Cashier Hard To Convince

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP) — Cashier Opal Croxton wouldn't cash a check for a well-dressed young man.

"I'll swear the check's good," said the man, who was vacationing at the Lake Murray Lodge. He offered his Cadillac as security. Miss Croxton told him sarcastically it would take the attorney general to get a check cashed at the lodge without identification.

The guest brought back Atty. Gen. Mac Q. Williamson, who happened to be spending an evening at the lodge.

James J. Blanton, vice president of the First National Bank of Pauls Valley, got his check cashed.

Candy Poisoner Ordered Committed

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Letha Della Overton, charged with sending poisoned candy to a score of Lake Wales residents, will be committed to a federal mental institution.

Judge William J. Barker signed an order to that effect yesterday after deciding from the reports of two psychiatrists that Mrs. Overton is mentally incompetent to stand trial.

About 20 persons who received the candy last December became violently ill but all recovered.
