

Summer Music School Planned

The Altamont Junior High School is offering summer music classes to students who desire to begin the study of an instrument or receive additional instruction if they already play. All classes will be held in the Altamont Junior High School and will be conducted by Ron Hall who is highly recommended by those who have studied under him. He plays all brass and reed instruments.

The summer school will be open on Monday, June 7, and continue through Friday, July 16. Tuition for the entire six weeks course is $15, payable at the time of registration.

Instruments may be rented from the Derby Music Company or Kyle Morgan Pianos.

A. D. (DEB) ADDISON, advertising manager of the Herald and News, was elected president of Pacific Northwest Newspaper Advertising Executives Association, succeeding John Lecky, of the Vancouver (B.C.) Sun, at the annual convention held last weekend in Portland. He served as vice president of PNNAAE for the current year. Last week he was elected also to the board of directors of Oregon Advertising Club at Portland.

PTA SUMMERS

Summers School PTA held its last meeting of the school year on May 14 at the school, with the newly elected officers conducting the meeting. Mrs. Don Phelps is the new president; Mrs. W. E. Halston, vice president; Mrs. Troy Chambers, secretary; and Mrs. D. H. Nichols, treasurer.

Mrs. W. E. Halston gave a report on her attendance at the State PTA convention which was held in Salem in April. William Kuriz, Summers School principal, announced that the PTA helped purchase for the school, had arrived and would be installed so the children would be able to enjoy them before the end of the school year.

Entertainment for the meeting was furnished by all children of the school demonstrating 101 dancing which they had learned in physical education classes this spring.

Refreshments were served by the new officers.
