It Happened This Way in New Pine Creek

By IRVIN FARIS Many local sportsmen, angling for joy as well as for the "big ones," availed themselves of the splendid 4 o'clock "Fisherman's Breakfast" last Saturday morning put on by members of the VFW for the opening of the fishing season. The event was held in the old Antler's Tavern which was recently purchased by the Vets for a meeting place and will, in the future, be known as the VFW Hall.

Breakfast plates went for a buck a throw and they went like "hot cakes." But why shouldn't they? They were just loaded with hot cakes, garnished with bacon and eggs.

Layton Gentry and Jesse Lightie, two local vets who were just two out of several others who made the thing a success, rolled out at 3 a.m. to get the fires kindled and the coffee brewing. Leon Pochop and "Buster" Cundiff, the sour-dough kings, got the hot cake batter mixed and handled that delectable breakfast staple in a masterful manner. The undertaking was a courageous adventure on that cold, shivery morning and a fitting service to a little community where all-night restaurants are not.

The breakfast and the dance which was also given by the Vets Saturday evening—where all the Nimrods could exchange their tall stories of how that big one got away, netted around $80. It was a strenuous day for them "cause after all they had to get in some fishing too. The proceeds of the day will go toward paying for the hall.

Favorite fishing spots were scattered over a wide area but lake fishing seemed to have a little edge over the stream fishing even though the latter was better, perhaps, than other years due to the cold spell which slowed up the muddy run-off. Fair catches were reported from Annie Lake, Cave Lake, Blue Lake and Lake Lasson Creek which was the Mecca for the big old fashioned Goose Lake trout fishing where several limits were reported having been lifted. Drews Creek was reported good for the opening morning where Verle Cook and Wade Thompson got their limits early. But on Sunday the big fish must of all schooled up in some hidden Sunday School as very few fish were hooked that day. Nowhow—where deep, bottom fishing with a rigid pole is a definite advantage, figures in strong in garnering those big old fellas, too.

Ed Hartzog and Bill Smith played "freeze-out" and pitched camp over on Twelve Mile. They almost froze out but they came home Sunday with two fine limits. George Perkins, accompanied by Ft. Bidwell's Bok, were among those who went to Annie Lake but being less courageous and more prone toward the comforts of life, spent most of their time around a quickly kindled fire. Didn't even float their boat and felt lucky to escape the frigitly with their lives.

to say nothing of the one or two fish a piece they snagged. That, however, is far more courageous than my story. My license is still in the book along with Major Hoyle's—who also loves the comforts.

George E. Obenchain, 76, rough and ready old cowboy who was well liked here but perhaps better known in Klamath County, died last Sunday morning at the Lakeview hospital. After having been on the road to recovery from an earlier siege of sickness when he was taken to the hospital week ago last Thursday, he was brought home last Wednesday evening feeling much better. But within two hours he took a sudden turn for the worse and lapsed into unconsciousness. The disaster car was called from Lakeview and he was taken back to the hospital, still unconscious, from which condition he never recovered.

Eight tables of pinocle were enjoyed at the Eastern Star Cancer Fund card party held in the Grange Hall last Friday evening. It was both a social and financial success. Chairman Ethel Cundiff reported that around $39 was realized from this very pleasant event—one of the first of its kind to have been staged here.

Roy Markstrom of Willow Ranch won high prize for the men and Mrs. Buna Faris won high for the ladies; Lee Bernard won the traveling prize and Roy Millsap won the door prize—a lovely cake. Kelton Butler, who has been a meat cutter at the Lakeview Frozen Foods for the past several months, Monday took over the meat department at the Market in Lakeview. Don Butler is assisting Mrs. Barnett at the Frozen Foods until a new meat cutter has been obtained.

The Ceramics Club was entertained at a work fest held last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Buna Faris. "I don't know what was accomplished but it was quite apparent that they had a very good time doing it. A very pleasant pastime it is and a splendid idea for achieving pottery at cost and giving each item a touch of individuality for personal gifts and room decoration. The social part of the club is no small item either for they really do have a good time. Each have their laughs, surprises at how their color combinations turn out and their heartbreaks when some little sweet thing gets an ear or a leg knocked off—for during the painting process which is the stage when the ladies make their selections and take over, the freshly cast clay figures are extremely delicate.

Mrs. Maude Butler has been indisposed for the past week with an arthritic back which has been quite painful. Yesterday she was able to walk around a bit and the pain wasn't quite so sharp as it has been, it was reported. Jim Mulvey left the Walker Air Base in New Mexico at around noon last Friday and arrived here about 8:30 the next day, Saturday evening, establishing, possibly, some sort of a record.

During the elapse of the 32 hours it took him to negotiate the 1550 miles he was held up for four hours in Florida, Arizona, where a blinding snow storm blocked the traffic. In the foot of snow that fell cars wrecked and turned over by the ditch, were sideways in the highway and every other way for about a four mile stretch, Jim said. He also encountered a bad sand storm and a very hard rain storm enroute. Otherwise nothing held him back and in his 28 hours of driving time he averaged about 55 miles per hour. But that's understandable when you see that fine little month old boy he was wantin' to see and his wife, the former Patricia Riggs was also anxious to see him. She will return to Walker Base with him at the expiration of his 39 day furlough.

New Bids Asked For Dalles Dam WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional sources said Friday the secretary of Army has decided to ask new bids for 16 governors for use in the Dalles Dam power plant on the Columbia River. The original bids, opened Jan. 12, prompted protests from various congressmen after a Japanese firm, Hitachi, Ltd., of Tokyo, submitted a low bid of $1,073,572. The new bids will be advertised in the Portland district of Army Engineers.
