

MR. AND MRS. T. JAMES RILEY... 522 North Fifth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Caroline, to Ronald (Ronnie) Blind, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erhardt J. Blind, 5005 South Sixth.

The betrothal was previously revealed to friends at Sacred Heart School of Nursing in Eugene, where Caroline is in training. Ronnie is a junior in the school of accounting at the University of Oregon, and is affiliated with Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. No date has been set.

Caroline was chosen by her longtime school chum Marlene Owens to be a bridesmaid at her wedding to Dick Cullen (story in today's society section), but was unable to make connections.

St. Paul's Episcopal Scene Of Impressive Cullen-Owen Rites

The aisle in St. Paul's Episcopal Church was marked with white bows leading to the chancel decorated with white tapers in floor candelabra back of large arrangements of white stock with contrasting green foliage; and smaller similar arrangements were on the altar for the wedding of Marlene Sue Owens to Richard E. Cullen, April 26; which is also the bridegroom's mother's birthday.

The Rev. Galen Onstad read the 7:30 p.m. service uniting the daughter of Mrs. William Owens, Lakeshore Drive; and William Owens, San Antonio, Texas; to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Cullen, 2249 White.

Mrs. R. J. Sullivan was organist for the wedding.

The bride was given in marriage by Ernest (Moon) Mullis, close friend of the family. She wore a dress of white nylon net over tulle with a fitted bodice dotted with a small star design — and applied embroidered daisies outlined the low round neckline. The sleeves were long and pointed at the wrist. The same embroidered net was gathered full into a floor length apron effect in front joined to the sweeping trains of net over satin; a continuation of the gathered back of the skirt.

Her fingertip veil was gathered to a crescent shaped head band of seed pearls secured with narrow seed pearl covered comb. Her hands (three on each side). Her bouquet was a small arrangement of phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis tied with white streamers atop a white ribbon.

Jana Langelet, friend from childhood, came from the University of Portland to serve as maid of honor. She wore a pink ankie length dress of tulle — with a fitted bodice, low round neck and full skirt. Her nosegay was of carnations; white with scattered touches of pink.

Alice Geary, also friend from childhood as are the other two bridesmaids, left her studies at Stanford University to serve as bridesmaid at the Monday wedding. She wore a blue tulle dress in the same style as the maid of honor's; and her carnation nosegay had touches of blue on the white. Trudy Bramlett and Jackie Hayden, the other bridesmaids, wore in pink and blue respectively; with touches of pink in Trudy's nosegay; and blue in Jackie's.

Flower girls were the bridegroom's sister, Kathryn Cullen; and Kathleen Jobe. Michael Jobe was ring bearer.

Forrest D. Cullen Jr., served his brother as best man; and ushering were Gerry Haney, Garry Haney and Lloyd Fields.

Mrs. Owens chose a two-piece white lace over aqua dress for her daughter's wedding; and she wore a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Cullen's dress was also two-piece in dark blue, accented with a pink rosebud corsage.

The reception was in the parish hall of the church immediately after the ceremony. At the coffee service were Sharon Hayford and Myrtle Theroux. Dorothy Myratt served the punch. Mrs. Ernest Mullis cut the cake; and Mrs. Lloyd Fields registered the guests.

The popular couple honeymooned on the coast; and for travel Marlene wore a gray tailored skirt with a box jacket of gray-blue and white tulle. Dick is in the Marine Corps stationed at Camp Pendleton near Oceanside where they will live.

Bunny days before the nuptials included a bridal dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Geary at their home on the Rocky Point Road, Sunday, April 25, for about 16.

The rehearsal dinner was given the day of the wedding, when Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bramlett, 221 North Ninth, entertained with a 5:30 p.m. buffet for the wedding party at their home.

After the couple returned, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Haney and family, 5523 Shasta Way, were acting hosts for a potluck supper, when some 30 friends assembled to greet the new Mr. and Mrs. Cullen the day
