Soldiers Hurt In Mass Jump

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Eighteen paratroopers were injured, eight of them seriously, Tuesday as the Army staged its highest mass jump in history, officials in charge of the event reported.

Two of those hurt suffered possible broken backs, the Army said, and legs.

The men were not immediately identified. They were taken to the hospital at Camp Carson, scene of the jump.

Injuries suffered by 10 of the men were described as minor.

A total of 480 men jumped from nine Globemaster planes into below freezing weather in the first of two demonstrations.

The parachutes almost blotted out the rising sun at the camp, south of Colorado Springs, in the initial leap.

The jumpers were members of the 511th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, which has been training in Colorado in recent weeks.

The jump took place 1,000 feet above the ground and 7,000 feet above sea level.

Negro Charges Discrimination

PORTLAND (AP) — Richard E. Winslow, 35-year-old Portland Negro, said Monday the State Unemployment Compensation Commission had discriminated against him because of his race.

He said he had filed a complaint with Mark A. Smith, deputy state labor commissioner in Portland, accusing the agency of depriving him of rights guaranteed under the state fair employment practices law.

Winslow said he based the complaint on an investigation made by a reporter for the Oregon Journal.

The newspaper quoted Gordon Shattuck, personnel officer for the commission, as saying that Winslow was not interviewed for a field examiner job partly because his race would be a disadvantage in dealing with the public.

The job has not yet been filled. Silas Cleiser, administrator for the commission, said Winslow's name still was on the list of applicants for the job, and denied there had been any discriminatory procedure.

Salmon Price Pact Signed

SEATTLE (AP) — A Federal Trade Commission spokesman said Monday that 31 packing companies, eight fishermen's unions and Alaska Salmon Industry, Inc., have signed an agreement prohibiting practices tending to fix the price of raw salmon in the Alaska salmon industry.

The announcement was made by Walter W. Harris, chief of the FTC's Seattle office, who said the last signature was obtained early Monday, the last day for concurrence by all parties.

The companies, unions and Alaska Salmon Industry, Inc., were charged by the FTC with a conspiracy to fix raw salmon prices. The FTC said the conspiracy existed in the manner in which canners and fishermen determined the seasonal wages of fishermen, which were based on the price to be paid for raw fish.

The FTC last month agreed to let the parties involved work out an agreement which would lead to withdrawal of the FTC charges.

The agreement, Harris said, was

Jury Convicts Eastern Reds

DETROIT (AP) — Six Michigan Communists were convicted Tuesday of conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the United States government.

A Federal Court jury of seven women and five men returned its verdict to Judge Frank A. Picard after seven hours of deliberation.

The five men and one woman defendant, all admitted Communists, could be sentenced to five years imprisonment.

Federal Judge Frank A. Picard immediately cancelled the bonds of the five men, sending them to jail to await sentencing Friday. The $5,000 bond of Mrs. Helen Allison Winter was continued. She had been ill throughout the four-month trial but attended all sessions, some in a wheel chair.

Mrs. Winter is the wife of Carl Winter, one of 11 top-flight Communists convicted in the first conspiracy trial under the Smith act in 1949. He is now serving a 3-year term imposed by Judge Harold R. Medina. Detroit was the eighth such trial under the anti-conspiracy act; its verdict one of the fastest reached in any of them.

Convicted with Mrs. Winter were: Saul Wellman, chairman of the Michigan Communist Party and currently serving a 60-day contempt of court sentence imposed during the trial; William Allan, editor of the Michigan edition of The Daily Worker; Thomas D. Dennis Jr., Nat Ganley and Philip Schatz, all former state party officers or organizers.

Margaret Truman Has Birthday

NEW YORK (AP) — Margaret Truman will celebrate her 30th birthday Wednesday—with a firm determination to get married.

"I certainly do not intend to be a spinster," the blonde daughter of former President Harry S. Truman commented during an interview in her New York apartment.

But just who the man might be, she doesn't know, or at least she isn't saying.
