DAR Goal Is Realized New Cottage Finished

Oregon State Society Daughters of the American Revolution members have at last realized their ambition of building a caretaker's cottage at Champoeg and all thirty chapters in the state have had a part in this project.

It has long been felt by Daughters of the American Revolution members that a caretaker's cottage must be built adjacent to their pioneer mothers' memorial cabin located in Champoeg State Park near Newberg, so that the historical mementos housed in the pioneer mothers' memorial cabin could be open to the public at all times and also to afford care and protection to these precious relics of the pioneer period of Oregon.

However, it remained for Mrs. Allan E. McLean, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution to achieve this hoped for goal. With her enthusiasm, hard work and undiminished energy, ably supported by her husband, who gave many hours of his time to obtaining donations of building materials, the caretaker's cottage has been built.

Champoeg State Park occupies a unique place in the history of the Oregon country. It was on this spot that the historical meeting was held which culminated in the organization of Oregon's Territorial Government and a marker has been erected in the park commemorating this event.

In early times there was a large settlement here located on the banks of the Willamette river and named Champoeg. However the flood of 1861 completely destroyed this settlement and it was never rebuilt.

It was here that the Oregon State Society Daughters of the American Revolution erected their pioneer mothers' memorial cabin in 1929 and it was here also, on June 14, 1953, that the corner stone was laid for the caretaker's cottage.

Previous to Mrs. McLean's regime, a start had been made toward acquiring a sum sufficient for this building, but it remained in the nebulous state until Mrs. McLean became state regent.

Several country fairs were held at Champoeg, in the yard of the pioneer mothers' memorial cabin and each chapter gave contributions toward the building fund until the sum of $12,000 was reached.

Now, the cottage is built and the building committee, with Mrs. John Y. Richardson as chairman, the thirty chapters and their members who worked achieving this goal, and Mr. and Mrs. McLean, all feel it was worth the effort. Debts are all paid and the curator's cottage is a reality.

The cottage is appropriately furnished and caretakers Mr. and Mrs. O. Shaw, have moved in. Arrangements have been made at the suggestion of the State of Oregon to discontinue the old museum at Champoeg State Park and a number of valuable articles have been loaned to the Daughters of the American Revolution pioneer mothers' memorial cabin, so that in the future, there will be only one museum in the state park at Champoeg.

The Greyhound Bus Lines have notified Mrs. McLean that they will include this historic cabin on their itinerary of the school children's tour.

Previously, the pioneer mothers' memorial cabin has been open each year to members acting as hostesses of the American Revolution Chapter, with the various Daughters Sunday from Memorial Day to Labor Day with the various Daughters. Now, the cabin will be open weekdays also and later in the season it may even be possible to enjoy Champoeg State Park.

PTA

GILCHRIST
By Virginia Taylor
Founders' Day was observed at Gilchrist PTA with an outstanding program and a silver tea. Hostesses for the tea were the seventh and eighth grade mothers. A cake in Valentine colors was served with coffee or tea by Mrs. O. E. Jordan and Mrs. V. I. Brader.

The program was a panel discussion on parent-teacher cooperation and was given as a tribute to the national founders, Phoebe Apperson Hearst and Alice McClinton Birney Members of the panel included: Mrs. V. I. Brader, moderator; Mrs. Leslie Norlin, Oren Sample, Robert Wilson, Mrs. Gus Shelton, the Rev. W. N. Byars, Barbara Baker, Michael Harris and Mrs. William M. Taylor. Theme of the panel was compared to an equilateral triangle with parents, teachers and youth as the three sides. The enclosed area was designated as "Better Homes, Better Schools, Better Churches and Better Communities for a Better World Tomorrow."

The object of the Parent-Teacher organization was repeated by the moderator, Mrs. Norlin spoke on the responsibility of a mother in the home and community, and how proper care and habits of good citizenship must begin in the home almost at birth. Oren Sample talked about the need for fathers to take their rightful place as heads of the home, first setting the example for the home, the community and the church by proper love, conduct and cooperation with all worth-while activities.

Robert Wilson, high school coach and teacher, gave the problems of administration in a changing world to the activities of the school and the hope for self realization and worthwhile objectives that can be accomplished in school. Mrs. Shelton, fourth grade teacher, brought out the careful routine the school follows in regard to each child's individual health. She told of the health record kept on each and how it is carefully watched. The Rev. Byars talked on the four cornerstones of living: work, play, love and worship.

Miss Baker told of her hopes for help through parent-teacher cooperation and how friendships between parents and teachers had ironed out difficulties in the past.

Michael Harris talked on the ambition of youth of today and what a help more planned recreation would have on the teenagers during summer vacation. He also elaborated on homework and ambitions for college.

Mrs. William Taylor, the PTA president, urged both parents and teachers to take on some civic interest to help their communities be a better place in which to live. Audience participation was excellent.

A "thank you" card was read from Margaret Scala, studying at Oregon State College on a scholarship.

A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Fred Costel, Mrs. Carol Horsley, Mrs. Gerald Paschel and Mrs. Norman Riley. There were 17 members and four guests present. Guests invited to join were Mrs. Orman Gildow, Mrs. T. T. Mitcham, Mrs. H. O. Warren and Mrs. I. T. Merkey.

The next meeting will be postponed from the regular date to March 16, due to the absence of Dolores Bracken, county agent.

DAR Girls Seek Name

Children of the American Revolution Society, met February 11 at the home of Mrs. James Thornton, senior president, 4506 Laverne Avenue, to choose a suitable name for the group. Two names were chosen, and with a brief history of each, were sent to headquarters at Washington, D. C. for approval and final selection.

Mrs. William D. Foster, registrar of Eulalona Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, is helping the girls fill out the necessary documents for proof of a Revolutionary ancestor. Mrs. Foster brought a framed coat-of-arms and suggested it would be interesting if members could determine eligibility for a similar insignia by research.

A mother-daughter dinner is planned for early May.

Mrs. Thornton is sponsor for the girls and is assisted by Eva Burkhalter.

Dinner that preceded the business meeting, was served to Joan Estes, Barbara Easman, Ann Pederson, Grace Henry, Pat O'Hara, Genevieve and Nancy Tanner, Betty Braman, Lucy Cornelius, Sally Sayers, Mabel and Nancy Hanan and Beth Robertson.

Members of Eulalona Chapter, DAR, who attended, were Mrs. William Foster, Mrs. L. O. Hornsby, organizing president for the GAR group and the two hostesses, Mrs. Thornton and Miss Burkhalter.

If you use glass or pottery cooking dishes, remember not to plunge them into cold water while they are still hot. Soak them to loosen any food that has crusted on them. If there are stubborn spots remove them with steel wool or other metal scourer.

for Tomorrow" under the direction of Mrs. Hazel Todd, was presented. Those taking part were: parent — Mrs. Clifford Lawrence; teacher — Mrs. Aubra Griffiths; children — Bonnie Roberts, Jimmy Peterson, Robert Kenney, Susan Hart, Katie Townly, vocalist, Richard Stiemler. It was an effective presentation depicting the meaning of Founders Day.

The Mills School chorus under the direction of Marcella Studeman, sang several selections. Everyone was impressed with Mona Dell Chenoweth, who sang "Memories."

After a short business meeting, a silver tea was served in the school cafeteria by the PTA executive board.

CONGER-FAIRVIEW
By Dorothy L. Whitmore
A typical day's menu was made out by members of the Conger-Fairview Unit, February 12 at Joan's Kitchen when the subject, "Planning Well-balanced Meals" was studied under leadership of Dolores Bracken.

Menus were checked against the basic foods for good nutrition.

Present for the meeting was Phyllis Tullock, student at Oregon State College, in Klamath County for four weeks to observe procedure for home extension units in preparation for entering that field of work.

Recreation leadership training meetings will be held at the YMCA in February and March, it was reported by Mrs. Neva Hayes,
