Judge Keeps Gun Nearby During Case

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A judge who heard some 350 claims to the 17-million-dollar Garrett snuff estate—one of the greatest fortune hunts in history—says he always kept a small revolver on the bench.

President Judge Charles Klein of the Philadelphia Orphans Court revealed yesterday he kept the little gun near his hand as he heard the wild claims in one of the most involved and bitter will contests ever to come before the probate courts of the United States.

The object of the fortune seekers was the large estate left by Mrs. Henrietta Garrett, widow of a wealthy snuff manufacturer, when she died in 1930 without a will. The case was ended last week.

"My association with this case has been the most trying experience of my life," Judge Klein said. "Never before have I been subjected to such abuse by neurotics and other unreasonable people who were motivated by selfish greed or self-hypnosis induced by the vision of many millions of dollars involved in this fantastic case."

Many of the claimants had shown evidence at masters' hearings that they were suffering from hallucinations, he said. Many directed their hatred against the court and the court's officers.

Judge Klein was trying to prevent what actually happened in Warren, Pa., last month when a husband involved in a support case shot a judge as he sat on the bench.

Police ordered the precaution of the revolver, Judge Klein said, and they also placed armed guards in the courtroom after he took over the case in 1950.

At that time it was 20 years old. Masters had received and processed 25,800 claims from every state and 25 foreign nations.

Judge Klein finally awarded the fortune to the families of three deceased cousins—Joann Peter Christian Shafer of Bad Nauheim, Germany; German Kretschmar of St. Louis; and Howard Kretschmar of Chicago. The case was ended last week with the discharge of the administrators.

THE OLD OFFICERS QUARTERS at Fort Klamath had a gay look plus plenty of balcony space when the fort was fully staffed. This picture, brought in by Hal Ogle, was taken some time after the fort was abandoned and the old building had deteriorated badly.

Holdup Charge New Faces Cop

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A veteran Philadelphia policeman who claimed he couldn't live on his $4,500 a year salary is held with out bail today—charged with committing a holdup during his lunch hour.

Gilbert R. Schaffer, 44, who had only a two-day suspension in his 10 years on the force, was arrested Saturday night after a poultry store in his district had been robbed of $45. He was identified last night by the store owner as the robber.

Detective Capt. Albert Grantz said Schaffer told him he "went haywire" and robbed the shop because he couldn't live on his salary.

Grantz said Schaffer left his police hat and jacket in his car and put a gray sweater over his uniform shirt during the holdup.

When he returned to his station, at a bridge between Philadelphia and New Jersey, he learned police had a report on the holdup and drove off.

He was traced through his license plate and chased seven blocks before his car was forced to a curb, Grantz said.

Empty Gun Finally Kills Unwary Man

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Patrolman Al Borque told this story of Claude M. Nash, 19, who pressed the trigger three times yesterday.

The first time nothing happened. The second time nothing happened. Companions shouted, "Don't do it again."

The third time the .25-caliber pistol fired a bullet into his body and he died in a few minutes.

Borque said he did not believe Nash knew the pistol was loaded.

Lines Jammed By TV Bingo

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee police reported it was impossible to make or receive telephone calls from their downtown Safety Building headquarters between midnight and 1 a.m. yesterday.

The reason: hundreds, maybe thousands, of local residents were jamming telephone lines in a bingo-type game conducted by a local television station. The television station is on the same telephone exchange as the police station.

Kal Ross, director of operations for WGAN-TV, said that between 100,000 and 150,000 persons play the game late Saturday nights. Viewers play at home and telephone the station when they think they have won a prize by filling out a line on card.

A spokesman for the telephone company said there were so many calls and so many of the callers refused to hang up when they got a busy signal that the dial system was jammed.

Malenkov Lauds Chinese Reds

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov, toasting the Soviet-Chinese Friendship Pact on its fourth anniversary, declared last night that world security depends upon Communist China attaining "her rightful place in international councils."

The Premier spoke at a reception at the Chinese Embassy. Among other ranking Kremlin leaders attending were Communist Party Secretary N. S. Khrushchev, Defense Minister Nikolai Bulganin and Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich and A. I. Mikoyan.

The emergence of the Communist People's Republic in China, said Malenkov, has opened a new epoch in Asia, making it a bastion of peace instead of a powder keg.

Chinese Pick Chiang Now Ready

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The Central Committee of Nationalist China's Kuomintang (ruling party) today unanimously rejected Chiang Kai-shek's request to step down from the Nationalist presidency.

The 32-man committee nominated Chiang for a six-year term. He said he would announce his decision tomorrow.

As he had done six years ago Chiang told the party he felt the best interests of his nation would be served if he were not nominated.

He suggested Dr. Hu Shih, former ambassador to Washington, or Yu Yu-jen, head of the Executive Council, for the presidency, and offered, "if I am trusted," to serve either as head of the armed forces or as premier.

Dr. Hu, famed 63-year-old scholar-philosopher, was reported preparing to leave Washington for the National Assembly session which will elect the President March 20.

Housewives Told To Store Food

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Advice to housewives: gather up a few cans of preserved food and a gallon jar of water and stick it in a safe place.

It may help your family survive atomic attack or other disaster, says the nation's top woman civil defense official.

Mrs. Katherine Howard, deputy national director of the Federal Civil Defense Administration, said in a transcribed Texas radio broadcast yesterday a three-day supply of canned food and water should be kept in every household as minimum emergency rations.

Housewives Told To Store Food

Actual construction started Jan. 1, 1951, although plans had been considered soon after the end of World War II.

Contractors specializing in hard rock tunneling bored and blasted and carried away 500,000 cubic yards of material.

A tunnel, curving to reduce blast pressure from an atomic explosion outside, is about 25 feet across, with a vaulted roof of about equal height.

Deep in the interior of the mountain where presumably even a direct hit by an atomic bomb could not penetrate, is the main chamber, about 35 feet high. Three floor levels were designed for this heart of the command post.

Educator Reports On Divorce Rate

BRYN MAWR, Pa. (AP)—A Bryn Mawr College report shows fewer women Ph.D.'s get married than their less educated neighbors but when they do they stay married a lot longer.

Dr. Eleanor A. Bliss, dean of the graduate school, said 85 per cent of the college's Ph.D.'s are still single working girls. "But the divorce rate is very low—far below the national average," Dr. Bliss said.

Movie Actor Blasts Trend Of Stars Into New Medium

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tonight Ronald Reagan, of all people, opens at a night club act in Las Vegas. And though he likes the look, he deplores the new Hollywood system that sends movie stars to other mediums.

I talked with him before he left for his Las Vegas date, and he is a fellow who is vocal about his opinions. One thing he decries is the way studios have pared down their star lists to a minimum. Among those who will soon be hitting the free-lance road are Clark Gable, Greer Garson, and Richard Widmark.

"I think it's a great mistake," says the longtime president of the Screen Actors Guild. "This business was built on the basis of offering the public stars they could see nowhere else. The stars of each studio became trade-marks which the movie goers recognized and admired."

"But now the studios are driving us into other mediums. Few actors are supported by the studios alone. The others have to spread themselves into radio, TV, legit theater, night clubs and wherever their services are in demand."

"The result is that there's no novelty in seeing most actors on the screen. A person will certainly think twice before paying to see a movie with a star he has seen so often in other mediums."

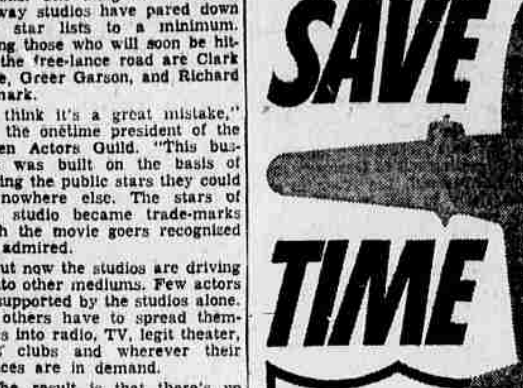

Reagan is unimpressed about his night club debut, despite the fact that he is no singer or dancer and could scarcely qualify as a comedian. He has teamed with an act called the Continentals, and they do some knock-about comedy, soft-shoe and barbershop singing. Reagan will also give out with a monologue such as he has delivered at countless benefits.

"Never afraid to tackle a controversial subject, he has led his fellow actors in a campaign against the flood of benefits that actors are besieged with."

"Mind you, I'm not against worthy causes," he remarked. "No single group in America has given more time to helping to raise money for charity than have actors. They have given unselfishly of their time."

"But I am against the 'benefit bureaucrats' who make their living—and a very good one—by lining up free talent for charity appearances. These individuals actually become producers, promising to set up shows and deliver scores of stars to appear without charge."

He added that the biggest abuse of talent is the telephone: "When you consider the hundreds of per-
