Reds Build Up Air Power On Mainland Near Formosa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China's air command is reported to have concentrated a substantial force of jet fighters and light bombers along the mainland coast opposite Formosa, seat of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government.

That buildup apparently has been made since the Korean War's end allowed diversion of air power from Manchuria.

The Red buildup in Chekiang province consists almost entirely of MIG 15 fighters and IL28 twin-jet bombers, information reaching Washington indicates.

Although the shift is receiving attention here, there was no indication today that officials were unduly alarmed over prospects of an immediate move against Formosa. The redeployment appears to have been gradual, a part of a broader program which has sent even larger numbers of aircraft to fields in southern China, close to the Indo-China border.

The United States still is holding fast to its policy of promising sea and air aid to head off any invasion attempt by the Reds against Formosa.

Dispatches from the Far East report Red air sorties over islands off the China mainland which have been seized and held by amphibious forces of Generalissimo Chiang with Nationalist planes challenging these Red air movements. But there has been nothing suggesting direct invasion attempts against Formosa itself.

While Washington officials were reluctant to discuss details of the policy for the Formosa-China mainland area, the indications are that strikes against the small offshore islands currently held by Chiang's troops would not be considered a reason for involving U.S. ships or aircraft. Most of the island positions held by Nationalist troops now were taken after the mosan protection policy in 1950, at the start of the Korean War.

Weather Wet On East Coast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More rain fell Friday along the Atlantic Coast and in parts of the Rockies but fair weather prevailed in most other sections of the country.

Although cool weather continued from the Mississippi to the East Coast there was a warming trend in the Midwest, which has been chilled with below seasonal temperatures for several days.

The wet belt in the East extended from North Carolina to Southern Maine with heavy falls in some parts of Virginia. The showers in the Rocky Mountains generally were light.

It was warmer in Montana early Friday than in Northern Florida, with a reading of 75 at Great Falls compared to 59 at Jacksonville. At the same time it was 85 at Las Vegas, Nev. and a chilly 26 at Cadillac, Mich.

Readings in the 50s were common from Maine to Northern Florida while the Gulf States and Southern Florida reported temperatures in the 70s. Readings in the 50s were reported in the Central Plains, the upper Mississippi Valley and along the West Coast while they were in the 60s and 70s in the Northern Rockies.
