Building, Steel, New Car Sales Continue To Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — The pattern of the nation's business this week was a mixture of good and bad. There were signs of improvement in some lines, regressive tendencies in others. Economists said most of the indicators pointed to a substantial upturn by early fall. These were some of the trends that stood out in bold relief on the plus side of the ledger: 1. The boom in construction climbed to new record highs. 2. Steel production showed the biggest weekly gain this year. 3. Inventories of unsold new cars turned lower for the first time in six months. 4. Total unemployment continued to decline; the rise in joblessness in factory towns showed signs of leveling off. The minus side of the balance sheet included these items: 1. The stock market suffered its sharpest setback since the start of the Korean war. 2. There was further evidence that the downward adjustment of business inventories had not yet run its full cycle. 3. Retail trade for the week slackened off. 4. Huge surpluses were indicated for such basic crops as wheat and cotton.

Japan Averts Diet Crisis

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's political leaders agreed tentatively Monday night to resolve the nation's governmental crisis by all deputies expressing "regret" Tuesday for a bruising riot on the Diet floor June 30. The newspaper Asahi said the compromise had the backing of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, head of the Liberal (conservative) party. Earlier, Yoshida had sought a censuring of the 46 right and left wing Socialist deputies he blames for the riot. Asahi and Kyodo News Service said heads of the various parties would formally agree on the terms of the compromise. Kyodo said the agreement called for sidestepping the touchy issue of whether the Diet has been in legal session since its scheduled adjournment during the height of the riot. The Liberal Party house speaker shouted an extension, which the socialists say was illegal. The first swinging riot, in which 30 persons were injured, broke out when the Socialists fought to keep the Liberals from extending the Diet session for a vote on a controversial police centralization bill. The measure, which would bring all police under control of the central government, was passed by the extended session, which the socialists boycotted.

He had logged more than 800 hours since his arrival in August, 1951, most of them on rescue flights. His wife and four children live here; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Kimberling, Long Beach, Calif. Killed with Kimberling was Maj. Robert Pritter, West Palm Beach, Fla. Their helicopter crashed in the Eklutna River Thursday morning while they were searching for the pilot of another "whirlybird" which plunged into Lake Eklutna the night before. The body of 2nd Lt. Charles P. Fredholm, San Angelo, Tex., who went down with the first helicopter, has not been recovered. The three airmen were stationed at Elmendorf Air Force Base.

Man Swims Ten Miles For Help

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A Hollywood stunt man swam 10 grueling miles through the choppy Catalina Channel to get help for two friends after their boat sank, but an air and sea search failed to find them. Paul Stader, 43, a former life-guard now working in the movies, said the 18-foot power boat, Tinker Toy IV, went down Saturday afternoon. Aboard with him were Hugo Walters, 31, also a stunt man, and Don McGuire, 27, both of the Los Angeles area. Stader said the first hint of trouble came when the boat's engine wouldn't accelerate. "I opened the hatch and saw about 20 gallons of water sloshing around the engine," he said. Since there were no lifebelts aboard, Stader said, "I tied five of the floating cushions together for Walters. He was a good swimmer but he had a sprained ankle. We fixed up another cushion and seatback for McGuire. "I didn't see any sharks at all, and about 9 p. m. I hit the beach." Search by a Coast Guard plane and two cutters found only a pair of water skis and a cushion from the boat.
