THE FIRST FOREST FIRE IN TIMBER on the Klamath Indian Reservation burned approximately 45 acres Tuesday afternoon. Only a small amount of timber was destroyed, except the small pole size, since most of the fire was on an old burn or along edges in heavy brush. The fire was located about one half mile east of the old Bray Mill siding, approximately 5 miles north of Chiloquin. Men and equipment from the Forestry Department at Klamath Agency, and Southern Pacific section crewmen fought the blaze which probably started about 2 p.m. Flames were under control by about 4:30 p.m.
