NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices tumbled Tuesday before a selling wave that left them at their lows in the late afternoon.

A burst of selling in the second hour swamped the tape. Prices recovered somewhat in later quiet trading.

Losses frequently went to between 1 and 4 points, and some even exceeded these limits.

The trading pace was swift with business amounting to an estimated 2,500,000 shares for the day.

Monday's total was 1,520,000 with the market off slightly.

CHICAGO GRAIN — Grains rallied from an early sell-off on the board of trade Tuesday following news the House Agriculture Committee had voted to extend 90 per cent of parity support levels for another year.

Also helping to stir up demand, which produced gains ranging to several cents in some cereals, was a statement by Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada that neither Canada nor the United States wants to engage in a price cutting war in export wheat.

Before the rally the market had drifted lower on an expanding wheat harvest in the Southwest, favorable weather for corn and soybean growth in the Midwest and uncertainty created by action of Canada and the United States in reducing prices of wheat for export.

Wheat closed 1/2 lower to 3/4 higher, July 1.94 1/2-3/4; corn 1/2 higher, July 1.55 1/2-3/4; oats 1/2 higher, July 70 1/2-3/4; rye 2 1/2-3/4 higher, July 1.03 1/2-3/4; soybeans 7/8 cents lower to 2 cents higher, July 360 1/2-3/4, and lard 2 cents lower to 20 cents in hundred pounds higher July 16.80.

KOG Group Alerts For Fire Season

This year's fire prevention program will be stepped up to offset the unusually dry condition of forests, according to Joe LaClair, chairman of Klamath County Keep Oregon Green Committee.

"We seek the cooperation of every person in the Basin to make certain there are no bad fires," LaClair said.

"Nine out of ten fires in the woods are caused by carelessness," he added. "We need to tell and re-tell everyone about the terrible destruction caused by forest fires. The tragic part of it is that these fires can usually be prevented. We must tell how the fires start, who starts them and, most important of all, how they can be prevented."

To this end, our committee is working with the Herald and News on a series of advertisements in color which will be sponsored locally by business firms," LaClair said. "We plan to start the ads just before the Fourth of July and continue them on a weekly basis until the hunting season is over."

"In addition to this advertising, we are giving away without cost, hundreds and hundreds of pieces of Keep Oregon Green promotion material such as place cards for banquets, cigaret stubbers, key chains, metal car bumper tags and different types of posters to be displayed."

The Keep Oregon Green promotion material can be secured by calling Hal Ogle, Klamath Forest Protective Association, 3282, Cooper, U.S. District Forest Ranger, 3801 or Joe LaClair, 7282.

High School Remodeling Bids Given

Two bids were awarded Monday afternoon on remodeling of Klamath Union High School.

The work to be done was divided into two projects and bids were accepted on each.

Project I was awarded to Leo N. Huls, 1310 Oak, who submitted a basic bid of $72,148, plus alternate A, which amounted to a deduction of $30, bringing his bid to $71,868.

Work to be done includes remodeling the present school auditorium. A complete, modern library will be placed on the second floor after the two-story auditorium is divided. Conference rooms and some offices are to be put on the first floor as well as additional space being given to the commercial department.

Two other bidders were Pimmiger & Watkins and Brostorous Construction Company.

Project II was awarded to Brostorous Construction Company, Fine Tree Building, with a basic bid of $14,050, plus alternate A amounting to $450, bringing the bid to $14,500. This includes putting a new, lower ceiling in the gymnasium, adding acoustical treatment, new lighting and ventilation. Alternate A includes taking out the skylights, filling in the holes and re-roofing.

Higher bids were submitted by Pimmiger & Watkins, Leo N. Huls and Malotte & Fitzgerald.

Construction on both projects is to commence at once and be completed by September 1.

According to Howard Perrin, architect for the entire remodeling, everything that is being done is part of the long range program which will ultimately provide a modern, up-to-date high school building which adequately can take care of an enrollment of 2,000 of 2,200 which is anticipated in the next five years.

City Dads Eye Armory Proposal

A site for the proposed National Guard armory for Klamath and disposition of buildings under condemnation proceedings highlighted city council action Monday evening.

The National Guard armory, which holds first priority in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1955, will be located on property formerly occupied by wartime public housing units. The site is on the north side of Shasta Way between Mitchell and Washburn Way.

A letter from Lt. Col. Paul Kiever, National Guard director of armories and facilities, who was in Klamath Falls when the plan was introduced May 19, stated that the site fulfills National Guard Bureau site criteria and is acceptable providing the alley running through the property is vacated and zoning ordinances don't prohibit this type construction.

Mayor Paul Landry stated that the city zoning ordinances will make it necessary to get the permission of people within 200 feet of the proposed building. He commented that the armory site, 250 feet by 379 feet, will leave enough room for a fire station which is included in long range city planning.

The county is expected to give lots to the city valued at half the assessed value of the armory site. If it is a strict military type armory, building funds will be supplied by the federal government (75 per cent of the estimated $185,000) and the state government ($25,000 per cent).

The now nine-week-old condemnation battle flared again Monday night, and resulted in a condemnation resolution being passed, rescinded, amended and finally accepted.

Resolutions accepted condemn buildings owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Divens on Wendling and Alameda Streets, lists what must be done to bring the buildings up to a safe condition (i.e. constructing roots, closing up windows, repairing dangerous siding, completing foundations), and gives the owner 30 days in which to do the work.

Argument arose over the inclusion of the phrase "install windows" in the list of needed repairs. Council amended the resolution to read, "install windows, which the council recommends, or close openings in a safe manner."

Other business included action to amend the present plumbing ordinance to provide for a licensed sewer contractor. The action followed a request by letter for the same by Bruce Keen, Bruce Keen Sewer Service in Springfield, who plans to subcontract from plumbers as a specialist in his field.

City Attorney Henry Perkins and Building Inspector Verne Schortgen were instructed to draw up the necessary ordinance changes.
