Former GI Dies In China

TEXON, Tex. (AP)—A telegram from the Chinese Red Cross, saying a sergeant died of heart disease and "complications," was regarded with skepticism today by his aunt.

The soldier was Sgt. Rufus E. Douglas, 27, one of the 21 U. S. prisoners of war who chose to stay with the Communists after being captured in Korea.

The message received yesterday by his uncle, R. C. Howard of Texon, said Douglas died June 8 in a Chinese hospital of "a rheumatic heart disorder with complications."

Mrs. Howard, who reared Douglas after his mother and father died when he was a small child, said:

"I think the 'complications' were caused by them—the Reds. I've told my husband many times that boy wouldn't last a year there. And I don't think the others will either. If he had ever had heart trouble, we never heard of it, and I think we would have."

"So far as we've known he's never been sick in his life except for the ordinary childhood diseases."

Kidnaper To Face Charge

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—After keeping a closer lip since his apprehension last Thursday, Daniel J. Marsin was prepared to go to court today and testify he did not kidnap Evelyn Ann Smith, wife of a wealthy Phoenix industrialist, as charged.

Without elaboration, Marsin told witnesses in the county jail last night, "I am not guilty of kidnaping."

The 41-year-old Phoenix welder is accused of abducting Mrs. Smith last Wednesday and keeping her for approximately 29 hours in the Superstition Mountains, some 40 miles east of here.

The victim was returned unharmed after a $75,000 ransom was paid. The money was recovered in tact just a few hours from a ranch house where Marsin was taken into custody.

Circumstantial evidence has been piled up by the prosecution against Marsin, but the defendant's attorney, John J. Flynn, maintains (Early Story on Page 15)

U.N. Asian Action Slated

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The first draft resolution ever to call for U.N. action on the war in Indochina was read for introduction today in the Security Council. Russia is expected to veto it when the council finally gets to a vote.

Diplomatic sources said Thailand would introduce the draft, providing for a U.N. "peace patrol" on her own territory.

Pote Sarasin, Thai ambassador to Washington, and U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. were slated to speak in support of the resolution.

As drafted, the resolution would have the council sympathize with Thailand's concern at developments in Southeast Asia, without referring specifically to the war in neighboring Indochina.

It would ask the 14-nation Peace Observation Commission to send a subcommittee of three to five members to Thailand to observe and report on any threats to international peace and security.

To forestall French objections, the resolution would require the peace patrol to ask permission from its parent commission and the council before it could go anywhere outside Thailand.

Forces of the Communist-led Vietminh are now active in all three of the French-allied states of Indochina though most of them are in Viet Nam. Thailand is worried particularly about those in Laos and Cambodia, on her eastern frontier.

Backers of Thailand's proposal hope that the presence of international observers next door to Indochina would deter the Communists from expanding the fighting beyond the Indochinese borders.

If the Soviet cast their anticipated veto when the resolution finally comes to a vote, Thailand is expected to take her request to the General Assembly, where big-power veto does not operate.

Chiang Observes Anniversary

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek took part today in ceremonies marking the 30th anniversary of the founding of China's West Point—the Central Military Academy at Canton.

Chiang was founder and first president of the academy. An early instructor was Chou En-lai, premier and foreign minister of Communist China.

Red China Said Planning Invasion

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The Interior Ministry's T'aipei News Agency said today 100,000 Chinese Communist troops stationed in Tibet are studying the languages of India and Pakistan as a preliminary to invasion.

Taipei, which claims contacts on the Red-held mainland, gave no source.

CHILDREN ARE STILL LOOKING for answers from these balloons released the first day of vacation Bible School at Bible Baptist Church, by every boy and girl who registered. Each balloon included on a slip of paper the name of the child who released it; the place from where it was released and a request that the finder notify the sender. Last year the greatest distance reported that a balloon traveled was to Bonanza. Bible School continues through June 25.

FARM SALES
 WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that farmers received approximately $10,300,000,000 from sale of farm products during the first five months of this year. This was 4 per cent less than they received in the corresponding period last year.

Heat Wave Hits Southwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 The season's longest heat wave showed no immediate signs of breaking over the Central and Southeast sections of the country Wednesday.

More hot and humid weather was forecast, with daytime temperatures in the 90s. Sleeping was a problem as temperatures stayed in the 70s during the night. Wednesday was the sixth straight day of oppressive heat in most of the Midwest. For the first time in weather bureau history Chicago had its fifth straight June day of 92 degree or higher temperature Tuesday with a top of 95.

Movie Version Of 'Death Row' Poses Many Problems

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How do you film the life story of a man who is scheduled to die July 30?

That is the problem facing producer Wallace MacDonald and writer Jack DeWitt, who are charged with putting on the screen the life of Caryl Chessman. They are filming the criminal's book, "Cell 2455, Death Row," which Columbia bought for $15,000.

National attention has been brought to Chessman via his book, in which he details his life in crime. He has confessed 15 felonies charged to him, but not two others which brought him the death sentence for kidnaping. He has personally waged a long legal battle to escape the gas chamber but now is slated to die July 30.

A committee that includes many writing people has been trying to get his sentence commuted, arguing that he worth more to society alive than dead.

MacDonald emphasized that the film would take no sides in Chessman's fight for life.

"We will present the story in a documentary style, like a March of Time," the producer remarked. "We will be coldly objective, building no case for him or for society."

At yes, but doesn't the audience tend to sympathize with the leading player, even in a crime picture?

"Not necessarily in this case," remarked MacDonald. "Not if we tell the story as it was written in the book, and we are required to do so."

"There may be some sympathy evoked from his younger days. His family was very poor and he tells of how he was sick in bed and how his mother, who was paralyzed, called to say something was wrong. The boy went in the kitchen and found his father lying on the floor with the gas on."

"His first urge to steal came when he noticed other people's groceries were not the same as his family's, which came from relief. He began to steal food."

"But then he began to steal more than he needed. It became a matter of bravado with him. When others in his gang would say, 'Let's steal a car,' he'd say, 'Let's steal three cars.' Every time he got out of a reformatory he would return to crime."

"DeWitt called him 'a precocious genius. You can tell from the book that he studied until he knew all the tricks of a professional writer.'"
