

S.C. Voters Ballot In '54 Primary

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—A record turnout was expected today as thousands balloted in the all-important state Democratic primary in South Carolina.

Seeking nomination—tantamount to election in this state—were candidates for governor, three other state offices, two congressional seats, 132 legislative seats, and scores of county and local offices.

Polls in the 1,373 precincts were open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. There were guesses that half or more of the 701,000 registered would vote. A record 346,329 votes came in the 1950 gubernatorial primary.

The governor's race was between Columbia businessman Lester L. Bates and Lt. Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. of Lexington to succeed Gov. James F. Byrnes. Bates is 49 and Timmerman, 42.

Both urged continuance of public school segregation. They differed on ways of getting around U. S. Supreme Court decision.

Among those unopposed for re-nomination was U.S. Sen. Burnet R. Maybank and U.S. Representatives L. Mendel Rivers, Charleston, 1st district; John H. Riley, Sumter, 2nd district; William Jennings Bryan Dorn, Greenwood, 3rd district; and John L. McMillan, Florence, 6th district.

The congressional contests were in the 4th district, between Rep. Robert T. Ashmore, Greenville, and State Sen. Charles C. Moore, Spartanburg; and in the 5th, between Rep. James P. Richards, Lancaster, and Gaffney lawyer Wade S. Weatherford.

Ann Pedersen Winner Of PEO Scholarship Award

The support of education is no new project for the PEO Sisterhood," according to Mrs. F. Cecil Adams, president of U Chapter, one of three PEO Chapters in Klamath Falls.

Mrs. Adams presented the 1954 PEO scholarship during commencement at KUHS to Ann Pedersen, who will continue her studies this fall at Oregon State College.

As long ago as 1927, the sisterhood acquired a woman's college members of the local chapters PEO, or through the high schools and colleges.

The scholarship offered this year was given by the three local chapters, AU, U and CP, to a girl graduate in the 10 per cent upper scholastic bracket of girl graduates of KUHS for use in an Oregon institution.

The PEO Sisterhood represents 129,906 women working for peace through education.

in Nevada, Missouri, Cotey College, to which each member of PEO contributes annually.

International peace scholarships are probably the most important work of the group. Grants were given this year to 29 girls, representing 15 foreign countries. These students are in 22 educational institutions located in nearly every section of the United States and Canada.

In addition, the PEO student loan fund has grown to $895,000, from which more than 10,000 girls have received help in attaining higher education. Three hundred and four of these have been Oregon girls.

Applications for girls to take advantage of the loan fund in this state are still open. The PEO Sisterhood seeks applications. These loans are available upon the satisfactory one-quarter, or one semester's work in college. The loans do not have to be repaid until the girl's education has been completed and her earnings begin. Applications may be made through
