Dorris Hill Move Asked

MACDOEL — The Dorris grange is urging the state highway division to cut down the Dorris hill as a part of the new freeway project to be built this summer.

This information was contained in a letter received by the Butte Valley Farm Center at its Tuesday night meeting from Mrs. Nellie Menges, Dorris Grange secretary. Citing the fact that truckers call the Dorris hill section of U. S. 97 "the worst grade between Seattle and Los Angeles," the letter asks the Farm Center to join in the protest by writing both the highway division and Senator Randolph Collier.

Also at Tuesday's meeting, Supervisor Joe Allen's request that the farm center write a letter to Earl Brownell of Dorris urging him to accept the job of deputy county tax assessor was approved. Allen said he had been asked to see if Brownell would accept the appointment but that Brownell said he wasn't feeling well, though he might consider it if he improved.

The next farm center meeting will be a potluck dinner February 23 at the Macdoel school.

Butte Spud Growers Eye Ad Campaign

MACDOEL — Butte Valley potato growers are being asked to decide whether or not they will join with the Tulelake Growers Association in setting up a potato advertising and marketing research agreement for this area as a result of Tuesday night's meeting of the Butte Valley Farm Center.

The spud growers are being sent postcard ballots on which they are asked to indicate their agreement or disagreement with the proposal and whether they are willing to put up $5 to get the plan under way.

Cliff Jenkins, manager of the Tulelake growers, told the group how Ray Andrews, advertising director of the Idaho potato campaign, in a recent talk at Tulelake described how necessary advertising is to create a brand name and a demand, and how it is up to the potato growers to see that their product is as good as can be grown and marketed.

Dan Crawford, Tulelake spud rancher and member of the Tulelake Growers potato committee, said farmers can no longer concern themselves merely with farming — they must take an active interest in what happens to their crops during the entire marketing process. He said an organization is needed not only for that reason but

Scout Charter Ceremony Set

American Legion Post No. 8 will re-present charters to Post No. 104 of the Explorer Scouts and Troop No. 4, Boy Scouts, at the regular Legion meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the Legion Hall.

Charlie Hahn, area representative of the Boy Scouts of America, will present the charters to Dick Gallagher, commander of Post No. 8, the sponsoring organization for both youth groups. Gallagher will make the presentation to Scoutmasters, John Heilbronner of the Explorer Scouts and Dwight Curran of Troop 4.

This is the 54th year that charters have been granted these Scout groups in Klamath Falls.

Post No. 8 has plans for fencing the "Scout home" on Shasta Way and Eberlein when weather permits.

also to protect an area from the inroads of crop diseases.

Proposed by Jenkins was that Butte Valley spud raisers join Tulelake in setting up, under state law, a potato advertising and market research agreement, similar to those in effect at Shafter and Stockton. He said the initial investment of $5 per grower would be returned after the agreement was in effect. It would not mean that Butte Valley ranchers would be required to become members of the Tulelake Growers; they could have their own association and own brand.

AFL Chiefs Thump Tub For Work Aid

By NORMAN WALKER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—AFL leaders today urged President Eisenhower to trot out pump-priming plans immediately to soothe the nation's lagging economy.

President Eisenhower has said that he has a public works program already drafted to invoke when a depression threatens the country.

The AFL's Executive Council, meeting here to study Eisenhower policies and union problems, said unemployment has grown to the point where public works projects should be taken from the "shelf" and put into immediate effect.

"All the signs indicate we're going down hill," AFL President George Meany told newsmen. "All of the nation's considerable resources won't help us if we don't use them."

AFL Economists gave figures to claim that the 2,380,000 unemployed reported by the government's last census figure is a conservative estimate.

They said that without considering what should have been a normal increase in the work force, the number of jobs has declined from June to January by 3,350,000—that one out of every 20 persons has lost his job.

Besides a quick start on building public works projects, the AFL council recommended that Congress boost the present 75-cent federal minimum wage to $1.25 an hour.

Other steps recommended: broadening unemployment compensation benefits, increasing federal housing aid to double present home production and extending tax relief to low-income earners.

Agile Woman Avoids Injury In Fog

SPOKANE (AP)—A quick-thinking acrobatic woman of 37 saved herself from possible serious injuries Monday night when a car came at her in a dense fog.

She grabbed the hood ornament and swung herself onto the left front fender. Mrs. Mae M. Zoyer was still there when emergency hospital stewards arrived. Mrs. Zoyer, a seamstress, suffered a slight hip injury. The driver said he was making a turn and traveling only five miles an hour.

REALTORS MEET

The Klamath Board of Realtors will meet Wednesday, February 3, at 12 noon, at the Willard hotel.

Al Longe will report on the state directors meeting. All members are urged to be present. Ron Fisher is president of the local board.

One of a series of advertisements describing the plan for developing the Hells Canyon stretch of the Snake River, formally submitted to the Federal Power Commission for approval, in July, 1953.

Effective for Flood Control

Fulfills Navigation Needs

Superior for Recreation

A Truly Multi-Purpose Project

We too believe the Hells Canyon area of the Snake River should serve other public purposes than hydroelectric power. Our plans make use of its potentialities for other important uses:

FLOOD CONTROL: The 1,000,000 acre feet of storage planned would control the surplus waters of the upper Snake against such floods as occurred in 1948 at Vanport. In the opinion of Major General Robins, Retired, of the U. S. Army Engineers, the Idaho Power proposal offers substantially the same flood control benefits as the proposed federal dam, and at greatly reduced cost.

NAVIGATION: The U. S. Army Engineers have designated—and Idaho Power has incorporated in its plans—a minimum flow of water when needed for navigation purposes of 5,000 second feet at Hells Canyon—whereas the projected federal dam has been planned for a release of only 2,000 second feet.

RECREATION: The new roads the Company will build for construction and later operation, and two additional river crossings provided on top of Oxbow and Brownlee Dams will open a whole new, magnificent area to the public. A new 22-mile constant level lake will rise in the most superbly scenic part of the Canyon; long lake-shore lines will offer almost unlimited water recreation. The Company will create new park and picnic areas, as it has done at other such locations. Fishing will be improved; grass, shade, camp sites will be plentiful. Water levels will be relatively constant—by contrast, the water level behind proposed federal dam would fluctuate very widely, at some seasons of year leaving unsightly areas which could not be used for recreational purposes.

Idaho Power's Program in Summary

- The company's program will—
- 1 Fully develop the Hells Canyon stretch of the Snake River at a far lower construction cost—and at a far lower cost of producing power—than any other plan.
 - 2 Produce approximately the same amount of power "at site" and downstream as the proposed single federal dam. Any small difference in output which might for a relatively short period, and under certain temporary conditions, favor the single dam would be prohibitively expensive.
 - 3 Make possible the production of over 40 billion kilowatt hours—the output of Bonneville Dam for approximately 10 years—prior to the time a single high dam could be completed.
 - 4 Provide 1,000,000 acre feet of storage, the maximum dependable amount afforded at the site after taking into account the future upstream irrigation development and resulting depletion of water available for power storage purposes.
 - 5 Fully provide the release of water required by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers for navigation purposes.
 - 6 Adequately meet the test of flood control needs.
 - 7 Create a superior recreational area.
 - 8 Fully protect irrigation water rights of present and future agricultural development upstream. (There is no irrigation to be served from a reservoir at this site under any plan.)
 - 9 Provide large blocks of low-cost power rapidly, to serve the needs of Snake River Valley and of the Pacific Northwest through inter-connection with the Northwest Power Pool.
 - 10 Be productive of $10,000,000 annually in tax revenues for federal, state and local taxing units in addition to the tax revenues created by users of the power—all without cost to taxpayers.

FIRST NATIONAL'S 2000TH STOCKHOLDER

JOHN STRUTHERS, a 16-year-old Portland high school junior, has become First National's 2000th stockholder. Now, more than 84% of the persons owning First National stock are Oregonians.
