

WALL STREET
NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market sank into an irregular price pattern Wednesday after higher start.

The mixed range broadened out as the session progressed and covered around 2 points in either direction.

Trading picked up speed during rising phases of the session and came to an estimated two million shares. That compares with 1,900,000 shares traded Tuesday when the market was rising.

Stockman Winner In GOP Primary

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Returns from yesterday's primary pushed Arvin Stockton, Raton stockman and legislator, into an impressive lead over Socorro Mayor Holm O. Bursum for the Republican nomination for governor of New Mexico early today.

The unofficial Associated Press count from two thirds of the state 944 voting divisions gave Stockton a 41-year-old bachelor, a lead of 9,225 to 8,527 over Bursum, 47, who had the support of leaders of Gov. Edwin L. Mechem's administration. Mechem proclaimed himself a neutral.

The winner of the GOP contest, one of the few to arouse much interest in an otherwise listless campaign, will contend next November against Democrat John F. Simms Jr., 37-year-old Albuquerque lawyer, unopposed in the primary.

The general election will pit Mechem against incumbent Democrat Clinton P. Anderson for Anderson's seat in the U. S. Senate. Both men, recognized as champion vote getters in their parties, were unopposed for nomination.

Similarly, the Democratic incumbents in the House, Representatives John J. Dempsey and A. M. Fernandez, were unopposed for re-nomination. Their Republican opponents, apparent winners in a three-man field, will be former Roswell Mayor Warren Cobean and Thomas H. Childers of Santa Fe.

Despite Mechem's professed neutrality, a Stockton victory would be construed as a setback for statehouse administration forces. Stockton's greatest support came from fellow legislators and younger elements in the party.

Cordon Forest Bill Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Clackamas County Commissioners Stan Skoko and Robert Jones Tuesday told the Senate Interior Committee they oppose a bill by Sen. Guy Cordon (R-Ore) which would settle the disputed administration of Western Oregon timber lands.

Cordon's bill would place administration of the timber lands of the Forest Service, but revenue from timber sales would be distributed on the Oregon and California re-vested lands formula of 75 per cent to the counties and 25 per cent to the federal government.

The bill also provides for exchanging of intermingling holdings of National Forest and O&C lands. Skoko said the bill should definitely state that the disputed land actually is O&C land as the 18 Oregon counties and courts contend.

Jones said the bill gives the impression that the 472,000 acres involved still are a government-owned surplus of 360 million pounds of butter.

Group Urges Saving Ship

PORTLAND (AP)—The Portland Retail Trade Bureau Tuesday wired the Oregon congressional delegation, asking efforts to save what is left of the Battleship Oregon.

But it got an answer from Rep. Angell that little is left and the cost of returning it to Portland would be excessive.

The Oregon was a museum in Portland Harbor before World War II. In that war its superstructure was razed for metal and its hull was converted to a barge. It now is a rusting hulk in the harbor at Guam.

Sen. Gordon reported getting a rough estimate from the Navy that it would cost 24 million dollars to restore the old ship.

The matter came up after Congress Monday approved the saving from ruin of the USS Constellation and the USS Hartford.

Benson Urges Butter Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson appealed Wednesday for help from Congress in developing plans for disposing of a government-owned surplus of 360 million pounds of butter.

The secretary told the House Agriculture Committee the department has been unable to hit on a plan that did not have many drawbacks.

He estimated that efforts to halt the accumulation of dairy products under a price support program and to dispose of present surpluses will in all probability involve a cost, over the next 12 months, of half a billion dollars or more.

Benson said the department had gone into several possibilities of pushing the surplus butter into consumer channels at reduced prices. Included was a one-cent-a-pound sales plan under which the consumer would get one pound of surplus butter at one cent for every pound of commercial butter bought at the regular price.

Another was a "blended" price plan under which the government would sell its butter at low prices to distributors and allow them to sell it, along with commercial butter at an average price of the two.

He said that without any disposal plan it is likely that stocks at the end of the year would be double the present 360 million pounds.

and passing a state law.

Each club in the state is eligible to send two delegates. The clubs prepare original bills to sponsor before the state youth legislature. Delegates go through a seven to eight months of preparation, getting training and experience in public speaking, familiarizing themselves with legislative procedure, committee procedure, rules and regulations.

On February 24, a pre-legislative assembly was held in Ashland, at which Alan Pederson was elected reading clerk of the Senate; Janis Bubb, chairman of a legislative committee. The girls will serve in these capacities during the two-day legislative session.

A coaching session for state and legislative officers will be held Thursday, preceding the legislative session. The legislature will meet Friday morning, with an introduction by Governor Paul Patterson before the youth governor assumes the chair. After the opening formalities, bills will be referred to committees of the respective houses. Final committee action may include recommendations "to pass," "to kill" or "to refer."

Youth and government programs are conducted in 20 states of the union at the present time. To date, there have been at least three cases in which youth government bills have been picked up by legislators and later passed.

The Klamath Falls delegates will be accompanied on their trip by Mrs. Lloyd Forter, Mrs. H. O. Juckland and Paul Campbell, director of the YMCA.

McCarthy Letter Said Phony One

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army counsel derided as "a perfect phony" Wednesday the letter Sen. McCarthy injected into hearings on his row with Army officials and identified by McCarthy as a communication from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to the Army on Jan. 26, 1951.

McCarthy scrapped back that the substance was essentially the same as warnings the FBI had sent the Army about security risks and radar secrets.

This was not disputed by the one man in the hearing room with the most knowledge about the matter—Robert A. Collier, a member of special counsel for the Senate investigations subcommittee.

Collier was given the job of checking up on the document after McCarthy produced it late Tuesday.

The committee attorney went to the witness chair to give his report. He testified he had taken the document to Hoover and that the FBI director had told him:

"This letter produced yesterday is not a carbon copy or copy of any communication prepared or sent by the FBI to Gen. Bolling Jan. 26, 1951, or any other date."

McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, McCarthy's counsel, had described the three-page document Tuesday as a copy of a letter from Hoover to Maj. Gen. A. R. Bolling, dated Feb. 26, 1951, when Bolling was intelligence chief for the Army.

Collier testified Hoover told him there is in the FBI files a 15-page inter-departmental memorandum, written in a different form and with no signature at all.
