Basin Portrayed In Magazines

The June issue cover of Readers Digest, depicting local color, the Klamath Basin Roundup, the cattle industry and "Hogback" Mountain, was painted by a nationally known artist, familiar to Klamath county residents.

The cover is the work of Hardie Gramatky, Westport, Connecticut, instructor for the 1951 Klamath Summer Art Workshop. A number of local and out-of-town people studied under the famous illustrator.

A second well-known one time Klamath artist, Robert Banister, also got into print in the May-June issue of Lincoln-Mercury Times, Ford industry publication.

Banister, headed the Klamath Union High School art department some years ago and is now associated with the crafts department of the 5th division of the armed services, with headquarters in Chicago.

His series of water colors of scenic attractions of the Klamath Basin illustrate an article on Klamath County written by Richard Newberger.

Auto Insurance rates were reduced at Hans Norland's without reducing the quality of the coverage, 627 Pine St.
