Dancing Mice Aid Research

BAR HARBOR, Maine (AP)—Mice that do a ballet step are the latest aides in the war on cancer.

Dr. Margaret Dickie today described discovery of a variety of mice that "pirouette" continually, just like a ballerina.

And she said that studies of this "ballerina mouse" not only offered opportunities for probing the cause of cancer but also such neurological diseases as multiple sclerosis.

Dr. Dickie, of the Jackson Memorial Cancer Research Laboratory here, told about it at a conference with reporters making a nationwide tour of research projects sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Movies of the "ballerina mice" show them in real form.

The mice constantly "twirl or 'pirouette' in contrast to the normal motion of a mouse, which is back and forth.

Dr. Dickie indicated that the study of this unusual motion might help determine what differentiates the normal cell from the malignant one, as in cancer.

Scientists of the Jackson laboratory told reporters that a million mice are bred there each year for various purposes, and that these constitute about three fourths of all the mice used in cancer research throughout the nation.

Marilyn Starts Japanese Trend

TOKYO (AP)—Hundreds of Japanese girls, who ordinarily would not be caught dead wearing glasses, are shyly approaching Tokyo optical counters and ordering spectacles.

Chortling optical salesmen say it's the biggest boom in years.

Some of the girls are buying two and three pairs in different colored frames. Some don't even need glasses but are demanding plain glass in harlequin frames.

"It's all because of that Marilyn Monroe," explained one salesman.

In one of her pictures (How to Marry a Millionaire), now showing in Tokyo, Marilyn plays a near-sighted siren who would rather bump into unopened doors than be caught wearing glasses. Until, that is, her screen boy friend convinces her she is twice as seductive in a pair of harlequin spectacles.

Within two days after the picture opened, optical firms through out Tokyo had splashed their display windows and cases with harlequin glasses and signs proclaiming "Marilyn Monroe glasses."

Even the most optimistic salesmen were astounded at the results.

Disposal Of Atom Wastes Explained

SEATTLE (AP)—The radiological engineer at the Hanford atomic plant, James M. Smith, said Friday the plant disposes of some of its radioactive wastes by burying them at sea encased in concrete.

Smith told the Industrial Waste Conference the sea burial method was used for solid radioactive waste and that gas or liquid waste generally was diluted and dispersed.

Town Awaiting Bank Payoff

CLIO, Ala. (AP)—With the deadline at hand, Clio waited tensely today for an answer to the $167,000 question they put to banker Royal Reynolds.

Reynolds could not be reached for comment. He promised last Friday after returning from a 12-day absence that every depositor in the Merchants Exchange would be paid in full "by the first of next week."

Disturbed townspeople look that to mean either today or tomorrow.

The banker's 14-year-old son Tommy reported by telephone last night that his parents were not at home.

Reynolds, a Sunday school teacher and former mayor of this southern Alabama farm community, is free in $7,500 bond on three indictments charging embezzlement.

About 135 customers of the unchartered bank, which handled most of the cash for the entire town, have already jotted down claims amounting to more than $17,000 in a notebook in Mayor Dan Easterling's office.

Exchange funds deposited in the First National Bank of Atlanta amount to only $81,800—less than half the amount depositors claim Reynolds owes them.

Ike Advises On Drought Areas Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower telegraphed Gov. Knight of California Saturday saying conditions in the drought affected portions of California are not sufficiently acute to warrant proclaiming the area a major disaster region eligible for federal aid.

The President acted on the advice of the Department of Agriculture.

Many Movie Awards Given Purely For Commercialism

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This time of year I am usually busy calculating the movie awards that come pouring in from all parts of the globe. I have entertained myself from that chore.

The reason is the deterioration of the award setup. In the beginning were the academy awards. For years, they were virtually alone in the field. Then came other movie honors. Some of them bore merit, notably the New York critics selections and those of the National Board of Review.

Now everybody has gotten into the act. There are awards for everything, down to the best performance by an animal.

Most of these awards are strictly commercial. They are made not to reward artistic merit, but to win publicity for the award maker. Various outfits will gold-plate some statuettes, then line up coast-to-coast TV shows on which to present them.

Those receiving awards are often chosen not because of their availability for a telecast. If the honored person has a TV show of his own, so much the better.

Surplus Wheat Use Told

A recent amendment to the 1954 wheat allotment regulations makes it possible for farmers in any county to utilize wheat in green manure, cover crop or hay, according to information received from the County Extension Agent's office.

Any farmer who desires to follow such a practice must designate which acreage seeded to wheat is not to be harvested for grain. This information must be on record at the county ASC office.

This amendment also means that any farmer who has knowingly or unknowingly overseeded his allotment can avoid the penalty and make himself eligible for price support by designating and utilizing the excess acreage for green manure, cover crop or hay.
