

Bums, Yanks Stem Rookie Move

Pennant Winnings Reason

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—It seems here that there has been more talk this spring about phenomenal rookies who are about to break into big league lineups and stay there than in any season we can recall.

A ready explanation stems from the deadening domination of the two leagues by the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Outside the two leaders, every team in the majors is pining seriously in one department or another, and there is a dreadful urgency on all sides to close the yawning gaps around the top and produce a couple of oldtime pennant races before attendance falls off even further than it already has.

ONE CHANCE
There's only one chance of closing in on the Yankees and Dodgers, and that lies in finding fresh young talent to fit in with the veterans who have failed and possibly inspire them to greater deeds.

In numerous cases managers are holding on grimly to youngsters who were not even on their rosters when training began, and they intend to take them right into the season on the off-chance that lightning will strike.

Perhaps the outstanding example is that of the Cleveland Indians, who have just snatched Rudy Regalado from their Indianapolis farm and signed him to a parent club contract. The former USC star, who appeared suddenly like a blinding light to batter the ball this spring, probably represents the one chance the Indians have of improving a team that has proved it can finish only second.

RUNNER-UP
Or, in the National League, take the runner-up Milwaukee Braves. A pair of rookies, one of them virtually unknown, probably hold the key to the team's hopes of cutting seriously into Brooklyn's 13-game superiority of last year.

Henry Aaron, a stocky little Negro slinger up all the way from Jacksonville in class D, could help keep the Braves in the race until Bobby Thomson's broken ankle mends if he continues to hit the ball and play the outfield adequately. Gene Conley, a towering (6-8) righthander who won 23 for Toledo last year, could "make" Charlie Grimm's pitching staff if he gets the ball over to suit National League umpires.

PORTLAND (AP)—The judges gave the decision to Kel Wayne, 156, Portland, Thursday night in a six-round main event bout with Paul Kennedy, 156, Longview, Wash.

Little Papa Brown, 136, Seattle, knocked out Frank Rogers, 135, Vancouver, B.C. (2).

Red McNally, 157, Estacada, Ore., outpointed Dick Gale, 159, Albany, Ore. (4).

Klamath Archers Start Activities

About 20 archers turned out Saturday, April 3, at Moore Park, to work on the archery course.

The group of ardent bowmen straightened and repaired targets, and marked the trails to the shooting range so it would be easier for people not acquainted with the Moore Park setup, to find the archery range.

Several newcomers were among those present and the group is still looking for interested archers, both beginners and advance, to bolster the membership.

More repairs and shooting is scheduled for this Saturday and Sunday. Anyone interested in joining the club is urged to attend and bring a potluck lunch.

SWIFT KICK . . . George Resavage of Castle Shannon made the mistake of getting between the ball and Lloyd Monsen with rather painful results. Lifting clear off the ground, either by Monsen's aid or his own doing, Resavage managed to block the ball with his middle. Action took place during National Cup Eastern Finals at New York.

Southern Cal Starts Track Campaign

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern California's Trojans begin their dual track and field campaign in the Pacific Coast Conference Saturday, with Stanford figured to be their first victim.

The national collegiate champions of 1953, aiming to make it 19 straight in dual competition over the once dominant Stanford Indians, appear to have far too much overall strength.

Some observers predicted the Trojans might even approach the highest score they ever registered in beating Stanford—the 108-23 route of 1946.

The Trojans weight star, Don Koch of Shelton, Wash., scored first in the javelin, with 197 feet 4 3/4 inches, and the discus, with 160-11 ft., against Arizona last week. He placed second in the shot, with 50-4.

Favored Stars Take Licks From Beavers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
They are favored to win their third straight Pacific Coast League pennant but Hollywood's Stars have looked like anything but champions in their first three games.

They bowed for the third time Thursday night to Portland, 7-1, and even the return from Pittsburgh of the base stealing and crowd pleasing outfielder Carlos Bernier failed to stimulate action at the turnstiles. The game drew only 1,821 fans.

Dick Walbel, young Portland right hander, had Hollywood est-

Marion Grant Leads In Shoot

Marion Grant shot a 48 out of a possible 50 with handicap in last Sunday's Klamath Gun Club meet.

Grant in posting the near perfect score took the lead for the Adams Trophy. It was the second win for Grant and another victory would give him permanent holding of the trophy.

But Cloake led the 50-16 yard event with a 48, just two short of a perfect shot.

Pel Track Team In Rogue Relays

Tomorrow the Klamath Falls Pelicans will journey to Medford to meet five teams in the Rogue River Relays.

Coach Len Surles announced yesterday that he would take a traveling squad of 20 trackmen and they would be entered in ten of the twelve events. The two events that the Pelis will bypass are the discus and pole vault.

Last week the Pelicans jumped Eugene and Roseburg in a three way meet and topped both of the key teams by ten points, 57-47-47.

The Pelis will enter the meet with seven lettermen in their starting lineup and should prove to be tough for the valley schools to push around.

The other five schools are Medford, Grants Pass, Ashland, Crater, and Marshfield of Coos Bay.

A school may enter four participants in all the field events except javelin, discus, and pole vault, but only the top three marks will be added together for the final results in each event.

Surles announce the following lineup for the relay meet: Broad-jump relay—Don Mills, Dave Pepple and Jim Dougherty.
Shot put relay—Dougherty, Ben Lawver and Marlin Causey.
440 yard relay—Pepple, Barry Pitts, Scott Hancock and Tom Ferrell.
Two Mile relay—Jim McGee, Warren Cody, Bob Baggett, and Jim Blanchard.
High Jump Relay—Orin Perkins, Jim Bevans, McGee, and Chuck Gupilli.
Javelin—Roy Ropp, and Jim King

Red Wings Win Stanley Cup Playoff

MONTREAL (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, winners of the pivotal third game which gave them a 2-1 lead over Montreal in the final Stanley Cup series, were a confident, cocky crew Friday but their enthusiasm was tempered somewhat by Coach Tommy Ivan.

"Sure, we won a big one," Ivan observed, "but Saturday night's game (here) is even bigger. Don't forget that the Canadiens were without two important players—Doug Harvey and Jern Behliveau."

While Harvey, a standout defenseman, and Behliveau, a formidable rookie, sat on the side lines with injuries Thursday night, Alex Delvecchio and Ted Lindsay shot Detroit into a two-goal lead in the first period and the Wings went on to score a 5-2 victory.

Johnny Wilson added another for Detroit in the middle session before Tom Johnson opened Montreal's scoring early in the third. Then Metro Prystay and Gordie Howe put the game on ice for the Motor City skaters with goals later in the period.
