williams Is Mt. Laki Church Organist

A thirteen year old eighth grader from Henley School is the official organist of Mt. Laki Community Church. She is Susie Lee Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Williams, Henley District.

The young girl, who will be fourteen on the 24th of February, is a "natural" for her role as musician in the church. She has always shown an interest in hymns—from the time she was five and one-half, when she started piano lessons with Mrs. E. D. Johnson, she picked out hymns. Later, when she was taking lessons from the Rev. Dwayne L. Proett, he was aware of her interest in them, and gave her special instruction to help her properly interpret that type of music.

Many hours of practice were spent by Susie under the Rev. Proett's supervision after she was actually playing for the church services. In fact, according to her mother—"a whole year was devoted to Susie and the electric organ."

Two weeks after the church was dedicated, she was called upon to play for a funeral. Her first wedding was the recent one of Mary Louise Enman to Dale Peyton. Continuing with her music, she is taking piano lessons from Mrs. A. S. (Eileen) Herringshaw, who lives in the Henley District, and is at present the choir director of the Mt. Laki Church.

Susie has a younger sister, Sara Jane, who is ten. She has been taking piano lessons for two years from Margaret Davies—and it's easy to think that lively duets are no novelty in the Williams' household.

AMARANTH MEETS

Ruth Rodenberger was presiding royal matron at the regular meeting of Amaranth, January 20, in the absence of Beatrice Denison, who is still a polo patient in Eugene. It was reported that she is recovered to the extent that she hopes to be in Klamath Falls for the next meetings.

During a short recess the group was entertained with piano and violin selections played by Sally and Linda Hanville, small daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hanville.

Special refreshments were served after the meeting.

Get-Together Club Meeting

MACDOEL — The Get-Together Club met January 14 at the Macdoel home of Mrs. Sally Andrus.

The new president, Mrs. Jeannette Garey, opened the session with a lively enthusiasm. The bylaws were read at the first meeting of the year by Mrs. Jennie Clave.

Members were sorry to learn Mrs. Lila Marshall, having been invited to Redding, will not be with us this year. The afternoon was spent playing Dutch whist with Mrs. Edna Macdoel winning the high and travel prizes; Mrs. Jewell Garey, second prize; Mrs. Eva Young, low prize. Mrs. Mary Porterfield, special prize.

Others of the 15 members present were Mrs. Elmer Kappen, Mrs. Elsie Ramsey, Mrs. Viola Macdoel, Mrs. Bea Hall, Mrs. Mary Robinson, Mrs. Mae Glyn, Jennie Lang, Mrs. Jennie Macdoel, and Mrs. Maude Holmes.

President Garey appointed Mrs. Shelley on the flower committee; Dorris and Mrs. Kappen for Macdoel. Named librarian was Mrs. Glyn and Mrs. Joan Christie was appointed historian. A luncheon of salad, sandwiches and coffee was served by the hostess.
