"It's A Woman's World"

SAMARITAN KINDNESS IS THE KEYNOTE of Olive A. Gregory's happiness. Few outside her immediate family know about the helping hand she offers to those who need a word of encouragement, the cash for health, a lift over a rough spot . . . Mrs. (Lace) Gregory who owns and operates Gregory's Fur Shop on East Main, is a busy woman, but it is the woman who budgets her moments who usually has time for the extras . . . weeding the garden, hatching chickens, tucking green cucumbers into brine, mixing fruits and sugars, painting the kitchen, supervising a music lesson, stitching a frock . . . She was born in Springfield, Missouri, on a January morn, moved to Eureka where the fishing boats flick out to sea, then to Medford and 18 years ago came over the mountain to our town to start a fur shop in the Stewart-Drew building on Main Street. In the years since, she has learned to clean and glaze, to stitch a rip in fur and make a stunning garment . . . likes best to work with mink and seal, muskrat and squirrel . . . adores her young daughter, 11-year-old Judy who plays the violin, her husband who works for Weyerhaeuser and has a wicked aim for geese with her 20-gauge shotgun. She is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Eagles Auxiliary. She swims and loves to travel, saw much of the East coast last fall . . . makes a hobby of personalities . . . will greet you at 815 East Main when you shoot that next squirrel for a camisole.

Old Art Back Has New Look

Fancy quilts, lavish with color, pattern and exquisite handstitching, are spreading their warmth and beauty in the home of many a young modern, as graciously as they did in grandmother's day. And they aren't just the cherished heirlooms you were lucky enough to inherit. As a matter of fact, one of the loveliest, a pink tulip quilt, owned in Klamath Falls, isn't an heirloom at all, it was won at a church dinner. The interest in the art of quilting, simple lines of modern furniture are good foils for the colorful intricacies of a quilt design. Many young women are taking up this art, that's also soothing on the nerves when spas occur in those first days of married life. Many oldsters prefer to sit by the fireplace and sew than dance the rumba. Modern quilters enjoy advantages our forebears never dreamed of. Today's color-fast and fade-resistant fabrics promise to keep quilts bright for years. New textures in closely woven cottons add their luster to old favorites, such as calico, gingham, percales and muslins. New quilt pattern books have clear instructions eliminating much of the guesswork. Many of the patterns are exactly diagrammed. Exact yardages are given. Even though your needlecraft is far from perfect, the work goes rapidly and holds the interest because results are seen in a short time. The real quilting begins after those little blocks are all neatly finished. The use of frames is recommended to hold the top, lining and cotton batting firmly together. One expert, who likes to "pick up" her quilting, uses large embroidery hoops (22 inches), or the easy road can be taken and your masterpiece can be put into the tender care of a church group that will complete the work in double quick time for a fee. Flower designs to choose from, tread like an old-fashioned bouquet, bleeding heart, primrose, spring tulip, iris, pansy, Rose-of-Sharon is a quaint old timer and a splashy poinsettia pattern has a definite contemporary look. Dear to the hearts of mid-westerners, old and young, is the spectacular sun-flower pattern, 14-inches across, almost as big as they grow them in Kansas. But regardless of the pattern chosen, a hand-quilted quilt is a prized addition to a home.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO LOSE five teeth through decay before you are 21 if you've been taught the routine of home-care for the teeth. It is a startling fact that 90 per cent of the nation's children of school age have dental deficiencies. To help correct that appalling situation, the American Dental Assn. sponsored the Sixth Annual National Children's Health Day on February 1. Home care of the teeth, with regular brushing with a good dentifrice; a well-balanced diet, low in sweets; and regular visits to the dentist, beginning at 2½ years are recommended by dentists. Only a dentist can correct decay, once it has started. Mothers of America are urged to get behind the crusade for better teeth. Here a young husky gets ready to scrub away with a brush full of Ipana.

CLEANING TIP

Both oven and top-of-the-range utensils may be made from a type of glassware that is heat-resistant. However, this doesn't mean that they will not break. They should be handled carefully. Sudden changes in temperature, such as placing a dish just out of the refrigerator on a hot surface, may cause it to break. Also, using ovenware on top of the range may give trouble since most of these glass utensils are not designed to be interchangeable. A good, fine abrasive that many homemakers have used for years is whiting. This is a fine white powder available at most paint or hardware stores. It is inexpensive and has many uses. When scouring or rubbing is necessary, this material can be used on most surfaces. It is often necessary to choose an abrasive that will do a rubbing job without damaging the material being cleaned, and whiting serves this purpose. It can be used on such soft metals as silver. It is most useful in polishing chromium, nickel, and even in cleaning enamel.

A thin even coating of a self-polishing wax, applied with a paint brush or a damp cloth to rubber articles, will give them a bright new-looking finish and protect them against wear.

GARDEN TIPS

By E. G. GARDNER

Members and guests of the Evergreen Garden club saw an excellent film on the culture of African Violets and Gloxinias at the regular meeting held on February 1. This film was furnished by the California Spray Chemical Company through the courtesy of Clarence Busman of Murphree's Seed Store.

Preceding the film, a group discussion was held on the various experiences of the members in raising African Violets. Mrs. Esther Daulton had on display some plants in various stages of development which had been started from a leaf. Mrs. Marie Fales demonstrated methods of dividing and potting violets and after watching her, it is easily understood why she has so many beautiful violets blooming in her home. African violets are easy to grow, but just difficult enough to make them interesting. The care given them is well rewarded with beautiful blooms the year around.

The fifteen regular members of the Evergreen Garden Club were astounded by the interest shown in this subject, as there were twenty-seven guests present, making a total of forty-two attending. All those interested are invited to become regular members. Again we want to say how happy we were to welcome the three men guests and hope that this will set a precedent encouraging more men to become interested.

This year marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the National Federation of Garden Clubs and to celebrate, a permanent home is to be built at some central location in the United States. The member clubs in Oregon have been asked to sponsor teas or similar functions to assist in the fund-raising campaign. In cooperation with the Juniper Branch, the Evergreen Club will hold a Tupper party on Tuesday evening, February 23, at 7:30 p.m., in the home economics room of the Altamont Jr. high school. Proceeds will go into this fund.

Mrs. Hallie Miller accepted the nomination of secretary to complete the corps of 1934 officers. Laverne Kendall resigned as secretary.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Helen Cheyne and Mrs. Edna Dakin. The next meeting will be held March 1, and it promises to be an interesting dramatized version of "Planning and Planting for Continuous Bloom" with participation by the group. Mrs. J. Walter Browning of Malin, will be the speaker of the evening.

MERRILL

Last River Garden club members met January 26, at 1 p.m. potluck luncheon was followed by a regular business session, with the club president, Mrs. M. A. Bowman in charge. Members answered roll call with the name of a top favorite 1933-34 rose.

Mrs. Scott McKeenree was appointed chairman of the spring Daffodil show, exact date and place to be announced later. Mrs. George Chin and Mrs. Dale West will be co-chairmen.

Mrs. Don West showed colored slides of the T.E. Walters' garden in Klamath Falls, the rose garden in Portland, and scenic points on the Oregon Coast. Winter arrangements featuring dry materials were displayed by 4-H garden club members, Katherine Ahern, Dawn Merriman, Sue Fields, and Peggy Carson.

The next regular meeting will be February 23, at the home of Mrs. Randall Pope, assisted by Mrs. George Chin. Members present were Mrs. Pope, Mrs. James Hammond, Mrs. M. A. Bowman, Mrs. R. L. Drago, Mrs. Don West, Mrs. Walter Fotheringham, Mrs. Paschall Hodges, Mrs. George Chin, Mrs. Joe Miska, Mrs. J. Walter Browning, the hostesses
