

New York Giants Cautious Over Win Streak

Chicago Edges Cleveland

By BEN PILEGAR
AP Sports Writer

New York Giant fans, still basking in the fading glories of 1951, bragged today about a five-game winning streak, then cautiously crossed their fingers. Brooklyn's coming.

The Dodgers invaded the Polo Grounds for a three-game series starting tomorrow night against a Giant club that has been showing more signs of life than most expected.

Leo Durocher's athletes have tended to streaks this spring and the last five days have been one of their good periods. By whipping Pittsburgh 2-1 yesterday they took over second place, a game and a half behind Milwaukee.

MAKE OR BREAK
The Brooklyn series won't make or break the Giants. But if they happen to sweep three games, or even gain a 2-1 edge in decisive fashion, they'll find themselves in the midst of the hottest pennant talk since they knocked off Brooklyn three years ago.

In yesterday's game New York got only four hits, a single and a home run by weak-hitting Davey Williams and two doubles by Willie Mays. Williams' single figured in the first run; his homer provided the winning margin.

Mays' hitting has been one of the brightest features of the current streak. He's raised his average from .260 to .304 with 10 hits in his last 15 times at bat. Included were two homers, three triples and two doubles.

Brooklyn fell to third last night, half a game behind the Giants. In a game of league-leading Cleveland by beating the Philadelphia Phillies 4-1. Milwaukee won its ninth straight, 7-6 over Cincinnati. Chicago crushed St. Louis 15-3.

SHADED
In the American League the Chicago White Sox closed to within half a game of league-leading Cleveland by beating the Philadelphia Phillies 4-1.

Washington shaded New York 2-1. Detroit handed Baltimore its sixth loss in succession, 6-3, and Philadelphia shaded Boston 6-3 in 10 innings.

Two pitching streaks were broken. Robin Roberts, a loser in his last seven appearances against Brooklyn, went the route to victory in Ebbets Field despite a 10-10 record.

Lopat got beaten in the last of the ninth inning when with two out he gave up successive singles to Pete Runnels, Ed Fitz Gerald and pinch hitter Jim Lemon. The victory was the fifth straight for Bob Porterfield.

Cincinnati fell one run short of catching up with Milwaukee with a four-run rally in the eighth. The run that made the difference came in the top of the eighth on Danny O'Connell's double, an infield single and a single by Andy Patko, his fourth hit of the night.

Hank Sauer and Dee Fondy led the Chicago wrecking crew against the Cardinals. Sauer hit his 13th homer and drove in four runs. Fondy collected four hits, including a home run.

SECOND STRAIGHT
Chicago's second straight victory over Cleveland came in the last of the ninth when Cass Michaels slammed a Hal Newhouser pitch over Larry Doby's head in center field with the bases loaded.

The Indians had tied the score in the top of the eighth on a pinch-hit triple by Joe Ginzberg, his first hit of the season.

Art Houtteman opened the ninth as the Cleveland pitcher but was yanked in favor of Newhouser when he loaded the bases without getting anybody out. Newhouser retired one man on a force, the plate before Michaels unloaded.

Dus Zernial hit grand-slam home run for the Athletics, who finally edged Boston in the 10th on a pinch-hit single by Bill Renna. A double by Jim Piersall and long flies by Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen tied the score in the ninth.

George Zuverink got his first starting assignment of his major league career from Detroit and went the distance to victory over the slumping Orioles despite home runs by Vic Werz and Sam Mele.

HELENA, Mont., (AP) — Montana's Fish and Game Department had been experimenting one year to see how many trout would survive after a state hatchery planted them in a lake.

A few days before Montana's fishing season opened vandals released the fish — 25,000 cutthroat trout — into streams around northwestern Smith Lake. The year spent experimenting was a loss.

Davey Appears Finished

CHICAGO (AP) — To all intents and purposes, Chuck Davey appears through as a professional boxer, ending one of television's first births of a national sports hero.

Davey was more than self-made; he was television made.

He advanced undaunted through a series of warmups, backed by the International Boxing Club, until he reached the top—a title fight with welterweight champion Kid Gavilan 15 months ago.

His bubble, incubated with painstaking care with an eye on a national following born from television, was then burst by Gavilan, who stopped him in the 10th.

Vince Martinez last night in the same Chicago Stadium ring showed less mercy than Gavilan. He kept Davey, the ex-Michigan State collegiate champion, off balance with strong left jab—something unheard of by a right-hander against a southpaw like Chuck.

And when he threw his rights, the balding Davey was shaken down to his dancing feet. Davey went down four times—in the first round from a steaming right to the jaw; twice in the third from stiff left hooks, although Referee Frank Sikora ruled a slip on one of them; and again for an eight count in the sixth from a series of rights.

The nationally televised bout drew a ringside crowd of 3,385, who contributed to a gross rate of $10,667. Davey weighed 149 and Martinez 148½.

"It's a rough statement to make that Davey is through," said his manager, Hec Knowles, after the heartbroken boxer with a master's degree in education had been led to his dressing room.

"But I will recommend that he quit the ring now. He was 100 per cent in condition coming into this bout. What happened? I don't know. His legs, he didn't have it there. I asked that the bout be stopped after the doctor looked at Davey."

Aragon projected fight with Art Aragon (signed for June 25 in Los Angeles) is now out the window.

The defeat by 25-year-old Martinez, the 8-5 favorite from Paterson, N.J., and boxing's Rookie of the Year in 1952, left Davey making the first place in the press in his career.

"Listen, fellows, give me a break," he said in his dressing room. "Don't ask me if I'm going to quit. Let me sleep on it a couple of days. That Martinez has the best single punch of anyone I've met. He doesn't flurry like Gavilan, but that right of his—ouch! I have no excuses for losing."

Art Houtteman opened the ninth as the Cleveland pitcher but was yanked in favor of Newhouser when he loaded the bases without getting anybody out. Newhouser retired one man on a force, the plate before Michaels unloaded.

Prep Nines Ready For Tournament

ALBANY, Ore. (AP) — Oregon City and Roosevelt of Portland, were set for the opening game of the state high school baseball tournament here Thursday afternoon.

The second afternoon game pitted Willamette of Eugene against Hermiston. At night Milwaukee was to meet Grants Pass and Grant of Portland was to go against Albany.

Major interest was centered on the game between the two favorites, Grant and Albany. Grant, the Portland champion, was given a slight edge because of Bob Jacoby, the leading hitter of the state with a .56 average.

Albany, which won the championship two years ago, is paced by Jerry Hazelwood with a .422 average.

Aragon projected fight with Art Aragon (signed for June 25 in Los Angeles) is now out the window.

Tri-City Making Big Bid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Tri-City Braves, the Western International Baseball League's cellar club most of the season, continued their drive for a first division berth Wednesday night with a double victory over the Salem Senators.

The Braves, who crept out of the basement with a 5-2 win over the Senators Tuesday night, turned in 9-2 and 9-4 victories in Wednesday night's doubleheader at Kennewick. The double win lifted them to a spot behind the Yakima Bears and Spokane Indians, who are tied in fifth place.

Spokane, meanwhile, rebounded from Tuesday night's 6-0 shutout to edge Wenatchee 8-7 but it took the Indians 12 innings to subdue the stubborn Chiefs.

Two runs in the seventh inning ended the Indians' 17-inning scoring famine. They tied the game 8-8 with four runs in the bottom of the ninth and won it in the 12th when Bob Densley singled home Ted Hesse.

Vancouver and Edmonton split a doubleheader in the league's only other games. The Caps won the opener 5-2 and the Stampede took the nightcap 3-2. The split left Vancouver out in front of the league two full games.

Yakima and Lewiston were rained out at Lewiston and Calgary and Victoria were not scheduled.

Giardello, Bassett Slipping

NEW YORK (AP) — As a result of their recent setbacks in the ring and on the television screen, middleweight Joey Giardello and featherweight Percy Bassett, both of Philadelphia, Thursday were dropped from the positions as No. 1 challengers in the monthly Ring Magazine ratings of boxers.

Giardello, beaten by France's Pierre Langlois, was dropped to third place among the challengers in the middleweight division, where the ratings were completely reshuffled.

Rocky Castellani of Cleveland, who will meet champion 160-lb. Olson in a title bout at San Francisco in August, became the No. 1 man and busy Holly Mills of Washington advanced to No. 2 from the sixth spot.

Tiberio Mitry of Italy, who recently won the European middleweight title with a sensational 28 seconds knockout of former world champion Randy Turpin of England, is rated fourth. Turpin yielded fifth place to bobby Dawson and was dropped to ninth.

Langlois, on the strength of his victory over Giardello, returned to sixth place after being dropped from the ratings last month. Ralph (Tiger) Jones was the one dropped this time, going from third place clear out of the picture after losses to Jacques Royer and Pedro Gonzales.

Bassett's defeat by lightweight Orlando Zulueta cost him the No. 1 spot in the featherweight division. He now is rated second behind Baby Ortiz of Mexico.

NEW YORK (AP) — Following one of the coolest receptions in history from this country's boxing fraternity, Max Schmeling, the former world's heavyweight champion, is on his way back to Germany. The man who held the big title for almost exactly two years, from June 12 in 1930 to June 21 in 1932, may never be seen on these shores again.

The Black Uhlan's return to the scene of his fistic triumphs must have been a disheartening experience, even for a man who never was noted for his delicate sensibilities. Before he left he fully realized the trip had been a mistake, that he could not roll back the years.

Schmeling refereed a fight in Milwaukee, and it drew not a thing. He was to have stayed on and refereed a series of wrestling shows, but the promoters counted the Milwaukee house and thought better of it. Finally, as a sort of crowning rejection, the athlete who flourished in Hitler's day was firmly advised not to try to visit the training camps of Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles in the Catskills.

Though he protested to the last that he never had been a member of the Nazi party, he took the hint and said goodbye.

If, as is rumored, the ballplayers are planning to insist through their attorney, J. Norman Lewis, that the club owners cease employing private detectives to check upon their after hours activities, you may look for them to get turned down hard.

The owners feel that theirs is a very special relationship with their young employees, and that for the kind of salaries they pay they

BIRBERET IS BIG BARON
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Baseball fans here are raving about Lou Berberet, classy catcher for the Southern Stars. One of his biggest boosters is Aaron General manager Eddie Glennon. Says Glennon: "Lou's big and smart. He's a real glove artist. He has a rifle arm. knows how to put the lid on pop flies and has that natural born knack for handling pitchers." Berberet isn't a high average hitter, but gets a base hit or the long ball when it counts. The 22-year-old receiver is 5 feet 11 and weighs 200 pounds. Berberet is the property of the New York Yankees.

DeMarco Uses Temper To Stay In Top Shape

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. — (NEA) — When Paddy DeMarco was just an ordinary lightweight fighter, he stayed in a single room at Long Pond Inn's training camp.

But Paddy is the champion of the world now and his headquarters are in a two-story frame house a couple of miles down the road from the gymnasium where he was preparing for his title defense against Jimmy Carter. He was to meet Carter, from whom he lifted the crown in an astounding upset, on June 2 at San Francisco.

DeMarco became ill while going through a rough training grind and the fight will not be held until early in the fall.

DeMarco has been training at Greenwood Lake for over eight years, but the daily grind he puts himself through never has meant more than it does now.

"Paddy DeMarco is the champion and he's going to stay that way," he says.

This, fight people tell you, always makes a difference in a fighter. They seem to do everything a bit better when they become champions. In Paddy's case, he lives better. And outside the gymnasium there is a big sign telling champion of the world is training inside. There were no signs up before DeMarco, a 7-1 underdog, whipped Carter in five rounds.

He seems to fight better. You could see that in his workout. He was moving from side to side and firing punches at an incoming sparring partner.

He moved on a pair of well-conditioned legs that were glistering with sweat. The left hand which had done so much to upset Carter was flashing back and forth, harrying the spartan-Richie Crump.

Doing everything a step faster than Crump, DeMarco would use the ring, then close quickly, shake his hands free and whip them to the body, windmill fashion.

Later, on a wooden bench behind the champion's house, he let you know in definite terms that he had the mental attitude of a titleholder.

"Carter? What's he gonna do to Paddy DeMarco? I wish I could fight him tomorrow so we'd have it over with," he snorted. "I'm in better shape than I was last time."

When you have been to a few training camps, they all take on a sameness. The days start the same and the workouts all look alike. The trainers and managers seem to spend most of their time just looking, sour-faced, as the fighter goes through his grind.

The DeMarco camp is different. His handlers and everybody around him take full advantage of a hot Italian temper. Keep the fighter on edge constantly.

"That's the way you used to train the old-time fighters. Keep them mad at the world," Nick Florio, the quiet trainer, pointed out. Then he went over to watch a card game going on in the living room.

"You lost that last hand. You owe me six bits," one of them said to Paddy.

"What? I won the thing. I won it," Paddy snapped.

"Over six bits you quibble! I ain't playing with a bum like you," Jimmy Knapp, a friend, said and got up from the table. The others threw in their cards. DeMarco angrily pushed the cards onto the floor.

"That's some taste you got, that, shirt of yours," another said to the fighter. "You look like a guy that rides the rods."

DeMarco clutched the flashy black and yellow printed sport shirt he had on.

"What's the matter with it?" he demanded. "It's better than anything you got. Who are you to call me a bum?"

"Shut up, ya bum, yuh," Knapp yelled. "Can't you see we're tryin' to get the ball game on television?"

DeMarco, his face a tomato red, got up from the table, grabbed a white golf cap from the table and stormed out of the room.

"I'm going for a walk," he said. When he left, there were no smiles in the group.
