

Alan Young To Begin New Television Show Series

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This Saturday night, Alan Young launches yet another chapter in his amazing up-and-down career in show business. The bright, youthful Canadian comic will be the guest star on NBC-TV's Saturday Night Review, and he'll appear eight times on the show this summer. He'll be doing what he does best—sprightly sketches of a well-meaning man caught in the web of circumstance. This fall he may be back with a regular show, for which NBC has high hopes. It's tentatively called "That's Life," and Young plays a bumbling Mr. Fixit. He also has plans for his own show, in which he and a stock company would play comedy sketches.

And so his star is again in the ascendancy. He has been in Hollywood exactly 10 years this month and now can view his hectic career with some candor.

"I've never been out of work since 1938," he reflected, "but my career has certainly had its highs and lows."

Born in England, he started out in show business as a monologist in Canada when he was 13. He became a top radio comedian on the Canadian network, then was lured by offers from the United States.

He caught on with radio audiences in this country and came to Hollywood. He landed a contract with 20th Century-Fox and scored a success in "Margie." But after a couple of so-so films he was dropped by the studio. He also went off the air.

"So I worked up an act to play theaters," he said. "That was fine, except that I played four and that's all there were. I was very discouraged when I was playing Detroit, and I went up to Canada to scout the possibilities of going back there. I had decided to return when I got a call from my agent that CBS was interested in having me for a TV show. He talked me out of going back to Canada."

The CBS deal jelled, but Young had one more date to play in New York. The picture on the bill was poor. Young got second billing to a child pianist and audiences were surly. A comedian had stolen Young's gags in Detroit and used them in the same New York house on the previous bill. "Change your act!" the manager demanded.

"But these things didn't bother me," said Young. "I had high hopes for the CBS deal."

His hopes were justified. The TV show was a smash from the start. Again the movie offers poured in. He was signed by both RKO and Paramount. He was riding the crest.

Oops, it happened again! His TV show, a variety format, ran dry of material—"You just can't sustain a vaudeville show every week."

He made two films, one a mediocre epic ("Androcles and the Lion"), the other a colossal flop ("Aaron Slick From Punkin Crick"). "The actor is the one who gets blamed," he sighed.

Fish Funnel Repair Set

A long-time fish funnel that was taking its toll of downstream migrating fish is to be screened in the near future according to H. J. Rayner, chief of fisheries for the Oregon State Game Commission. The Pacific Power and Light Company will install a new belt type of screen on their water diversion at the Powderdam plant on the Hood River. This screen will be similar to the one in use by the Portland General Electric Company at their Marmot diversion. The Marmot screen has proved to be almost 100 per cent efficient. Several years ago, Pacific Power and Light Company, at considerable expense installed an electric screen which did not prove satisfactory. Materials for the screen have been received, and construction is scheduled to begin as soon as water conditions permit. Dr. Reyner complimented the company in commenting, "Pacific Power and Light Company is to be commended for recognizing this need for better screening and for their willingness to correct the situation."

Students Send Aid To Korea

Students of Room 10, the eighth grade of Fremont school, taught by Miss May Phinney, donated $15 to Korean relief, just before the close of the school term. The money, raised by attendance at PTA meetings, a prize earned by new memberships obtained for PTA and the sale of pencils, was turned over to Chet Langslet, Klamath Falls postmaster to be forwarded to Korea. The 29 students in the room also contributed to the Junior Red Cross, the polio fund and United Fund during the school year.

Italian Actress Signed For Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Producer Hal Wallis has signed Anna Magnani, famed Italian actress, for her first American picture. She will co-star with Burt Lancaster in "Rose Tattoo," the film version of Tennessee Williams' Broadway hit. Miss Magnani will arrive here in September. It will be her first trip to the film capital.
