

Home Runs Explode In Redleg's Park

By BEN PHLEGAR

AP Sports Writer

The gals in the laundry are fast losing their home run business to the fans in the sun deck at Cincinnati's Crosley Field.

For years one of the National League's favorite home run targets has been the laundry just beyond the left field fence in Cincinnati. But last season the Redleg management eyed the muscles of left-handed hitter Ted Kluszewski and company and moved in the right field fence about 25 feet.

Now most of the long-ball trade is going into the right field seats. These used to be the bleachers. This season it's the sun deck, complete with lounge chairs, sun tan lotion and sun glasses for rent.

It was a little chilly for these devices last night but the home runs tell thick and fast. An even half dozen cleared the bats of left-handed sluggers as the homer-happy Redlegs blasted into first place in the National League with an 8-7 verdict over the Pittsburgh Pirates. One home run went to the laundry in left.

Ten of the 15 runs were direct results of homers. Kluszewski slammed one in the first with one aboard and Jim Greengrass followed right behind him with another. Came the third and Kluszewski hit another.

The Pirates blasted back in the sixth with back-to-back blows by Toby Atwell and Jerry Lynch. And in the eighth Atwell and Lynch did the trick again.

So far this season the Redlegs have slammed 15 homers and the total for Crosley Field is 25. Cincinnati pitchers have yielded 26, an average of two per game.

Cincinnati moved into first place by half a game over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who bowed in St. Louis 7-3. Milwaukee squeezed by New York 3-2 and Philadelphia was raised out at Chicago in the National League.

The Chicago White Sox won their fourth straight, a 4-3 thriller over the New York Yankees in the only American League action. Bad weather brought postponements of the Boston-Cleveland, Philadelphia-Detroit and Washington-Baltimore contests.

Preacher Roe, a long-time Cardinal jinx, was the victim at St. Louis. He lost his usually good control. Two walks, a double by Ray Jablonski and a single by rookie Tom Alston gave the Cards son and John Keller accounted for Oregon's tallies.

The loss sent Washington home to Seattle from a road trip that produced more runs than most teams score in the average season. The Huskies won Monday, crushing Oregon 18-2. That was their only win of the trip and was in the pattern of the 17-6 and 32-7 defeats inflicted by Oregon State Friday and Saturday.

A dropped fly ball set the stage for Idaho's loss at Pullman. The Vandals led 2-1 as WSC came up for its final turn at bat in the ninth. Stan Poppe singled, went to second when an Idaho fielder dropped Earl McIntosh's fly and was bunted home. Ron Eakin's single scored McIntosh.

Washington managed only six hits off Oregon's Trent Huls. Two of them were back-to-back doubles in the seventh inning scoring Ed Sage with the Huskies' only run. A two-run homer in the fourth and fifth inning doubles by Jim Johngle by pinch hitter Hank Bauer and Harry Dorish came on to retire Bob Cerv on an infield roller for the final out.

Al Brazle and Stu Miller preserved Gerry Staley's second victory. Miller worked three hitless innings.

A bases-loaded single by Del Crandall — good for two runs in the fourth — and a two-out single by Johnny Logan in the eighth drove in the Milwaukee runs, the first scored against Giant pitching in 22 innings. New York tied the score in the eighth on a pinch single by Bill Taylor with two on.

Dave Jolly, who took over from Bob Buhl in the eighth, was the winner, with Al Corwin, last of three New York pitchers, getting tagged with the loss.

The Yankees fell below the .500 mark in losing to right-hander Don Johnson, a refugee from the minors who once belonged to the Yanks. The White Sox beat Whitey Ford for the first time in his brief major league career. Ford had owned a 7-0 record over the Chicagoans.

Three hits and an error by Phil Rizzuto produced two Chicago runs in the fourth. In the fifth Minnie Minoso slammed a two-run homer.

The Yanks faced three pitchers in the ninth. Al Sima, who had taken over from Johnson in the eighth, gave up a double to Yogi Berra to open the last inning. Sandy Consuegra retired two batters touched for a run-scoring sin-

Seattle Manager Fined $100

SEATTLE (AP) — Pacific Coast League president Clarence Rowland Tuesday slapped a $100 fine on Seattle manager Jerry Priddy for his part in a fist fight during a game with San Diego last Saturday.

Priddy promptly protested the fine, and Rowland's threat of suspension if the fine is not paid, declaring "it's obvious his umpires are not only blind—they can't hear either."

Priddy drew the fine for a fight with San Diego catcher Red Mathis. Mathis' right arm was broken in the melee which started when the catcher tossed his bat at Seattle pitcher Van Fletcher after he had been struck by a pitched ball. Doctors said Mathis will miss the rest of the season because of the injury and may have to give up baseball.

Priddy protested because he was the only one penalized and argued Rowland must have received a false report of the altercation from the umpires.

General manager Dewey Soriano sided with Priddy, terming it "a lousy decision," but indicated the fine will be paid.

Soriano said the umpires, Priddy and Mathis were equally to blame. The umpires, he said, "were slow to kick Mathis out for throwing his bat, which gave Priddy time to step in and stick up for his pitcher."

ELKO, Nev. (AP) — Former University of Nevada football and basketball star Dan Orlich of Reno won the opening event of the week-long $15,000 baby grand trap shoot here Tuesday, shattering 198 out of 200 targets in the Class AA division. He fired from 16 yards.

He shared honors with two other who won their class divisions with the same score. Miss Hortense Wood of Salt Lake City took Class A honors and J. J. Johnston of Idaho Falls, Idaho, Class C with 198 out of 200 each.

J. B. Dollard, Boise, Idaho, and H. Zurbick, LaGrande, Ore., tied at 190 in the Class C division.

In the final league action at Wright Field, the Angels recorded a 4-0 record to win the Western League pennant. Members of this team were Gordon Malcomb, Dwight Henry, Bob Bates, Earl Milhorn, Joe Blupham, Ned Oviatt, Clem Clark, Charles Cooper, Tommy Potter, Earl Yeoman and Jack Walling.

This coming Saturday, the Class A grade school softballers will fill the Conger and Wright Field softball diamonds for their sports day.

Oregon Moves Into Second Spot In ND

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Oregon edged Washington 3-1 Tuesday and vaulted over the Huskies into second place in Northern Division baseball standings.

The win moved the Ducks within two games of the Oregon State Beavers, who have yet to lose a game this season.

Idaho, which hasn't won a game, dropped its eighth straight, bowing 3-2 to Washington State.

Washington managed only six hits off Oregon's Trent Huls. Two of them were back-to-back doubles in the seventh inning scoring Ed Sage with the Huskies' only run. A two-run homer in the fourth and fifth inning doubles by Jim Johnson and John Keller accounted for Oregon's tallies.

The loss sent Washington home to Seattle from a road trip that produced more runs than most teams score in the average season. The Huskies won Monday, crushing Oregon 18-2. That was their only win of the trip and was in the pattern of the 17-6 and 32-7 defeats inflicted by Oregon State Friday and Saturday.

A dropped fly ball set the stage for Idaho's loss at Pullman. The Vandals led 2-1 as WSC came up for its final turn at bat in the ninth. Stan Poppe singled, went to second when an Idaho fielder dropped Earl McIntosh's fly and was bunted home. Ron Eakin's single scored McIntosh.

Fans Stop Worrying About Rocky's Foes

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — It will be possible now for the nation's boxing fans to settle back and start worrying about the heavyweights of the world. Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles on June 17 without having to worry about whether their latest heart throb, Hurricane Jackson, is being done out of his rights.

Jimmy Slade, the happy character from Harlem, attended to that when he punched the latest television hero full of holes here the other night. It was reminiscent of the job Kid Gavilan did on Chuck Davey at the time the collegian was on the point of being declared the world champion welterweight by popular acclaim.

Jackson, like Davey before him, had looked unbeatable and positively lethal as he disposed of such name heavyweights as Clarence Henry, Rex Layne and Dan Bucceroni in startling succession before national audiences. The 22-year-old seminovice from Long Island had almost overnight been acclaimed the country's No. 3 fighting man.

It was easy to believe too, watching the relentless, tireless young Negro batter down his seasoned opponents. Even the professionals, such as Jack Dempsey, became excited over Hurricane. Even some of them thought he might already be the destroyer that Joe Louis was at his age, so it was small wonder that the parlor and barroom experts were infected.

The story now goes that the promoter at Eastern Parkway, Teddy Brenner, who had "made" the Hurricane with his nationally televised shows, had a strong hunch that Slade, though only a blow-up light heavyweight, could employ his unorthodox style to make the "phenomenon" look like a monkey.

Jackson's managers, it seems, had noticed Brenner that they were quitting him to go big time and fight Charley Norkus for the International Boxing Club in the Garden May 28. In view of this larger opportunity, they suggested that Brenner tear up a contract they had signed, before their tiger stopped Bucceroni, for a subsequent meeting with Slade.

As Brenner had dropped a bundle on the Bucceroni bout through having guaranteed Bucceroni $10,000, the promoter said no. He wanted a chance to get his money back, and he knew only necessary chore, and he had his aforementioned hunch, even though the odds makers thought he was dead wrong.

He looked perplexed at times, as though he suspected his smaller tormentor of using four gloves. At any rate, it made for a highly entertaining evening, and both Marciano and Charles can relax for a while.

Class B Softballers Hold Playoffs

Over 200 Class B softball players from the city grade schools took part in last Saturday's softball sports day held at Conger and Wright Fields.

The teams were selected with each school represented on a quad, and four leagues were formed. Each team was named after some professional ball club. In the American League, the White Sox beat out four other teams to win their league by a 4-0 score in the round robin play-off.

Members of the White Sox were: Ken Hawkins, Doug Sackett, Dennis Johnson, Clarence Jenkins, Keith Baxter, Liston Purvine, Richard Hornby, Leroy Neat, Steve Moen and Joe Pynes.

The National League was won by the Dodgers with a 4-0 record. This league as well as the American League was played on Conger Field.

Members of the Dodgers were: Ted Puckett, Rudy Jeschke, Pat Carney, Cecil Sommers, Bob Shaw, Henry Herrera, Robert Kenyon, Gary Zumwalt, Jimmy Scapple and Bob Thompson.

In a series of games that was played at Wright Field the Cardinals took top place in the Eastern League playoffs by a 4-0 count over the other members of their league.

The Cards were made up of: Ted Albert, Charles Berger, John Tompkins, Dave Bergman, Duane Wilson, James Peterson, Larry Ramsey, Don Ward, Floyd Tipton
