FORT KLAMATH

By MYRTLE WIMER

Mrs. William Zumburn is recuperating from recent surgery undergone at the Klamath Valley Hospital in Klamath Falls, and is at her home at the Zumburn ranch. Here for a week to care for Mrs. Zumburn during her convalescence was a friend, Mrs. Jack Thomas, who has been in Klamath Falls while her son Paul is attending KUHS. The family will return to their Fort Klamath home when the term is finished.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Neilson are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a baby daughter, their first child, born April 7, in Prineville. The name of Karmen Kay has been chosen for the infant, who weighed 9 pounds 1 1/2 ounces at birth. The young Neilsons have been living in Prineville for the past several months. They plan to return to Fort Klamath in the near future. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dick Young, great-grandmother is Mrs. Eva Prichett, Mitchell, Oregon, former Fort Klamath residents. Mrs. Margaret Watson of Fort Klamath is paternal great-aunt.

Also receiving congratulations on a blessed event are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Brown, who last week welcomed their second child, born April 13 at Klamath Valley Hospital. Little Deborah Anne weighed eight pounds one ounce, and has an older brother Dan Jr., who celebrated his fourth birthday April 1.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Everett Morris, Ashland; paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Brown, pioneer residents of the Crystal area west of here. Mrs. Gail Dauterth, Klamath Falls, is paternal aunt of the new arrival. Mrs. Brown and baby daughter were brought home Friday to their home at the Rightmeyer apartments; her mother, Mrs. Morris, who has been here for the past several weeks, is still with her daughter.

While in the vicinity Wednesday on a business trip, Jim Miller Jr., Medford cattleman, made a special trip to Fort Klamath to inform friends that on Sunday, April 11, the body of the late Fred Nielsen, former local resident, had been recovered from Smith River. Neil drowned February 3, while on a fishing trip.

He had visited here frequently and last summer came to Fort Klamath to find seasonal pasture for Miller's cattle, as a result they were placed on the Francis D. Brown Crystal ranch for the season, and this year, Miller has arranged for pasture near Kirk.

Two relatives by marriage survive the 78 years old Neil, Raymond S. Loosley, who was a cousin of the late Mrs. Neil. Mrs. Elizabeth M. Loosley, whose husband, the late Edward K. Loosley, was a brother of Neil's wife, the former Clara Loosley, daughter of pioneer Wood River valley homesteaders, Mr. and Mrs. George Loosley, now also deceased. Two sons, Kay, Portland, and Joe, Sacramento, also survive. In addition to an only daughter, Jean, wife of Major Lutz, with the U.S. Army of occupation in Germany. The late Mr. Neil was a retired accountant and bookkeeper, and also taught school at one time; of late years, he had devoted much time to his favorite sports, hunting and fishing.

Chiloquin

A week ago the five senior high school students who had won a 4 point placing in the spring county speech festival at Malin, drove to Eugene to attend the state speech contest. Due to an oversight in registering with the Oregon Speech League, the students could not enter the events, but were allowed to make the trip to observe. Making the trip were Frieda Kirk, Dona Clark, Sue Seasholtz, Lila Kessler, and Susan Ravizza. Jackie Barney drove the team to Eugene and Mrs. Frank Bell, speech director, accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank DiUlio and family entertained 30 people with a potluck fish fry when the Bonanza faculty and families visited Chiloquin to see the annual mullet run in Sprague River. Arranging for the group to come were former Chiloquin residents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steber and family. Steber is now principal of the Bonanza high school.

Mrs. James Bowman, who left last summer for a lengthy stay with relatives and friends in Kentucky and more recently in Los Angeles, returned to Oregon two weeks ago. She was here with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank DiUlio, for a week, they went on to Crescent, Bend and Portland to visit her two sons and daughter, before she returns to Chiloquin to make her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen O'Neill, Charlyn and Mary, Modoc Point, are back from a hasty trip to Los Angeles where they attended a family funeral. Mrs. O'Neill's aunt passed away in California early last week.

Mrs. Lea Hoback is back in school this week after being ill with the flu the last part of last week and over the weekend.

Seldom in Chiloquin does a family buy a house and just move in without starting a regular chain of moving. It will happen again during the next three weeks. It began when Mrs. Lona Johnson purchased the Anton Zedina residence which has been rented by Mr. and Mrs. John Mathis. That means the Mathis family must move. They have purchased the Allan Prescott home in West Chiloquin which has been rented by the Lewis Jones family.

The city has decided the chief of police should live in the city residence which has been rented by Mrs. Athel Roser. When Mrs. Roser rents a home and moves, the Jones will move, the Mathis' will move, the Johnsons will move, and the town can settle down to wait for the next change in "fruit basket up-set."

Rev. and Mrs. William Rentz, Elizabeth and Wilma are in Portland this week attending an Assembly of God conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. (Blackie) Hauptman enjoyed the rodeo held at Red Bluff April 17 and 18, and while there, stayed at the home of Hauptman's father. The Hauptmans are operating the Old Fort Tavern and Cafe here.
