ILL HEALTH
HONG KONG (AP) — A recent photograph of Mao Tse-tung published here Tuesday shows the Chinese Red Leader — rumored to have been seriously ill — in clothes which hang loosely as though he were unusually thin. His face, however, still appears round and jowly. Mao disappeared from official life in Peking last December and did not show up again until late this month. He has been rumored variously as suffering from tuberculosis, heart disease and stomach ailments.

DEATH
TUNBRIDGE WELLS, England, The Marquess of Abergavenny, who could trace his ancestors back to the 11th century, died at his home, Eridge Castle. He was 70.

THE FULL FORCE of his hypnotic powers is being turned by the great Ben Allah on a hapless victim, Esther Seus, in a scene taken from the three act comedy to be presented by the Newell PTA in the high school auditorium at Tulelake, Saturday, April 3. The Great Allah is Lester Cushman, who usually uses his prowess to grow potatoes.

Movie Dance Scenes Cause Of Battle With Censors

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How do they get a sexy dance past the movie industry censors?
That has become a big issue in Hollywood because of recent events. There was the famous—or notorious?—dance Jane Russell performed in "French Line," which set off a nationwide battle between Howard Hughes on one side and the producers association and various churches on the other. Miss Russell, you may recall, said she was caught in the middle.

Fall Injures Mrs. Ganong Sr.

Mrs. William Ganong Sr. is a patient in the Desert Hot Springs Hospital at Palm Springs following a recent fall that resulted in a broken right hip. She will lie in the cast for 12 weeks, according to Mr. Ganong, now back in Klamath Falls.
Mrs. Ganong was at the winter home of the family at Desert Hot Springs when the accident happened. She had stepped out of her car to open a redwood gate to drive through when wind whipped the gate against her, knocking her down and breaking the leg. The injury occurred March 10.

Ike Asks Broader Power To Cut Present Tariffs

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asked Congress today for broader power to cut tariffs as the heart of a "bold" program he said would bolster the security and economic growth of America and her allies.
In a special message dealing with the politically explosive issue of import duties and laying down the foreign economic policy of his administration, Eisenhower also: 1. Called for cutting down aid to other countries, and an end to outright grants of economic aid as soon as possible.

2. Gave assurances that increased trade in peaceful goods between the West and Iron Curtain countries "should not cause us undue concern."
Important sections of the program may be heading into legislative quicksand.
LONG MESSAGE
For the 8,000-word message goes pretty much down the line of recommendations of a special commission on foreign economic policy — a commission whose report was so loaded with dissents as to raise grave doubts as to how far its proposals would get in Congress.

Those same doubts still apply now that Eisenhower has accepted the suggestions in general, bundled them together into a message and asked Congress to do something about them. Many members of the President's own party in the Senate and House adhere to the historic GOP position that tariffs should be kept relatively high to protect domestic industry against cheap imports.
The commission, headed by Clarence Randall of Chicago, president of Inland Steel Co., turned in its report Jan. 23.

problems confronting our country." Failure to attain a higher trade level, the President said, will threaten the domestic economy by dooming efforts to find ways by which others, through their efforts, can buy U. S. goods. Reduced exports, with farms and factories selling less, is the only alternative, he said.
"Beyond our economic interest," he said, "the solidarity of the free world and the capacity of the free world to deal with those who would destroy it are threatened by continued unbalanced trade relationships—inability of nations to sell as much as they desire to buy."
INCREASED EXPORTS
By moving boldly to correct the present imbalance, we shall support and increase the level of our exports of both manufactured and agricultural products. We shall, at the same time, increase the economic strength of our allies.
While Eisenhower asked for a three-year extension of the trade agreements law, there are signs in Congress he may have to settle for a two or even one-year continuation, perhaps without the added authority to cut duties he and the Randall Commission asked.
The changes would empower the President, through negotiations with other countries, to make these tariff reductions during the three-year extension period:
1. A cut of 5 per cent a year on specially selected commodities. If the President is authorized to negotiate tariff reductions up to 50 per cent under present law has been used up, the proposal would limit reductions to a total of 15 per cent.
2. A cut to 50 per cent of the value of the goods of all tariffs now exceeding that figure.
3. A cut of as much as 50 per cent in the rates in effect on Jan. 1, 1945, on products not being imported at all or only in "negligible volume." This could be done by the United States alone, as well as by negotiation.

Dulles Urges Action To Halt Red Threat In Asia

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles—speaking with the advance approval of President Eisenhower—last night urged "united action" by the free nations to prevent Communist domination of Indochina and all Southeast Asia.

He did not spell out specific "united action" measures. A State Department aide said any moves would be discussed in detail with U. S. allies.
The secretary was interrupted 13 times by applause as he spoke to 1,000 persons at the dinner.
The speech was broadcast nationally by radio and television, and by the Voice of America abroad.
Dulles said that at the forthcoming Geneva conference on Far Eastern problems the United States will not be "disposed to give Communist China what it wants from us, merely in exchange for its promises of future good behavior." He said the United States would not abandon the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa and encourage its "bloody liquidation by the Chinese Communists."

Significant objections came from members of Congress who will have a vital role in deciding the fate of tariff legislation:
Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) of the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), a high-ranking member of the committee, and Chairman Eugene D. Millikin (R-Colo.) of the Senate Finance Committee.
Eisenhower said his is a "minimum program" of four major, interlocked parts:
Foreign aid—"which we wish to curtail."
Investments abroad—"which we wish to encourage."
Free exchange of one currency for another—"which we wish to facilitate."
Foreign trade—"which we wish to expand."

The President said he considers it essential to achieve each of these objectives, declaring: "Unless we are prepared to adopt the policies I have recommended to expand export and import trade and increase the flow of our capital into foreign investment, our friends abroad may be discouraged in their effort to re-establish a free market for their currencies. If we fail in our trade policy, we may fail in all. Our domestic employment, our standard of living, our security, and the solidarity of the free world—all are involved."
WORLD MARKETS
"For our own economic growth we must have continuously expanding world markets; for our security we require that our allies become economically strong. Expanding trade is the only adequate solution for those two pressing

Gas Pipeline Hearing Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Power Commission hearing on the application of two companies to pipe natural gas to the Pacific Northwest ended Monday after setting records for duration and volume of testimony.
The hearing started June 16, 1952.
In the following 21 months, a commission examiner heard from more than 80 witnesses whose testimony covered 28,000 typewritten pages, with about 8 million words. Forty-four lawyers took part in the case presenting 850 exhibits and attachments. The cost of preparing and presenting the case was estimated at more than 3 million dollars.
The question to be settled was whether natural gas should be piped to the Northwest from the Peace River fields of Canada, or the San Juan Basin of Colorado and New Mexico.
The Westcoast Transmission Co. proposes the Canadian supply. The Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. applied for the line from the San Juan Basin.

Dulles' declaration of the Communist threat in the Far East was delivered in an address before the Overseas Press Club at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.
It was learned in Washington that his call for "united action" had been specifically cleared with Eisenhower at a weekend White House conference.
Dulles made clear that he meant action by the United States and its allies, in contrast to previous speeches in which he spoke of assisting them.
"I've been directing dances in pictures for 20 years," he remarked confidently, "and I've never had a number snipped yet."
"It's all a matter of finding out what they will do and what they won't. Largely it's the intent. If you start out to create a diety dance, they'll censor you. But if there's a reason for the dance, you can get by—as long as you stay within certain bounds."
Those bounds are pretty well defined, he added. A girl can do a bump (rapid movement of the hips), but not a forward one. It has to be to the side. The rules do not permit a grind (a clock-like movement of the hips). But a certain amount of shimmying is allowed, as long as it doesn't go too far. Get the picture?
"This dance of Gloria's wouldn't be permitted in 'French Line,'" Williams remarked. "But in our picture there's a reason for it. She plays a floozy in a border town bar. She has worked there for five years and is pretty bored with it all. The customers have seen her do the number many times and they pay little attention to her. If the men in the bar were to yell and whistle—then we would be censored. It's all a matter of how it is presented."

Investments abroad—"which we wish to encourage."
Free exchange of one currency for another—"which we wish to facilitate."
Foreign trade—"which we wish to expand."
The President said he considers it essential to achieve each of these objectives, declaring: "Unless we are prepared to adopt the policies I have recommended to expand export and import trade and increase the flow of our capital into foreign investment, our friends abroad may be discouraged in their effort to re-establish a free market for their currencies.
