Parole Plans For Jordan Reported

SALEM (AP)—The State Parole Board said Wednesday it plans to parole Theodore Jordan, 48, serving a life sentence for the murder of a Southern Pacific railroad dining car conductor in Klamath Falls in 1932.

H. M. Randall, parole director, said the board has taken tentative action to parole Jordan, and that final action will be taken when and if a job is lined up for him and if Jordan accepts the terms of the parole.

Jordan originally was sentenced to hang for the holdup-murder of F. T. Sullivan. However, Gov. Julius Meier commuted the sentence on July 2, 1934, after a commission appointed by him held that there could be doubt as to Jordan's guilt.

This action followed protests from around the nation that Jordan had been framed because he was a Negro. A "Save Theodore Jordan Anti-Lynch Committee" was active and the governor got more than 10,000 letters and cards asking clemency.

Two years ago Chicago police reported being told by Mrs. Alice Gilbert Borden, 51, that her former husband, Sears Gilbert, confessed the killing before his death in 1937. An investigation turned up nothing in support of her story.

Jordan has been an exemplary prisoner the past few years, being a trusty at the prison farm.

However, his prison record was bad during the first dozen years he was in prison. He was the ringleader in a series of fires which burned down prison flax sheds with a loss of more than $500,000.

An unlettered man when he entered prison, Jordan educated himself through correspondence courses. He completed many at the college level.

Randall said prison authorities recommended him highly for parole.

Daughter, Mother To Be Reunited

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP)—A mother and daughter who for the last 35 years had believed the other dead will be reunited at Grants Pass, Ore.

They are Mrs. Walter J. Bowden, who operates a cafe at Grants Pass, and Mrs. Helen Noll, 39, Leavenworth, wife of a sheet metal worker.

They became separated 36 years ago at Wichita when the mother put her three small children—Walter, Helen and Charles Bird—aboard a train bound for an orphanage at Atchison after the death of their father in World War I.

Mrs. Noll talked to Mrs. Bowden by telephone Wednesday and learned that the mother had gone through the years believing her children had died.

When Mrs. Noll told Mrs. Bowden she was her daughter, the Oregon woman exclaimed: "Oh, my God, it can't be. 'It must be,' Mrs. Noll replied. 'I am your daughter.'"

The mother was overcome by emotion and someone else took over the telephone.

Arrangements were made for Mrs. Noll and her husband, Maurice, to fly to Grants Pass Thursday.

The reunion is the result of an invitation Mrs. Noll received from a cousin, James O. Ford of Garden City, Kan., to attend a Ford family reunion at Kingman, Kan., May 23.

In replying, Mrs. Noll recalled that her mother's maiden name was Ford and gave as many facts as possible about her background.

The cousin had also been in contact with Mrs. Bowden and from information he had gathered he believed they were mother and daughter.

Mrs. Noll said her youngest brother, Walter, died about a year ago. Charles, an older brother, lives in Wichita.

Mrs. Noll's husband is employed by Trans World Airlines in Kansas City. Mrs. Noll works in the cafeteria at the Sunshine Biscuit Co., in Kansas City.

Awarded By Commission

Three awards were made by the Oregon State Highway Commission in Portland Wednesday for highway construction in Klamath County.

They include: Construction of the Willamette Junction-Walker Mountain and Chemult-Beaver Marsh units, awarded to the Rogers Construction Company, Portland for $444,349. Grading slope on Modoc Point-Barkley Springs section of The Dalles-California Highway, F. O. Laws, Salem, for $37,000.

Paving of five miles of The Dalles-California Highway about 32 miles south of Chemult and 25 miles north of Klamath Falls. The successful bidder was the Acme Construction Company, Eugene for $88,721.

In other action the commission authorized the sale of a half acre of land at Keno to the Klamath County School District for use as a grade school athletic field.

The Bureau of Public Roads, the forest service and the highway commission approved the spending of over two million dollars on forest roads in Oregon for the fiscal year 1955.

The commission took under advisement a proposal from the State Industrial Development Commission that the highway commission attempt to unify the tourist promotion campaigns in the state.

Adams said any special consideration for Schine stemmed only from the McCarthy subcommittee's picturing him as essential to its work, and that any special deference for McCarthy was a matter of trying to avoid "open hostility."

Adams was back in the witness chair at the McCarthy-Army hearings for the second day—this time for cross-examination.

At the outset, he swore Secretary of the Army Stevens never instructed him to try to halt the McCarthy inquiry into alleged security risks at Monmouth and that he never attempted to stop it.

But he said, as Stevens did earlier, that they wanted the "type of hearings" ended. Stevens had characterized those hearings as "hammering" the Army on the head.

For the rest of the forenoon session, Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel to the Senate investigations committee, pressed questions which turned largely about these contentions.

Jenkins climaxed this phase of his cross-examination by asking whether Adams was saying the Army had "no desire, however slight" to stop the McCarthy investigation. Jenkins asked for a yes or no answer.

Adams hesitated. He asked that the question be read back to him by the stenographer. When it was read, he said "The answer is in the negative" and went on to

Army Counselor Denies Trying To Stop McCarthy Red Probe At Ft. Monmouth

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Counselor John G. Adams insisted Thursday the Army had no desire to stop the McCarthy subcommittee's investigation of Ft. Monmouth although he conceded it was pleased when the prospect of a suspension arose last fall.

And he denied the Army (1) ever engaged in "trading favors" for Pvt. G. David Schine in an effort to get the investigation stopped, or (2) sought to "appease" Sen. McCarthy.

Adams said any special consideration for Schine stemmed only from the McCarthy subcommittee's picturing him as essential to its work, and that any special deference for McCarthy was a matter of trying to avoid "open hostility."

Adams hesitated. He asked that the question be read back to him by the stenographer. When it was read, he said "The answer is in the negative" and went on to make an explanatory statement as to the desire for an end to the "type of hearings."

Leading up to this point, Jenkins: 1. Recalled that Adams had testified Wednesday he was disturbed when Roy Cohn, general counsel to the McCarthy subcommittee, became enraged at being barred from a secret radar laboratory at Monmouth last fall. He noted Adams had said his concern was because he felt Cohn had the power to prolong the investigation. Jenkins asked if that wasn't "an admission or confession" that Adams wanted the investigation terminated.

Adams declared it was not. He said McCarthy had volunteered previously that the subcommittee investigation was about complete; that it was preparing to turn it over to the Army.

2. Recalled that Adams had testified a Nov. 6 luncheon at the Pentagon, attended by Stevens, Adams, McCarthy, Cohn and Francis P. Carr, staff investigator for the McCarthy subcommittee, was arranged to "further pursue" McCarthy's earlier statement that the hearings might be terminated. Jenkins suggested that indicated the Army wanted the hearings ended. Adams insisted that was not a "fair assumption"; that other circumstances figured in the luncheon.

3. Jenkins asked if it wasn't "appetizing" when Adams and Stevens reversed Maj. Gen. C. E. Ryan, commander at Ft. Dix, N. J., and ordered Ryan to give a weekend pass to Schine, former McCarthy aide and son of a wealthy New York family who was drafted last fall.

Adams had testified Wednesday that Ryan called him on Nov. 18 and reported the agreement to make Schine available for McCarthy subcommittee work was getting "out of hand." Ryan was quoted as saying he feared Schine would be seen off the post not on subcommittee business.

Two Injured In Car Smash

A new 1954 Chrysler Coupe was totally wrecked early this morning when the driver, Wyatt Taylor, 3507 Adeline, Oakland, California, lost control of the car on the curve at the intersection of the Crater Lake Highway and 97, south of the Chiloquin junction.

A passenger, Milling Mills, 2048 Stanton, Berkeley, California, asleep in the back seat, was thrown through the rear window when the car turned over and landed against a tree. Both men were brought to the Klamath Valley Hospital by Kaiser's Ambulance Service and treated for minor cuts and bruises. Both were released.

According to Oregon State Police the car skidded for a distance of 245 feet before turning over.

Floods Hit In Oklahoma

WAURIKA, Okla. (AP)—More than 100 persons remained homeless today in a flood which caused the near-drowning of three teen-agers.

Rampaging Cow and Beaver creeks, perennial flood threats in southwestern Oklahoma, overflowed yesterday into the northern residential area. Flood waters lapped two blocks over in the business district.

The Lincoln schoolhouse, located in a V formed by the creeks, exploded and burned last night. Authorities said boiler fires were extinguished by the water and a gas explosion followed.

The area had been evacuated long before.

Underheriff Simon Kennedy said three teen-agers, Lavon L. Rogers, Leslie Gay and Helen Gay, were pulled from the streams after their boat capsized. They suffered from shock and exposure.

The homeless were given shelter in public buildings and the homes of friends.

THERE'S GROUND WORK, too, when it comes to installing the new Omnirange station at the local airport. Here Russ Avery, airport manager, (left) looks while E. M. Reds Accuse British Aide

LONDON (AP)—Russia Thursday accused a British major now in London of spying on her military secrets and said he could not return to his post in Moscow.

The Soviet charge came just six days after Britain accused two assistant air attaches at the Russian Embassy in London of attempting to engage in spy activities. The two, both majors in the Red air force, were given 10 days to leave the country.

The Foreign Office identified the Briton as Maj. Charles R. P. London, an assistant military attaché in this country's Moscow embassy.

A spokesman said the British government remains "unimpressed" by the Soviet espionage charge. In the Foreign Office view the Kremlin action was in retaliation for the British demand that the two Soviet majors leave.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik told the Foreign Office Wednesday his government rejected the charges against the two majors, identified as Maj. Ivan Pupyshov, 36, and Maj. Andrei Gudkov, 37. The Kremlin envoy added, however, they would be withdrawn from London.

London is at present vacationing in Britain.

The Foreign Office said he would not return to his post.

Parents Group Elects Leader

C. Bus Larkin was elected president of Parents and Patrons at the meeting Wednesday night held in the Little Theater at KUHS.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Floyd Boyd, first vice president; Mrs. George Grundy, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Cooper, secretary and Homer Ellis, treasurer.

Outgoing President Bob Thompson conducted the installation of the new officers.

Plans for the senior banquet to be held at the Willard Hotel on Friday night, May 21, were told to the group by Mrs. Richard Maxwell.

Bidault Urges U.N. Control

By EDDY GILMORE
GENEVA (AP)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault told the 19-nation Korean conference Thursday Korea must be reunited through United Nations-controlled elections.

Speaking for the first time in the Korean discussion, Bidault said reunification should be guaranteed by an all-Korean commission in which both North and South Korea would be represented in proportion to their population.

Bidault called upon the North Koreans to show a sincere desire for the creation of a united, democratic and independent Korea. He said the United Nations is the most qualified organization to designate observers to watch the proposed elections.

Replying to Communist allegations that the United Nations had become "an accomplice of an aggressor country," Bidault declared such a statement is neither truthful nor provable. He added: "To accept this would be in effect to deny on our part the very principles of the international organization in which we have placed our hopes and in the service of which we have placed our forces."

The French minister said that it was evident North Korea had committed the aggression by suddenly penetrating the territory of its neighbor in armed force without previous recourse to any procedure of conciliation or arbitration and without any warning.

Bidault said he wanted to set forth two principles which the French delegation considers fundamental:

1. No project on Korea's unification is conceivable if it does not include a real, effective guarantee that all representation of the Korean people within the common organs which might be instituted will be proportional to the numbers of citizens consulted in each part of the country.

2. It will be extremely necessary, if these elections can be considered as valid, that the conditions of the freedom of ballot be verified and attested by neutral observers endowed with sufficient powers of control."

Earlier, the 16 nations which fought under the United Nations flag in Korea were reported to have considered at a private session the question of winding up the Korean phase of the Geneva conference.

Top diplomats of the 16 met for more than an hour to work out plans for how and when to write off this part of the conference as a failure. There was no immediate word as to whether they actually decided on a cutoff date. But informed Western sources said the 16 were generally agreed there was no possibility of a negotiated settlement with the Communists of the Korean problem at this time.

Reds Asked To Release POWs

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The U. N. Command Thursday asked the Communists to release or account for 55 foreign nationals last reported in Red hands and renewed a demand for 3,405 Allied soldiers they insist were war prisoners at one time.

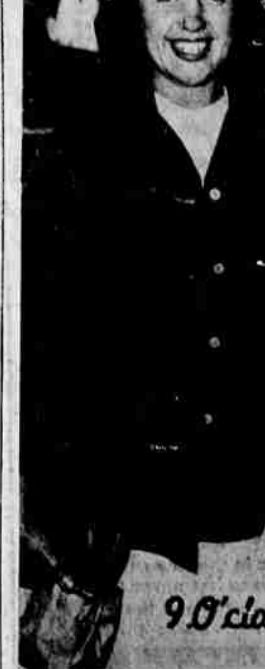

The 55 foreign nationals—31 of them missionaries—were named in a list submitted to the Communists at a meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission.

The Allies have demanded an accounting of the service personnel several times since the exchange of war prisoners last year.
