

Open-House for the Earl Weimars

Long-time residents of Klamath Falls to live in Yakima

THE LATCH STRING . . . at Reames Golf and Country Club will always be out for the Earl Weimars. Earl was made a life member of the club in recognition of the many hundreds of hours he devoted to the club. His wife, Ruth, has also been an active member in that, and other local organizations.

The open house February 26, chairmanned by Howard Sroggin and Gus Anderson, was a gesture of appreciation from the club to the popular couple.

The life membership placque was given Earl when he retired as club president, a couple of years ago.

McCracken-Romtvedt Vow

In Klamath Lutheran

MRS. BENJAMIN A. McCRACKEN JR. . . . the former Annie Lou Romtvedt, who left Langell Valley as a February bride to make her home in Illinois, while her husband is stationed there as an instructor in the USAF. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sondre Romtvedt, well-known Basin ranchers; and the senior McCrackens live in Seattle.

The Rev. Kent Spaulding read the double-ring 3 p.m. service on the 20th in Klamath Lutheran Church.
